All-day Fight on Russian Right, Near Imperial Tombs, Ends.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAKHETUN, March 6, 2:45 p.m.—[By Asiatic Cable.] According to reports just received, the Japanese have advanced to attack along the whole line. Fighting has been in progress on the right flank of the Russian army, near the imperial tombs, since morning, but at this hour it appears to be lessening, and the roar of artillery indicates that the fighting is gradually sweeping farther and farther from Mukden.

TOKIO, March 7, 10 a.m.—All Japan is eagerly watching developments at the great theater of war in Manchuria. The people are confident that Field Marshal Oyama will defeat Gen. Kouropatkin. The only question considered is the extent and severity of the blow that he will inflict and its effect upon the course of the war.

It is believed that the possession of Mukden and a line on the Hun River is already assured and many predict even a greater disaster for the Russians. Gen. Kouropatkin seems to be devoting his greatest energy to the protection of Fushun, in order to preserve a line of retreat. He has sent masses of reserves there. The positions east and south of Fushun have already been the scenes of the most bloody fighting. The operations of the Japanese left and part of the center continue to be successful. It is believed that the Japanese will succeed in cutting the railway north of Mukden.

Various estimates of the losses already sustained by the opposing forces are being made. One Tokio newspaper places the Russian loss at 25,000 and the Japanese at 10,000. The estimates are unreliable on account of the meagerness of the information at hand.

The Japanese spoils of war promise to be heavy.

JAPS BEHIND TIE PASS.

SCOUTS ALREADY IN TOUCH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEWCHWANG, March 6.—It is reported here that the scouts of Gen. Nogi's and Gen. Kuroki's armies are already in touch behind Tie Pass.

There is every indication that the great Japanese movement for the envelopment of Mukden has so far met with overwhelming success, and that that stronghold of the Russians will prove another Sedan.

In the past few days little has been heard from the fighting along the strongly-fortified central positions, and it is believed that the Japanese center is required only to hold its ground while the wings stretch far to the northward for the purpose of encircling the Russian flanks and threatening the railway.

Gen. Nogi's army from Port Arthur has advanced far on the left wing and swept all before it. Nogi's men are reveling in the field work, which they consider child's play after the siege of Port Arthur.

KOUROPATKIN LAUNCHES BLOW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 6, 2:30 p.m.—The Associated Press has just learned that Gen. Kouropatkin has launched a blow at Field Marshal Oyama's left center, just west of the railroad.

The fighting is desperate along almost the entire line. Kouropatkin's losses in killed and wounded up to last night are placed at 23,500. Oyama is thought to have lost almost 30,000.

The Japanese, according to the prisoners, are greatly exhausted. They repeat the statement that some of Gen. Nogi's men have not had any food for two days.

FELL INTO TRAP.

Oyama's Strategy Now Clear to Kouropatkin, but Latter May Save Himself if He Succeeds in Breaking Through Japanese Left Center.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 6, 2:50 p.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The result of the greatest battle of modern times is expected to be determined today or tomorrow. Two of the largest armies of recent times, both in men and guns, are now locked in a death struggle, and although Gen. Kouropatkin has evidently made every preparation to cover his retreat by removing his accumulated stores and munitions northward, it is now the opinion of military men here that one side or the other cannot escape an overwhelming disaster.

With both wings bent backward, Kouropatkin's position appears desperate, but the issue is still in the balance. News of a victory for him is regarded as possible only by his breaking through the enveloping lines, and news of a concentrated offensive is hourly awaited. Unless Kouropatkin can strike hard, it is realized that he must lose.

Field Marshal Oyama's strategy in this battle is now clear. He startled and amazed the War Office by the marvelous daring of Gen. Kuroki's advance against the extreme Russian left, and the series of blows delivered at the center, where no less than thirteen separate attacks have been launched by the Imperial Guards ten miles east of Lone Tree Hill. But it is now realized that the heavy blows at the left were intended to mask the real turning movement, which came like a bolt from a clear sky out of the west.

Kouropatkin fell into the trap. The situation seemed an exact duplicate of that at Liao Yang and the Russian commander-in-chief hastened to mass forces to meet Kuroki. Friday, the whole situation was suddenly reversed, when, with lightning rapidity, the Japanese turning operation began on the plain between the Hun and Liao rivers.

Gen. Nogi, with his Port Arthur veterans moved up the right flank of the Hun and fell like an avalanche upon the weakened Russian right, doubling it back in confusion, the Japanese advance being coördinated with the advance straight from the west of a Japanese column of 40,000 men, which circled around or through Chinese neutral territory. Although rumors of the presence of the latter column westward of Mukden were circulated as long ago as Tuesday, Kouropatkin evidently was taken by surprise. At any rate, it was not until Saturday night that he was able to shift sufficient reinforcements west to stem the tide, when the Japanese were within sight of Mukden.

The latest advices are to the effect that the Japanese tremendous efforts had everywhere stopped and now, if ever, Kouropatkin's hour has come. The Japanese lines are extended over several miles, while Kouropatkin's are constantly contracting. Besides, he has the advantage for the offensive of operating in the interior of his lines.

Military critics declare Oyama has not got enough superiority to take risks. According to the War Office, Oyama has not over 70,000 men in excess of Kouropatkin, whose forces total about 340,000. Should Oyama succeed, the critics declare that he will prove himself a master of military science and establish a reputation for military genius of the first magnitude. But unless he can completely crush Kouropatkin's right, they say, Oyama is in imminent danger of having his own left cut off and destroyed. Kouropatkin's chance, the War Office says, is an opportune offensive, as passive resistance would be fatal.

BROUGHT TWO WIVES.

Former Resident of Utah is Threatened With Prosecution in Canada for Over-marrying.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A special from Raymond, Alberta, states that mounted police have been led to take action against an alleged polygamist by the fact that a well-known resident of Magrath has brought to Canada two wives whom he married in Utah when such marriages were considered legal.

The Magrath man asserts that he maintains no marital relations with one, nevertheless he has been given the choice of leaving the country, deporting his plural wife, or being prosecuted for polygamy. This is consistent with the action taken by the mounted police in former cases.

PRESS AND RELIGION.

Rev. Dr. Buckley Declares the Former's Possibilities Are Not Surpassed by the Pulpits.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, at the Methodist preachers' meeting today, in an address on "The Press, Religious and Secular, as a Religious Agency," declared that the possibilities of the press for religion are not surpassed by those of the pulpit. To compete with the press the pulpit must revive the intellectual ability and eloquence which characterized it in former days. He also scored popular novels.

Of a certain kind of religious paper he said: "There are papers which were founded as religious papers and which still are willing to accept patronage as such, but which are really undenominational schemes for the destruction of the church."

Dr. Buckley said that if "Quo Vadis" had not had a pretense of religion in it, it would have been seized by Anthony Comstock, and he denounced Hall Caine's "The Christian" as a story of adultery.

RENT FOR BABIES.

Thirty Indignant East Side Tenants go to Court Protesting Against Landlord's Tax on Infants.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thirty indignant lower East Side tenants, with their offspring, numbering one hundred or more, turned Justice Worster's municipal court into a veritable babel today. They came to answer to dispossess summonses served by their landlord, Elias Rupp, who does not agree with President Roosevelt on the subject of race suicide.

Russ, who is the most disliked man on the East Side, recently adopted a scale on the basis that for every addition to a family, the rent would be advanced 50 cents. The invading army was made up from inhabitants of the Russ tenement house, who had been served with dispossess notices because they refused to submit to a tax on babies. The authorities are investigating the case.

PROTECTING MISSIONARIES.

BOSTON (Mass.) March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] American missionaries have been instructed by Secretary Hay through the American board, to resist the payment of tribute to the Sultan of Turkey. The President will punish any extortion and outrages on Americans.

JEW BAITERS BREAK LOOSE.

Many Hebrews Killed or Wounded in Anti-Semitic Outbursts in Russia.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prominent Jews here received word that there have been a number of anti-Semitic outbreaks in various parts of Russia in the last few days. These outbreaks are a result of the policy of the government diverting popular passions against the Jews.

In Minsk, it is reported that a mob of 2000 fired all the houses of Rakovskaja street and plundered Jewish shops. In Mischini Bazaar, the report declares, many Jews were stabbed by rioters. Rioting continued three days and the casualties are ten killed and 518 injured. Many Jews are left destitute as a result of the attack upon them.

A similar outbreak is reported to have occurred in Duennaburg, where drunken reservists plundered and assaulted the Jews. Merchant Gluecksmann is reported to have stopped baiting of the Jews by bribing the rioters.

At Vodka, casualties are reported three killed and 168 injured.

STANFORD INQUEST.

Bertha Berner on Witness Stand.

She Tells of Last Moments of Her Aged Employer at Moana Hotel.

Scouts Theory of Suicide as Untenable and Refers to January Attack.

Butler and Maid at San Francisco Call Upon the Detectives.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HONOLULU, March 6.—[By Pacific Cable.] It is positively asserted in reliable quarters tonight that, up to the present time, the chemists have found no strychnine in any of the organs of Mrs. Stanford examined by them. It is further stated that if the chemists testify at tomorrow's session of the Coroner's inquest, they will testify to this effect, unless further tests, to be made tonight, reveal the presence of strychnine.

Thus far, it is said, careful experiments fail to show traces of it, but it is believed that this statement does not apply to the bottle of bicarbonate of soda from which Mrs. Stanford took a potion a short time before her death.

HONOLULU, March 6.—[By Pacific Cable.] The inquest into the cause of the death of Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford, widow of United States Senator Leland Stanford and who died here on the night of February 28, under circumstances regarded by the authorities as pointing to a case of poisoning by the administration of strychnine in a vial of bicarbonate of soda, was begun this afternoon at the Moana Hotel, where Mrs. Stanford died.

The first witness examined by the Coroner's jury was Miss Bertha Berner, who had been Mrs. Stanford's secretary for the past twenty years and who came to Honolulu with her on the Pacific Mail Company's steamer Korea, from San Francisco. Miss Berner, who was examined by Deputy High Sheriff Rawlins, after she had made preliminary statements regarding her relations with Mrs. Stanford, testified that the latter had left San Francisco on the advice of her brother, her physician and her attorney, who told her it was not advisable to remain in the latter city. Miss Berner testified that Mrs. Stanford said to her: "If I am not to stay in my San Francisco home, and as the wet season is coming on, rendering it inadvisable for me to go to my country residence, I prefer to go to Honolulu, as it is warmer there."

WATER CONTAINED STRYCHNINE

"The occasion which compelled Mrs. Stanford to seek advice on this question was the occurrence of January 14, when she drank mineral water at her California residence and found it bitter to the taste. This water was afterwards examined by a chemist, who reported that it contained strychnine. I saw the written report made by the chemist at the time.

"On the steamer coming to Honolulu, Mrs. Stanford appeared to be sad and troubled in her mind, but after her arrival here she recovered her spirits and took numerous drives, which she appeared to greatly enjoy."

The witness here described a drive taken by Mrs. Stanford to a picnic on the day of her death, the facts of which have been already referred to in these dispatches. She said that Mrs. Stanford seemed very bright; that she sang a little song, told the driver to proceed slowly, so as to make the drive last as long as possible.

At this stage of the examination, Miss Berner showed signs of breaking down. She recovered, however, and described the luncheon of which Mrs. Stanford partook at the picnic. This luncheon lasted from 1 o'clock until 1:30 o'clock, after which the little party started on its return to Honolulu. The carriage stopped at a store, where orders were given regarding a costume for Mrs. Stanford, and the party arrived at the Moana Hotel at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Stanford, the witness said, went directly to her room, so as to rest before dinner.

"The next I saw of Mrs. Stanford," said the witness, "was at half past 7 o'clock, when she came to my room, dressed for dinner. On the way to dinner, we stopped at the room of Mrs. M. S. Grinbaum, to whom Mrs. Stanford spoke of how she enjoyed the day's outing."

Miss Berner repeated the statement already made to the Associated Press correspondent and mentioned in those dispatches, that when the soup was served Mrs. Stanford told the waiter it would be sufficient, as she was not hungry, having lunched heartily.

After retiring to her room Mrs. Stanford asked Miss Berner to prepare her medicine, and the witness first placed on the table a glass of the mineral water desired by her employer, and afterwards placed half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda and one laxative tablet beside it. The witness then left Mrs. Stanford for the night. This was at 8:15 o'clock.

THE FATAL BOTTLE.

"The last time Mrs. Stanford used carbonate of soda from the bottle, to my knowledge," said Miss Berner, "was the week of New Year's. I used it at the same time. The bottle was in a trunk which Mrs. Stanford took to San José. This trunk was sent to San Francisco on January 23. The bottle was taken from the trunk at the California-street residence. It was kept in a room to which the servants had access, but this room was locked at night. The bottle was packed by me in a telescope basket for the Honolulu trip, and this basket was kept in the stateroom. May Hunt, the maid, was with Mrs. Stanford part of the way, but as the maid was taken ill I changed places with her. The bicarbonate of soda was not used on the trip to my knowledge.

"After Mrs. Stanford retired on February 28, I was aroused from my sleep by hearing my name called. I recognized Mrs. Stanford's voice calling out: 'Bertha—May—I am so sick.' We rushed out and found her clinging to the frame of her door. Mrs. Stanford said: 'Bertha, run for a doctor.'

THOUGHT SHE WAS POISONED.

"Mrs. Stanford walked two steps and then said, 'Bertha, I am so sick.' She placed her arm around my shoulders, leaning on me, and I led her back to her room and tried to induce her to sit down. She said: 'I have got no control of my body. I think I am poisoned.'

"I said to Mrs. Stanford: 'Do sit down,' and then I got hot water and filled a glass and held it to her lips. She said: 'I cannot drink.' Her jaws were set. She turned her face to mine, and I said: 'Now try to drink,' and then she drank the hot water. May Hunt and I were rubbing Mrs. Stanford's limbs when the doctor arrived. She had taken altogether about six or seven glasses of hot water when Dr. Humphris came. She said to the doctor: 'Doctor, I think I am poisoned. Won't you bring a stomach pump.' Then, turning to me, she said: 'Bertha tell the doctor what happened,' referring to the San Francisco episode of January 14.

THE END.

"I explained this affair to Dr. Humphris and asked him for ipecac. He said that ipecac might affect the heart, and tried to comfort Mrs. Stanford, saying to her, 'Don't be afraid.' She said: 'Another spasm is coming,' and then: 'My soul is prepared. I go to meet my dear ones. Oh, God, forgive me my sins.'

"The muscles became rigid. Then there came a profuse perspiration, followed by a violent spasm, and Mrs. Stanford died."

Atty.-Gen. Andrews questioned Miss Berner regarding the bottle of bicarbonate of soda. The witness said it was Mrs. Stanford's custom to take the soda only occasionally, and added: "No one knew of this custom, so far as I am aware, but myself, May Hunt and Nora Hopkins, an employé at the San Francisco residence of Mrs. Stanford."

Questioned by Deputy High Sheriff Rawlins with regard to the possibility of Mrs. Stanford having committed suicide, Miss Berner expressed pity for anyone who could be driven to such a condition.

"I have not read the newspaper reports of the case," said she, "because they would distress me. Mrs. Stanford," she said in conclusion, "on a few occasions said she hoped some day to rejoin her son and her husband, to whose memory she was always devoted, but this was not a frequent topic of conversation with her."

Dr. C. B. Wood, one of the physicians who conducted the autopsy, testified that the symptoms found by him and the other physicians were indicative of strychnine poisoning, which was the cause of death. The body had the appearance of that of a woman of 65 years of age, one who enjoyed good health. No other cause of death except that indicated could be discovered by the physicians.

The body, Dr. Wood said, was first examined for external causes of death, but without result, and then for extraneous appearances, for the reason that the physicians had been informed there was suspicion of poisoning by the administration of strychnine. One symptom of such poisoning, the doctor said, is unusual rigidity. Mrs. Stanford's mouth was rigid and the teeth were locked. The neck was not rigid, and the muscles of the upper arm were relaxed. This would not be expected in a case resulting from strychnine poisoning, but the doctors were informed that the undertaker had broken up the rigidity of the body so as to put a gown on it. The forearms, Dr. Wood said, were rigid to a marked degree, and also the thighs and the legs. The appearance of the feet, according to the witness, would indicate strychnine poisoning. The instep was arched, the feet turned in and drawn up at the toes.

Mrs. Stanford's body, Dr. Wood said, was of the color of violet or purple. He said that he had examined all the organs, and had turned over to Dr. R. A. Duncan, food commissioner and chemical analyst of the Board of Health, the contents of the stomach. The left side of the heart he found to be contracted, while the right side was relaxed. On the left side he found one and one-half teaspoonfuls of dark blood, while the right side of the heart was nearly empty and without clots.

The post mortem appearances in known cases of strychnine poisoning, the witness said, corresponded with those found in the autopsy. The examination of the different organs failed to show any sufficient cause of death due to disease.

In reply to a question by Deputy High Sheriff Rawylins, Dr. Wood said that the postmortem appearances, as far as postmortem signs go, indicated strychnine poisoning.

Dr. F. R. Day, another of the physicians who conducted the autopsy, agreed with Dr. Wood that strychnine poisoning was the only cause of death indicated.

The inquest was adjourned at 7:30 o'clock. It is expected that the chemists will give their testimony tomorrow.

OIL FOLKS' REPLY.

Prairie Company of Kansas Presents Its Answer to Commissioner Garfield and Asks Full and Prompt Investigation of Charges.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—M. E. Elliott, attorney for the Prairie Oil and Gas Company of Kansas, has presented to Commissioner of Corporations Garfield at Washington, the first answer of that company in regard to the Kansas and Indian Territory oil fields. The company asks of Commissioner Garfield the most full and prompt investigation possible at his hands, feeling entirely sure, as Elliott says, that "when their relations to the oil producers of Kansas are fully laid bare, it will be seen that the latter have been treated with the utmost fairness."

The statement adds: "that the recent action of the company with reference to its operations in Kansas has been with good reason. The Legislature of Kansas was threatening to pass, and has indeed passed laws, compliance with which is an utter impossibility. If they are to be enforced, the company certainly does not desire to increase its investment in Kansas."

Elliott states further "that on investigation the many sensational charges recently made as to relations of the company with railroads, etc., will be entirely disproved; that the agitation has not been by the legitimate oil producers, but principally by over-capitalized fake stock companies, who have sold their stock to the public and are seeking a scapegoat."

January 1, 1905, the statement says, "the company had invested in the business over nine and one-half millions of dollars equally divided as to cost between general equipment and crude oil in tanks. It had paid the producers for the crude oil $1,000,000 more than its value on January 1. The increase in stocks of crude oil during the year 1904 was nearly four and one-half millions of barrels, all of which the company had to buy from the producers and then erect tankage. The tankage cost an average of 22 cents per barrel.

"In the month of January, 1905, the daily production of crude oil had reached the enormous average of over 25,600 barrels and the daily consumption about 2000 barrels, so that there was an excess of production to be provided for of over 15,000,000 barrels yearly. In order to provide a further market for this enormous and increasing production the company has under way a line of pipe to Whiting, Ind., at which place a large oil refinery is located. The line of pipe, together with its necessary equipment, will cost over $3,500,000. Altogether, the amount already invested and contracted for by the Prairie Oil and Gas Company in connection with the Kansas-Indian Territory oil fields amounts to nearly $14,000,000, and as much more will be required. The present accumulation of about 5,000,000 barrels of crude oil is as much as can be used and marketed in the next two years with present facilities. Notwithstanding the enormous over-production in the Kansas-Indian Territory field, the decline in price has been relatively no greater, considering the quality of oil they produced, than the decline in other producing sections of the country."

The entire statement, of which the above covers but a few points, is a lengthy document.

JAPANESE USE THEIR SLAIN AS DEFENSES.

Ghastly Sights and Practices One Result of Terrible Fighting Between Renenkampff and Kuroki in Mountain Passes to Eastward.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. RENNENKAMPFF, NEAR OUBENEPUSA, Saturday, March 4, 9 a.m., via Mukden, March 6.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The road northward is crowded as far as the eye can reach by a continuous file of two-wheeled Chinese carts full of Russian wounded, the best testimony of the valor with which the army of the East, fighting continuously for a fortnight, has defended every inch of ground over which it has been compelled by superior numbers to retire.

Each cart bears from three to five wounded men, whose exhaustion is almost too utter for them to feel pain. Scarcely a groan or cry is heard—not even the moans of the dying—only the dismal creak of the rude wheels and the thud of the ponies' hoofs are audible. Most of the wounded have their heads covered with Chinese blankets or dirty coats, stiff with coagulated blood, hiding wan and dirty faces, distorted with pain, sunken eyes and expanded nostrils. Here and there is seen a cart with two wounded men between whom is a corpse, which, with every jolt, pounds against the hapless living comrader of the man on whose face death had sealed the distortion of unbearable agony.

The valley in front of the Russian position has become a valley of death. Corpses strew the debatable ground, from which neither side can remove its dead. Again and again the Japanese charged down the slope and up the hill. Again and again the Russians counter-attacked, trying to gain possession of the hill with the tower. No quarter was asked for or given by either side. The enmity ceased only in death.

Here sits a Japanese upon a stone, a moment's pause for rest having stretched him out into eternity; there lie two foes with bayonets sheathed in each other's breasts. Everywhere corpses—corpses—corpses.

For two days the Russians had been concentrating a heavy artillery fire on "the hill with the tower," stopping the Japanese sapper work. At 2 o'clock in the morning, yesterday, the Russian skirmishers heard a noise at "the hill with the tower." Creeping forward, they discovered that the Japanese were heaping up corpses as defenses. The Russian field batteries immediately opened fire and forced a cessation of the work.

At dawn yesterday the Japanese attacked the Russian positions near Oubenepusa. The attackers were scarcely recognizable as valiant Japanese, so mechanically did they move forward and with undying persistence attacked, only to be thrown back. They repeated this at 10 in the morning, after a preparatory artillery bombardment, and reached the Russian trenches, where a bayonet fight ensued. At the crucial moment Gen. Alieff, commanding the vanguard, arrived on the scene with two companies and turned the scale against the Japanese. Among the wounded was Lieut.-Col. Hrositzky of the General Staff, who nevertheless remained at the front. Toward evening the fight slackened.

The Japanese employed an ingenious scheme to deceive the Russian artillery, whose shells, though having the ranges, appeared to be exploding in the wrong. The officers were about to resort to experimental firing when skirmishers reported that the Japanese were exploding small mines and throwing dirt in the air with spades to effect a deception.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—At the weekly meeting of the Baptist ministers today, the following message from President Roosevelt was read: "God giving me grace and strength, I will do the right as He gives me grace to see it."

The message, which was an answer to one forwarded to the President, was received with great enthusiasm by the clergymen.

TESTIMONY FOR CODY.

William Whalen of North Platte, Says, "Buffalo Bill's" Wife Objected to Company Brought to Ranch.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OMAHA (Neb.) March 6.—The taking of depositions on behalf of William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill") in his petition for divorce was begun at the Merchants' Hotel in this city today. Col. Cody himself gave testimony today. Some testimony was also taken yesterday. The hearings are not open to the public, Col. Cody having agreed not to give the testimony to the press until it is filed in the court at Cheyenne. An attorney familiar with the case, however, outlined some of the testimony already given.

William Whalen of North Platte was the first witness. He was with Col. Cody in 1872 and 1873, and had been an intimate friend of the family. He testified that when the Richard Bennett theatrical company visited North Platte, in 1894, the members of the company visited the Cody ranch. Whalen testified that Mrs. Cody said that she did not understand why Cody brought such people to the house. He also testified that at another time Mrs. Cody made remarks in the presence of Cody's guests of the manner in which he brought friends to the house for the purpose of getting drunk.

Col. Cody replied during his testimony today to depositions made on behalf of the defendant, explaining a number of statements made by Clair of New York and Blake of Denver.

MISSOURI'S DEADLOCK.

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) March 6.—No result was accomplished in the joint ballot today for United States Senator, the vote being: Niedringhaus, 52; Cockrell, 63; Kerens, 15; McKinley, 5; Kirkham, 1. The Republicans will hold a joint caucus tonight to ballot again for a possible candidate to break the deadlock. Predictions are freely made that about thirty Republicans will break from Niedringhaus, a majority of whom will support Maj. William Warner of Kansas City.

Assemblyman Hartman Wants Investigation of the Contracting Done in Greater New York.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Assemblyman Hartmann tonight offered a resolution calling for the appointment of a legislative committee to investigate the deals of the Murphy Contracting and Trucking Company. The Tammany men in the Assembly were thrown into a panic by the resolution.

When Hartmann started to read his denunciation of the Murphy Contracting Company, Assemblyman McKeown and half a dozen Tammany men jumped up to protest. They cried out that the resolution could not be introduced at this late day without the unanimous consent of the House. They objected to its introduction. Speaker Nixon held that the resolution could not be sent to the desk. Hartmann, bent on reading the document, rose to a question of personal privilege, but again he was shouted down by the Tammany contingent.

"When can I introduce it?" asked Hartmann.

"Not until unanimous consent is given," declared the Speaker.

"Then I shall offer it every day this session until I get such consent," said the Assemblyman.

Two Emmons Appropriation Measures Go Through.

Puts Kern County in Line for Improvements.

Stanton Confers With Parker, Then is Patriotic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two appropriation bills introduced by Senator Emmons, who was expelled a few days since from the Senate, passed that body this morning. Both measures carry big appropriations for Kern county. The first is a measure appropriating $60,000 for the erection of levees and embankments to restrain and conserve the flood waters of the Kern River. Dorsey has this measure in the Assembly, but it was reported on unfavorably by the Ways and Means Committee, and it is generally conceded that it will not pass in the lower house.

The second bill drafted by Emmons carries an appropriation of $20,000 for the construction of a State highway between Los Angeles and Kern county, through the Tehachepi Mountains. Dorsey has announced that he will try to carry this bill in the Assembly.

As a sample of rapid lobbying, Assemblyman Stanton's defeat of Assemblyman Moore's resolution to appoint a commission for the purpose of investigating conditions favorable to the building of a State bridge across Carquinez Straits stands unique in this session.

Assemblyman Moore's resolution providing for the commission went through the House without a dissenting vote, at 11 o'clock. At 2:30, when the House reconvened, it was reconsidered and defeated without a dissenting vote. Assemblyman Stanton was the instrument of the defeat. He made a speech in which he appealed to the patriotism of the members to down the resolution, inasmuch as it gave the commission the right to spend the State's money.

Senator Pendleton was another who gave evidence of anxiety when Assemblyman Moore's resolution went through, and he helped his side partner, Parker, to lay down the law to Stanton.

The real animus in the affair is that Assemblyman Moore's resolution provides for the State erecting a suspension bridge over Carquinez Straits that may be used by any railroad wishing to come into San Francisco, and the Southern Pacific have been circulating a petition that will permit them to build a private bridge of piles across the straits.

The petition is being circulated for the purpose of having President Roosevelt override the decision of the Navy Department, which decided that such a bridge would interfere with navigation.

Northern opponents of the Southern Pacific project state that the erection of a pile bridge would negate the work of reclamation which it is proposed to have done in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

THE LEGISLATURE.

THIRTY-SIXTH SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—SENATE—Senator Ralston's bill, No. 295, known as the "anti-boycott measure," was defeated by a vote of 27 to 4, after a hard fight in the upper house today. The bill was framed to prevent picketing and boycotting by members of labor unions and the distribution of blacklists by employers.

Savage of Los Angeles spoke briefly against the bill and Keane of San Francisco declared the proposed law to be directly against organized labor.

Ward of San Diego said: "The time for the passage of such a measure as Ralston's is inopportune. The controversies between capital and labor are adjusting themselves rapidly and the enactment of such a law might check the progress now being made toward satisfactory settlement."

Wolfe of San Francisco opposed the bill. He said that since the organization of the Citizens' Alliance boycotting is not as popular as it was formerly. Labor troubles are now being settled by arbitration.

Irish of Sierra favored the bill on the ground that boycotting should be frowned down as un-American.

Markey of San Francisco, who is a representative of organized labor, said the bill was vicious.

Lukens of Alameda said the bill was immature and should not pass.

In closing the debate Ralston said he had introduced the measure in good faith.

The time for recess was extended that a vote might be taken on the bill.

Among the bills passed by the Senate this morning were: By Emmons, appropriating $60,000 for constructing levees along Kern River; by Lukens, appropriating $35,000 for a dormitory on the grounds of the Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for the Adult Blind, at Oakland; by Selvage, appropriating $1000 to pay the claim of Albert G. Lafferty against the State; by Committee on Roads and Highways appropriating $2000 for the survey and locating and erection of the remaining milestones on the Lake Tahoe wagon road; by Emmons, appropriating $20,000 for the construction, repairs and maintenance of a public highway between Kern and Los Angeles; by Ralston, appropriating $6000 for permanent bridge work on the Lake Tahoe wagon road.

Beardslee's Assembly bill providing that the separate property of the wife is liable for debts incured for household expenses was passed by the Senate today.

Other bills passed by the Senate were: By Irish, providing for the issuance of certificates of registration to nurses by the State university regents; by Busick, imposing a license tax on itinerant venders, peddlers and canvassers of agricultural implements, wagons, buggies and other articles; by Branstetter, to prevent deception in the sale of renovated butter.

FOR WHITTIER SCHOOL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—The Senate passed the following bills tonight: By Johnstone, appropriating $2000 for a reservoir at the Whittier State School; by Johnstone, appropriating $250 for new books at the Whittier school; by Waste, appropriating $4000 to establish and maintain a bacteriological laboratory for the use of the State Board of Health at the University of California; by Irish, raising jurors fees from $3 to $3 a day; by Committee on Swamp and Overflooded Lands, creating the Sacramento drainage district.

Ralston's Senate constitutional amendment proposing to extend the life of corporations from fifty years to an indefinite period was adopted by the Senate tonight, by a vote of 27 to 5. Senator Lukens was practically alone in debate opposing the bill. Senators Curtin and Pendleton led the debate in favor of the bill.

A department of music at the State University is provided for at the State University in Assemblyman Pfaeffle's bill, passed by the Senate tonight. An appropriation of $6000 is carried in the measure.

ASSEMBLY—The appointement of a joint committee to look into the advisability of bridging Carquinez Straits is provided for in a concurrent resolution presented in the House this morning by Moore of San Joaquin. The committee, which is given until the next session of the Legislature to make its report, is to consist of four members of the Senate and two members of the House.

The resolution is, in part, as follows: "The committee is to examine into and report upon the advisability and cost of designing and of the construction of a State toll combination suspension bridge across Carquinez Straits at a point which would be the most convenient to all traffic, such as steam and electrical railroads, wagon and foot traffic."

Under the terms of the resolution, the committee is empowered to make a complete investigation and to employ all the clerical experts and assistance necessary.

Provision is made for the incarceration of prisoners in separate cells at San Quentin and Folsom through bills by Senators Coggins and McKee, passed in the Assembly this morning. The bills carry appropriations of nearly $500,000, to be paid in a period of six years, and provide for the erection of additional cells and other improvements at the penitentiaries.

The House also passed Olmsted's bill fixing the salaries of prison guards at $50 for the first six months; $55 for the next six months, and finally reaching a maximum of $65. The measure is a compromise for the Lynch bill, which sought to fix the salaries of the prison guards at $75, and which the Governor refused to sign.

The Legislature may be officially represented at the funeral of Mrs. Jane L. Stanford. This provision is made in a concurrent resolution introduced by Assemblyman Michelitree this afternoon and adopted by the House. It is stipulated that the committee to attend the funeral is to be composed of three members from each house, and that expenses to the amount of $250 are to be allowed. The Speaker appointed Assemblymen Michelitree, Waste and Atkinson to be the House representatives on the committee.

McCartney's bill providing that county officers in all the small counties must be kept open all day was defeated in the Assembly. Weyand gave notice of reconsideration.

LOAN BILL DEFEATED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—After a spirited debate that began this afternoon, the Assembly tonight defeated the bill framed by a joint committee intended to extensively change the building and loan laws. The measure was introduced in the Senate, where it was passed. The vote cast on the bill in the House tonight was 32 yeas to 35 nays.

When the debate on the bill was opened Transue argued for an hour, pointing out the merits of the measure. Cranwell then offered a number of amendments, which were defeated by a vote of 33 yeas to 36 nays.

During the debate a letter was received from William Corbin, in which he expressed himself as being in favor of the bill.

Assemblyman John talked against the bill, while Walsh and Anthony spoke in favor of it.

Chairman Stanton of the Ways and Means Committee presented a bill in the Assembly tonight, fixing the State tax rate for the ensuing year at 45 cents.

BROUGHTON'S BILL.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After a fight by Senator Broughton, the Senate reconsidered the vote whereby his bill permitting county division was defeated, tonight. Reconsideration was carried over the protest of Senator Simpson, and when it came to a decision Broughton was again the winner, by a vote of 23 to 7. The vote was given more as a compliment to Broughton and with the understanding that the Assembly will not pass the measure.

It is provided that where a portion of a county wishes to withdraw and set up a separate county government it may do so if a petition to that effect is signed by a majority of the voters after putting up a bond to secure the county against loss. Only those living in the proposed new county have the right to vote.

JUDGE SMITH'S CASE.

NO IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The committee appointed by Speaker Prescott to investigate the charges against Judge Lucas Smith of Santa Cruz prepared its report tonight and will present the same tomorrow.

Impeachment proceedings are not recomended, on the ground that it would be impossible to substantiate the charges of favoritism, inability to interpret the law, failure to show respect for the State Superior Court and partialitity to certain attorneys and defendants.

While the report states further that Judge Smith is lacking in many judicial traits and has upon several occasions seemingly disregarded the dignity and respect due to the position which he occupies, the character of the judge as a private citizen is unchallenged.

GOV. PARDEE SIGNS BILLS.

SEVEN SENATE MEASURES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—Seven Senate bills received the approval of Gov. Pardee today. Three of the measures Nos. 193, 195 and 196, introduced by Sanford of Mendocino, simplify the process and lessen the possibilities of litigation in the assessment of reclamation districts.

Anderson's bill, No. 246, provides that all school teachers must be paid a salary of at least $550 a year.

Other bills approved were:

By Hahn, No. 98, permitting either side in a law case to require the court to instruct the jury to bring in a special verdict.

By Rowell, No. 284, providing that pupils residing in a district where there are no high schools may attend high schools in other districts by paying a reasonable tuition fee.

By Savage, No. 259, authorizing city governments to order the construction of curbs and gutters.

LYCAN NO PIRATE.

MEXICO PAYS DAMAGES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After waiting 13 years, Dr. Edward Lycan, formerly of Aberdeen, has received $3000 in payment of the claim against the Mexican government. In 1892, Dr. Lycan was runing a sugar plantation near Topolobampo, Mex., The schooner Dora Bluhm was wrecked near that place, and as she was considered a total loss, was abandoned. Dr. Lycan bought the wreck for $100. After raising and repairing the vessel, he loaded her at Aberdeen and sailed for Mexico.

His right of purchase was contested by an insurance company, which prevailed upon the Mexican government to arest him as a pirate. His release was forced by the United States. He sued Mexico, and finally compromised for $3000.

Astounding Threat of One of the Hyde Faction—Big Money for Shareholders.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a recent conference of the Alexander and Hyde factions in the Equitable Life Assurance Society war, the astounding threat was made by one of the Hyde party that rather than surrender control of the society the affairs of the Equitable would be wound up, so that the huge assets of the corporation could be distributed among the stockholders.

Were such a plan carried out, the $100,000 capital stock of the society would have at least a value equivalent to a surplus of $81,000,000. This would make each one of the thousand shares worth $81,000. It would make the 510 shares of the Hyde estate worth $41,310,000, or more than eight times the amount offered to young Hyde for his controlling interest by the Harriman-Frick syndicate.

WASHINGTON.

HIS COAT OFF ONCE AGAIN.

President Vigorously Opening New Administration.

Reappoints All of Cabinet Except Mr. Wynne.

Robert T. Devlin is Given Woodworth's Place.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—This was the first business day of the new national administration, and the President disposed of an immense amount of accumulated work. Hundreds of visitors called at the White House, and despite the pressure of executive business, the President found time to receive and extend a cordial greeting to most of them.

James R. Garfield, Commissioner of Corporations had a brief talk with the President about some matters relating to his bureau. He was followed by Atty-Gen. Moody, who discussed with the President appointments in his department.

At the conclusion of his conference, Mr. Moody said it had been decided to appoint Robert T. Devlin of San Francisco United States District Attorney for the Northern District of California, to succeed Marshal B. Woodworth. This decision terminates a spirited contest. Senator Bard urged the retention of Woodworth, but Senator Perkins and his new colleague, Senator Flint, indorsed and worked for Devlin.

It was decided also to send to the Senate again the appointment of ex-Senator Joseph V. Quarles, to be United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, in succession to Judge Seaman, promoted. The announcement of the appointment of ex-Senator Quarles aroused a good deal of opposition among the followers of his successor, Senator La Follette, but it is regarded as unlikely that they could make serious trouble for the appointee, even if they should desire to do so.

The President and Atty-Gen. Moody also agreed upon the reappointment of Judge James Wickersham of the Third District of Alaska. It was decided early by the President to send to the Senate today not only the nominations of the members of his Cabinet, but in addition many other appointments about which an agreement had been reached. It is not unprecedented for the President to send nominations other than of his Cabinet officers to the Senate on the first day of the session, but it has been customary for Presidents to nominate only the members of their Cabinet on that day. The list of nominations included, therefore, appointments of ambassadors, ministers, consuls-general and consuls, so far as have been decided upon.

There were few surprises in the list, as most of the appointments made to the principal posts have heretofore been announced, at least in a semi-official way.

BRITISH STEAMER CARLISLE.

MAY REMAIN AT MANILA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, March. 6.—Upon the advice of the Secretary of State, Secretary Taft has cabled to Gov.-Gen. Wright at Manila permission for the British steamer Carlisle to remain in Manila Harbor until she has made necessary repairs to her machinery, therefore the United States government itself is responsible for the safety of the ship.

The status of this steamer is peculiar, and in adapting this attitude in answer to the appeal of the ship's captain, the State Department has added another and new construction of international law relative to rights of belligerent ships in neutral harbors to the several cases developed by this war. The Carlisle is a British ship, and consequently of neutral ownership. But she was chartered by the Russian government and loaded with arms, ammunition and food supplies for the Russian garrison at Port Arthur. She sailed from Vladivostok November 20 last, while the harbor was clear of ice and the garrison at Port Arthur was still holding out. The Japanese blockade around the fortress was effective, and the Carlisle was in the unpleasant position of being unable to make a landing there, and at the same time could not return to Vladivostok, where Admiral Kamimura had established a blockade.

There was no other Russian harbor in that quarter of the world, so that all that could be done by the captain of the Carlisle was to lurk outside the blockade lines, awaiting a chance to slip through. While he was 300 miles east of Yokohama, the Carlisle lost her propeller and lay helpless for many days. Finally sail was made on her, and the ship was worked into the harbor of San Miguel, on the east coast of Luzon. The captain and the supercargo, the latter a Russian, came to Manila and sought protection for their ship. The State Department was consulted by cable, and recommended granting the request for the Carlisle to wait at Manila where she could be more carefully watched.

The point of interest is what shall be done with the ship when her repairs are completed, but it is probable that as Japanese warships are reported to be lying in wait for her outside Manila Harbor, she will be permitted to interne on the same conditions as were imposed in the case of the Lena at San Francisco.

TO VICTORS, THE SPOILS.

"ORGANIZATION" MEN ALERT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the selection of Robert T. Devlin for District Attorney in Northern California, it is said that probably all Federal officeholders in Southern California will lose their heads as fast as their terms expire, if not faster. "Organization" men are going to be on guard hereafter, and men who are now in service who are not organization men might as well have their trunks packed at all hours of day and night.

United States District Attorney Valentine of Los Angeles is slated for an early and long vacation, so far as government service goes, and W. W. Bowers, collector of customs at San Diego, will have to give up his place, to make way for Assemblyman Barnes.

THE CONGRESS.

EXTRA SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—SENATE.—The special session of the Senate was opened today by loud applause for Vice President Fairbanks when he appeared in the chamber to preside. He at once rapped the Senate to order, and prayer was offered by Chaplain Hale.

The new Senators, Piles of Washington, Bulkeley of Connecticut, Flint of California, Nixon of Nevada, Burkett of Nebraska, Rayner of Maryland, Carter of Montana, Sutherland of Utah and Hemenway of Indiana were warmly greeted by their colleagues in the Senate.

In response to a resolution, Mr. Allison and Mr. Gorman were named as a committee to notify the President that the Senate was in session and ready to receive any communication he had to offer. A recess was then taken until 1 o'clock p.m. At the expiration of the recess, the committee reported that the President would at once send a message.

At 1:05 o'clock p.m., Assistant Secretary Barnes arrived from the White House, and at 1:06 o'clock on motion of Mr. Lodge, the Senate went into executive session. At 1:32 o'clock the Senate adjourned.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Senate today in executive session confirmed the nominations of all members of the Cabinet, of former Senator Cockrell of Missouri to be Interstate Commerce Commissioner, and of former Senator Quarles of Wisconsin to be United States Judge for the Eastern District of Wisconsin.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Robert T. Devlin Appointed.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Robert T. Devlin has been appointed by the President as United States District Attorney for the northern district of California, with headquarters at San Francisco.

[Robert T. Devlin, who today was appointed United States Attorney for the Northern District of California, is a prominent lawyer of Sacramento, and for twenty years has been a member of the Board of State Prison Directors. Formerly he was a State Senator from Sacramento county. He is the author of a legal work on deeds, and is said to have had wide experience in the conduct of land cases.—Associated Press.]

Animals in the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department has just received act 1285, enacted by the Philippine Commission, authorizing the incorporation of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in the Philippine Islands.

Will Appoint Anderson.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—There is authority for the positive statement that the President has fully decided upon the appointment of Charles W. Anderson, colored, of New York, as Internal Revenue Collector for the district of New York, to succeed Charles H. Treat, who will be appointed to succeed Ellis H. Roberts, Treasurer of the United States, at Washington. These appointments, however, will not be made until next June, when Mr. Roberts will have completed an eight years' term.

Interparliamentary Union.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—At a meeting of members of Congress belonging to the American group of the Interparliamentary Union for the Promotion of International Arbitration today, Chairman Bartholdt was authorized to select and appoint delegates to the Brussels conference of the union, to be held in September. Three American propositions were agreed upon to be presented to the Brussels conference. These were an invitation to the Central and South American countries to become members of the union; the extension of jurisdiction to The Hague Arbitration Court over specific matters of arbitration, through a general arbitration treaty, and the formation of an international congress to formulate and negotiate such a treaty.

Saving the Timber Lands.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Two and one-half million acres of timber land will be saved to the government by the operation of an act to which the President affixed his signature the last moments of the Fifty-eight Congress. The act prohibits the selection of timber lands in exchange for lands which have been included within forest reserves.

PRESIDENT NAMES OFFICERS OF STATE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The President today sent a large number of nominations to the Senate, including all the members of the present Cabinet except Postmaster-General Wynne. George B. SHAW TO RETIRE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—It was stated today that Secretary Shaw will retire from the Cabinet in February, 1906. The renomination of Secretary Shaw as Secretary of the Treasury recalls the fact that when he was first nominated it was with the understanding that he would not remain longer than the fourth of March, just passed. During the last campaign the President asked him, in case of his election, to remain at the head of the Treasury Department, and he then consented with the condition that he be permitted to retire in February, 1906, when he will have served a full four-years term. Secretary Shaw has no intention of remaining any longer than the date fixed upon.

THE GREAT WAR.

battle only up to last night, when Gen. Kouropatkin had succeeded in arresting the advance of the Japanese left wing, the hardest fighting having occurred north of Machiapu, which was the pivot of Gen. Nogi's movement.

The confidence placed in Kouropatkin was reflected by an advance in Russian Imperial 4s of a quarter of a point on the bourse today.

FIGHT AT MUKDEN GATE.

NEITHER SIDE GAINS ANY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEWCHWANG, March 6, via Tientsin.—Traders arriving here report that last night 30,000 Japanese gained an intrenched position five miles west of the gates of Mukden. Hand-to-hand fighting until daylight followed without any advantage to either side. The traders further report that the Russians, becoming alarmed, burned the government buildings preparatory to retreating.

One thousand Russians are reported moving southward on the east bank of the Liao River to attack the Japanese in the rear. It is thought that a battle is imminent.

RUSSIANS ADVANCE SLIGHTLY.

RENNENKAMPFF'S SUCCESS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GEN. RENNENKAMPFF'S HEADQUARTERS, March 5, night, via Mukden, March 6.—Attacks by the Japanese today near Tupintal, and on the forces of Gen. Llubavin, were repulsed with heavy losses to the Japanese. The Russian left has been advanced slightly, and several of the Japanese trenches have been taken after fights with the bayonet.

Saturday afternoon and night were comparatively quiet, there being only an occasional scattering artillery firing in progress. The rest is very welcome to the soldiers of this division, who have repulsed 120 attacks within the fortnight and who have been engaged in continual fighting during that length of time.

The Russian artillery forces and the Japanese guns have been changing ground continuously.

ATTACK SUNDAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GEN. RENNENKAMPFF'S HEADQUARTERS, OUBENEPUSA, March 6, morning. The Japanese again attacked Tpuinta and other positions on the left at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening, but were repulsed. Along the whole front there has been a scattering rifle fire, but at this moment it appears to be slackening.

TIDE OF BATTLE.

SETS BACK FROM MUKDEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7, 3:15 a. m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] According to correspondents with the Russian army, the tide of battle yesterday was gradually setting back from the immediate vicinity of Mukden, operations up to noon having resulted in the capture of several villages west of Mukden, but late in the afternoon the Japanese inaugurated a series of attacks. Gen. Kaulbars, who is considered the best of Gen. Kouropatkin's subordinates, has taken personal charge of the operations in this field. Comparative inactivity is the rule on the extreme left.

The Russians claim minor successes against Kuroki, who, presumably, having shot his bolt and won one of his objects—that of drawing Russian reinforcements—may have forwarded a part of his army to reinforce the center and west flank.

The War Office estimates the number of wounded in the battle of Mukden at 12,000, including 239 officers, but makes no statement regarding the dead. The Japanese losses, according to the same source of information, are estimated at 30,000.

Several regiments stationed near Lone Tree and Novgorod hills Sunday attacked and captured Japanese trenches, approaching under cover of darkness. The fighting was sharp, and the Japanese used hand grenades, but finally were expelled at dawn.

RECLAMATION ACT.

It Results in Controversy Between Public and Private Enterprise.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The relation between public and private enterprise has been the subject of some controversy since the passage of the Reclamation Act. It was assumed by many that the reclamation engineers would confine their operations to developments which offered no attractions to private enterprise, such as the construction of storage reservoirs on over-appropriated streams, or the building of canals to divert the water from unused streams into rivers where scarcity existed. In other words, that the reclamation service should be confined to operations which would tend to the general amelioration of conditions existing in the arid regions, without coming into commercial relations with the land or people benefited by its action. While this would be vastly more satisfactory to those charged with the execution of the Reclamation Act, it would not carry out the provisions of the law that the amounts expended should be repaid by the lands benefited. This provision of the Reclamation Act makes it the first duty of its executives to select for its operations feasible projects, in which the owners of the land can afford to repay to the reclamation fund the actual amounts expended in their reclamation.

The fact that the funds used under the Reclamation Act are relieved from interest charges makes many projects feasible which could not be profitably carried out by private enterprise, but this is more than offset by the perennial hopefulness of the private promoter. Every possibility of irrigation development in the arid region has been exploited at some time by somebody, and if it should be held that the Reclamation service should not interfere with private enterprise, it must either cease its operations or confine them to projects so utterly chimerical that there would be no human possibility of the return of the money expended.

While it should be the policy of the service to cooperate with and assist all legitimate private irrigation development, it should not allow a false sense of fairness to deprive any community of the opportunity to effect its development along the broadest possible lines, and it would be anything but fair to such a community to decide that an attempt to irrigate its lands had created a mortgage upon them, and that they must be left to be exploited for private profit, regardless of the wishes of those most vitally interested. It is the rule that wherever the reclamation service has started its investigations, it has found some part of its project overlapping lands which are being exploited by private enterprise. In such cases if there is a reasonable probability that the enterprise will be carried out, its lands should not be included, unless their exclusion would cripple the project, and in this case some equitable arrangement should be made with the interests involved.

CARNEGIE GAVE ONE GLANCE AT CASSIE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CLEVELAND (O.) March 6.—The trial of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick for alleged violation of the national banking laws, was commenced in the United States District Court before Judge Tayler today. The courtroom in which the trial will be conducted is of the smallest, there not being seating room for over 100 persons outside of those immediately connected with the trial.

Mrs. Chadwick came into court in the custody of two bailiffs. She was calm and self-possessed, showing not the slightest trace of excitement. She took a seat at a table in the center of the courtroom immediately behind her leading counsel, J. P. Dawley. Prosecuting Attorney Sullivan briefly addressed the jury, saying that the charge against Mrs. Chadwick was conspiracy against the United States in connection with financial irregularities committed in various transactions with the Citizens' National bank of Oberlin.

Dawley then commenced the examination of the jury, asking them, in addition to the regular routine questions, if they were capable of giving fair consideration to the evidence notwithstanding the fact that the United States was a party to the suit. He was busy with the third juror when the door opened, and Andrew Carnegie, followed by S. T. Everett, at whose home he is staying, entered the room. Carnegie gave one quick glance at the woman sitting by the table, and then walked up completely past her to a seat on the east side of the courtroom.

Court adjourned until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning on account of the illness of Mrs. Chadwick. She fainted after leaving the courtroom.

SAYS HE WAS BRIBED TO VOTE FOR ADAMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, March 6.—Senator R. W. Morgan (Republican) of Boulder county announced at the opening of the joint convention of the General Assembly today that $1500 had been offered him, and $750 had already been given him for his vote for Gov. Adams in the contest for the office of Governor. He produced the money, which, he said, he had received, and it was handed to Dist.-Atty. Stidger, who will file charges in court against the men who, Senator Morgan said, had attempted to bribe him. A Bribery Committee was appointed by the General Assembly to investigate the charge.

"I do not believe the charges," Gov. Adams said in reply to a question, "and I believe that they are made simply as part of the political game. Senator Morgan came in to see me of his own accord March 2, the day on which he says a bribe was offered him, and he volunteered the information that he would vote for me. I thanked him for the vote, and he said that he was convinced that I was honestly elected and entitled to the place."

Senator Morgan named James M. Herbert, vice-president and general manager of the Colorado and Southern Railroad, and Postmaster Daniel Sullivan of Cripple Creek as the men who bribed him. Dist.-Atty. Stringer filed informations against Messrs. Herbert and Sullivan in the criminal court, charging them with bribery of a member of the Legislature. Bonds were immediately furnished.

Mr. Herbert issued the following statement: "Mr. Morgan came to my rooms in the Brown Palace Hotel last Thursday with Daniel Sullivan. Mr. Morgan stated that he and his people were for the seating of Mr. Adams; that Boulder county had gone for Mr. Adams, and the laboring people in his section of the State were for Mr. Adams, and he had told them he would vote for Mr. Adams, and that he had told Gov. Adams the same thing; that the pressure was so great from the Peabody people that they might drive him out of the State if he did not vote with them, as they were browbeating and bulldozing many Republican members of the Legislature and making threats against them in business and politics. He was convinced the Peabody people had no case. Mr. Morgan stated that he had been offered $2000 by Peabody people and he ought to have $2000 if he stood by Adams and incurred the enmity of the Peabody people. I told him that I would not influence any member of the Legislature to vote one way or the other in the Governorship contest. Mr. Morgan was very insistent and finally said he would take $1500. I absolutely refused to have anything to do with him and he went away. Mr. Sullivan was present during the entire conversation.

[Signed.) "J. M. HERBERT."

"Senator Morgan approached me several days ago," said Postmaster Sullivan, "and told me in the presence of witnesses that he was anxious to vote for Gov. Adams because Peabody had failed to make a case. I told him that I had always believed that he was tied up to the Peabody side, but he vehemently denied the charge. He pleaded with me to take him to Mr. Herbert, and while I suspected that he was not honest with us, I could see no harm in permitting him to talk with Mr. Herbert. Fortunately, I was in the room during the conversation and heard him solicit the bribe, and Mr. Herbert emphatically declined to consider it."

Democrats charge that Senator Morgan's statement is part of a criminal plot concocted in the interest of ex-Gov. Peabody.

This afternoon, Postmaster Sullivan assaulted Richard Broad, a Peabody worker, on the street, striking him in the face with his fist. Several bystanders interfered, preventing further hostilities. Sullivan says that Broad and other lobbyists instigated Morgan to make the charges for the purpose of influencing legislators in favor of Peabody, and denies that there is any truth in Morgan's statement.

We desire to thank the ladies of Los Angeles and vicinity for the cordial interest which they have manifested in our new store, as displayed at our opening yesterday.

The store was thronged throughout the day. The words of warm commendation and the hearty congratulations which we have heard from our friends are most gratifying.

The attendance and the substantial appreciation of our efforts exceeded even our own expectations.

We will spare no pains and no expense to maintain this friendly spirit which yesterday was so strikingly evidenced.

OBITUARY.

Judge John Reagan.

HOUSTON (Tex.) March 6.—Judge John Reagan, sole surviving member of the Confederate Cabinet, died today at Palestine, Tex., of pneumonia. Judge Reagan, who was 92 years of age, has been failing in health for a year or more.

Baron Lambermont.

BRUSSELS, March 6.—Baron Lambermont, secretary-general of the Foreign Office, died today, following a stroke of paralysis, Saturday. For half a century the Baron had much to do with directing the foreign policy of Belgium. Baron Lambermont's aged sister, who was living in the country, dropped dead this morning when informed that her brother was dying.

An Ottawa dispatch says Honore Gervais, a member of Parliament, has been engaged to assist Dr. Laschiergue of Quebec in the defense of Gaynor and Greene and a big legal battle is promised before it is definitely known whether they would be forced to return to the United States.

SPURIOUS MORTGAGES

Late Andrew H. Green's Estate Robbed of Many Thousands of Dollars.

Papers Found With Registrar.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fraudulent mortgages, by means of which the estate of the late Andrew H. Green was robbed of many thousands of dollars, were discovered today in the office of the Registrar of Hudson county, in Jersey City. Some of these mortgages aggregate $10,000, which is estimated by experts as the amount of shortage in the estate from this account alone.

What other mortgages there may be will perhaps never be known, unless Lyman S. Andrews, formerly private secretary to Green, consents to make public the details of many tangled transactions and reveal the names of those who are involved. Andrews is now awaiting trial in connection with the frauds on the Green estate.

The spurious mortgages were given to Green and he advanced money on them from time to time. They were prepared with the utmost care as to detail and seemed to be entirely regular.

SUPREME COURT ON THE MERGER CASE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The Supreme Court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Division in the case of Harriman vs. the Northern Securities Company, involving the distribution of the shares in Northern Securities Company. The decision is favorable to the company.

The decision of the court was announced by Chief Justice Fuller. He delivered no written opinion, but said that one would be filed later. There was no dissenting opinion. The par value of the stock involved is $83,491,871. The case was argued only a week ago and the decision came with a promptness that was quite unexpected.

BIG STRIKE BEGINS IN NEW YORK TODAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A strike of all employés of the subway and elevated lines of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, to begin at 4 o'clock this morning, was announced by men at midnight last night. The officers of the company then announced that they had received the news, "and had made preparations accordingly." The strike order affects some 6000 employés of the company, and also the movement of 1,100,000 daily passengers.

The strike declaration was issued after conflicting statements had been given out by the officers of the road and by officers of the union as to final negotiations. The men gave the company until 11 o'clock last night to answer an "ultimatum" regarding wages and a new schedule of working hours.

THE STRIKE BEGINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—4 a.m.—At 5 minutes to 4 o'clock this morning, the strike on the elevated and subway lines of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company began. A train which reached the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth-street terminal of the West Side Elevated line at that hour was deserted by its entire crew. Ticket choppers, agents and other employés at the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth-street station also went out.

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

If the man who wrote "Shore Acres" had to do it over again and was living in Southern California where the shore acres are all cut up into building lots and canals and things, he'd have named his play "Shore Building Lots" or "Ocean View Acres" or something of that sort, for a shore acre must cut up about ten 25-foot building lots that would make it too expensive for a comedy. It would really be a tragedy. It's almost like getting money from home to buy a Silverwood hat for $3.00. There's where you do get your money's worth. They're made of fine-selected fur, trimmed with high-class silk bands and bindings, fashioned by the most expert workmen in the best factories in America, and fully guaranteed to wear right or you get your money back. Everybody sells $3.00 hats, but we are the sole agents for the United States for the Silverwood Hats. They're different. We are also agents for Stetson Hats.

A DEAR OLD SOUL
ACTIVE AND HAPPY AT 106

Mrs. Nancy Tigue, of Lafayette, Ind., Although in Her 106th Year, Says: "I Really Don't Feel Like I'm a Day Over 60, Thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Which is the Real Secret of My Great Age, Health, Vigor and Content."

Mrs. Tigue is Blessed with All Her Faculties and Does Exquisite Fancy Work Without Glasses. She is as Spry as Many Women Half Her Age.

With the Help of the Invigorating and Life-Giving Powers of This Wonderful Medicine Mrs. Tigue Says She Expects to Live Twenty-five Years Longer.

MRS. NANCY TIGUE, 106 ON MARCH 15.

"I will be one hundred and six years old," writes Mrs. Tigue, "on the fifteenth of March, and really I don't feel like I am a day over sixty, thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Friends say I look younger and stronger than I did 20 years ago. I have always enjoyed health and been able to eat and sleep well, though I have been a hard worker. Even now I walk on myself and am busy on a pretty piece of fancy work. My sight is so good I don't even use glasses. Am still blest with all my faculties. The real secret of my great age, health, vigor and content is the fact that for many years I have taken regularly a little Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and it has been my only medicine. It's wonderful how quickly it revives and keeps up one's strength and spirits. I am certain I'd have died long ago had it not been for my faithful old friend 'Duffy's.'" August 10, 1904.

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

IS THE COMFORT AND SUPPORT OF OLD AGE

The sincere and grateful tribute of Mrs. Tigue to the invigorating and life-prolonging powers of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is one of the most remarkable and convincing on record. She sews, reads and is dependent upon no one for the little services and attentions of old age. Mrs. Tigue's memory is perfect, and her eyes sparkle with interest as she quaintly recalls events that have gone down into history of the past hundred years. Instead of pining, as many women half her age, she is firm in the belief that with the comforting and strengthening assistance of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey she will live another quarter of a century.

If you wish to keep young, active and vigorous, and have on your cheeks the roses of health, and retain full possession of your mental powers, you must take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly as directed and avoid drugs of all kinds. It nourishes the vitality no matter how weak or feeble it may have become; feeds and enriches the blood, and stimulates the circulation, giving health and power to body, brain, nerve and muscle.

The absolute purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is attested by the fact that thousands of doctors and hospitals use it exclusively, and that it's the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. It contains no fusel oil.

CAUTION—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Sold by reliable druggists and grocers everywhere in sealed bottles only, never in flask or bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and be sure the seal over the cork is not broken. $1.00 a bottle.

BIG SUIT FOR WETTING SALT.

California Development Co. to be Haled Into Court.

Construction Converts Salton Sink Into Sea.

Colorado's Diverted Waters Flood Vast Lands.

A big piece of litigation is brewing between the New Liverpool Salt Company and the California Development Company. The former corporation is about to sue the latter for heavy damages claimed to have been caused by the overflowing of immense quantities of water from the Imperial canal system into Salton Sink, and it is anticipated that an injunction also will be sued for to restrain the further operation of the canal system detrimentally to the Salton company.

As roughly stated, the complaint is that the California Development Company, chain of canals it has constructed, though its three intakes could have been gated at comparatively small cost.

"Last October heavy rains in the southwest caused the Gila River to flood, creating an unusual rise in the Colorado River from Yuma south, which has continued intermittently ever since. Resultantly, the waters of that variable stream have been running wild through the canal intakes for the last five months; and, during this period, the settlers in the Imperial Valley having made little or no demand upon the canals for irrigation, the Heber concern has had to open the canal wastegates south of the Mexican line to prevent the overcharged and ungovernable system from flooding that valley. On or about February 12 careful measurements showed that approximately 3000 cubic feet of water per second was rushing from the swollen river through these intakes—and little or none of this vast volume was being used by the farmers."

AN INLAND SEA.

What, then, has become and is becoming of this indrawn flood? In the litigation that impends, the complaining company will aver that it flows through the canal wastegates southward across the lands of the Colorado River Land Company, sometimes transforming them into inland seas, then finds its way to the channel of the Paredones River, whence it flows to Volcano Lake. In the latter body the New River finds its source; its channel leads due north for seventy-five miles, and disappears in Salton Sink. Ordinarily—so ligated is the volume of water that empties from the lake into the stream and so great is the evaporation in that climate—the New River "peters out" and becomes but a dry bed before the sink is reached. But now that the California Development Company has brought into the interior the floodwaters of the Colorado without means or device for controlling them, the leve lof the water has been raised to such an extent that a torrent now speeds northward through the New River's channel—to empty, seventy-five miles away, into Salton Sink; and that dry basin is now a lake, 200 square miles in extent.

extensively during the last four or five months of high and ungoverned water that when low water returns and the wastegates are closed, and the canal currents are thereby slowed down, it is a serious question whether there will be sufficient depth in the canals to ensure water to the Imperial farmers for their crops."

Mr. Durbrow states that the submerging of Salton Sink has, of course, stopped the mining of salt, and that except for the fact that it had accumulated considerable quantities in its warehouses, the New Liverpool Sal. Company would have been put out of operation entirely.

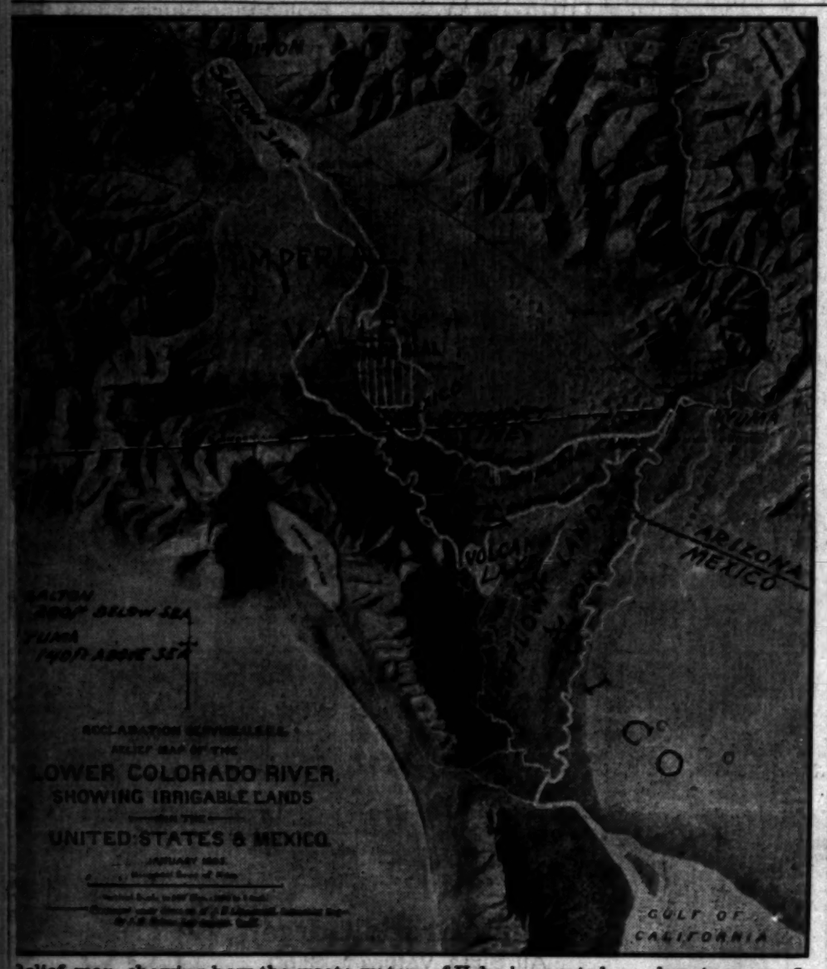
PERRY DENIES IT.

A private telegram received in Los Angeles from Yuma states that in order to prevent the threatened demolition of the Imperial canal system from high water, the California Development Company is preparing to construct headgates across its three intakes.

This statement was imphatically denied by R. T. Perry, the company's secretary. He said:

"Some time in the future we may install headgates, but nothing of that sort is contemplated now. It is not needed. Our property is not endangered in the least."

The gauge of the Colorado River at Yuma yesterday afternoon was 25 ft. 5 in., which is as high as the maximum figure reached during the annual June overflow some seasons.



Relief map, showing how the waste waters of Heber's ungated canal system may flood surrounding country.

its method of operation, is unto regulate the flow of the Colorado River into the Imperial canal system, having failed to equip its intakes with headgates; that, therefore, when heavy rains swell the Colorado River to a flood, vast volumes of water rush unimpeded through the intakes into the canals; that the canals overflow by means of their several waterways) onto surrounding lands, and a large portion of the surplus of water eventually finds its way north to Salton Sink, principally by means of the Padrones River to Volcano Lake, and thence through the Alamo River to the sink.

The problem may be illuminated by considering the accompanying map and keeping in mind the following facts: That the great basin shown, the pitch of which is to the west and north—that is, from the international line, is 140 feet above sea level; Salton, on the shore of Salton Sink, is 280 feet below sea level; so the valley has an approximate fall of 420 feet from the Mexican border to the sink, and it has a relative fall from east to west with the Colorado River and the Gulf.

WASTING THE FLOODS.

Salton Sink, fifty miles north of the international line and seventy-five miles north from Volcano Lake, is the bed of an ancient lake and holds large and valuable deposits of salt. The sink, on its northern edge, are the works of the New Liverpool Salt Company, of which corporation George W. Durbrow is general manager. In describing the heavy damage which the California Development Company is accused of inflicting upon the country at large, exclusive of the Imperial Valley, Mr. Durbrow said:

"Seven years ago a phenomenal flood in the Gila River caused the destruction of Yuma, and, the flood waters coming down into Volcano Lake and finding no outlet to the north through New River, Salton Sink was converted into a great lake, attracting much attention and creating much excitement.

"The damage as nature caused then, to Heber's concern—the California Development Company—is heedlessly being now on a smaller scale. In constructing canal systems for transporting and distributing of the water of large rivers, it is customary to place the heads of the system with the object that the flow of the stream through the canals shall be governable; that is, desirable that only as great a quantity of water shall enter the system as the canals can confine, handle and distribute, so headgates are built across the intakes (i.e., the points where the main canals tap the river.) These headgates being closed in time of flood, or partly closed in time of lesser, the inflow is regulated and disaster ensues. All properly-constructed canal systems for irrigation are equipped with headgates.

"But so the Imperial system. Strange as it may seem, the California Development Company is wholly without means of governing the flow of the Colorado River into the INDIFFERENCE SHOWN.

The charge of indifference toward all interests other than its own is made against President and General Manager Heber and his corporation, the California Development Company, and in the approaching suit it will be alleged that repeated complaints of damage done by the wasting waters have been heedlessly ignored, as affecting the New Liverpool Salt Company's property.

"Another and further danger which threatens as a result of failure to equip this canal system with headgates," says General Manager Durbrow, "is from deposits of silt. Everyone familiar with the Colorado River knows of the immense quantities of silt carried down by that stream. It is patent that in many places throughout the canals, silt has been deposited so

THE RAMONA BUNGALOW.

Never has a bungalow been built that seemed to please so many people as this Ramona bungalow. Some ideas of the old Ramona style of architecture have been carried out in these plants together with all modern points of a residence of today. It is really worth your while to see this Ramona bungalow if you have any thought of buying a house. Located on a corner, terraced 2 feet above walk, and has an unobstructed view of the entire Cahuenga Valley and the mountain range. The house has just been completed; very artistic reception hall finished in white, new style mantel, fine large living-room 22x14 feet. This room has beamed ceiling, a mantel fashioned after the old mission style, rock maple floors, and two massive pedestals with columns to ceiling. The dining-room is another very fine room, windows all around. It is paneled 5 feet high, has a fine buffet and rock maple floors. Bedrooms are finished in white enamel, all good size and one is 20 feet long. Plenty of good big closets, good bathroom. The Ramona bungalow has all the good points of a house of Ramona's time and the house of today.

FOR SALE—"WE SELL THE HILLS."
Don't you pay $5 every staging up from $10 to $25 rent every month for an indifferent house that belongs to the other fellow? Why not get a little home of your own? We can sell you a nice lot in the Bellevue Avenue Tract at from $300 to $350, $10 cash, and $10 monthly at 6 per cent. You can build a cheap house, or even put up a tent on rear of lot, and the money you now pay out for rent will, in a short time, pay for your lot, and then you will be your own landlord. THIS IS NOT HALF WAY TO LONG BEACH OR SANTA MONICA. It is as close to the Courthouse as Westlake. Convenient to the Glendale, the Hollywood, and the Temple street car lines. Almost within walking distance of business center, and amid pleasant surroundings, in a part of the city where values are appreciating rapidly. Better take the Hollywood car to the office on Sunset Boulevard and Alvarado street, where you will find a conveyance to show you this and other property in that vicinity. Best place in the city to buy for early and sure profit. See only the "BANNELLS LAND COMPANY." 'Phone Home 7781, Sunset Main 4797, Main 2256.

ACREAGE. RANCHO DEL MAR ACREAGE.
ACREAGE. ACREAGE.
Right at the gateway of Ocean Park, on Los Angeles Pacific Railroad, thirty minutes from Los Angeles, where $1,000,000 is being spent in improvements. Do you know there is no investment so safe and as sure to increase in value as good acreage, near a popular beach town? Why buy a lot for $700 when you can buy an acre that will make six lots for less money? RANCH DEL MAR Tract is all set to walnuts. We furnish you water free—all you want; 1 share of water stock with each acre of land. We have 30-H.P. engine, 12-inch well, pumping 75 inches of water. Others tell you they furnish abundance of water, but you have to pay for it. Remember when you make your purchase that water is not only king, but it comes high when you have to buy it. Terms, 1-4 cash, balance monthly or quarterly, just as you like; 6 per cent. interest. Our representative is on the tract. Take L. A. Pacific via Palms, Fourth and Hill, or call on the undersigned, who will be pleased to answer any questions concerning tract.

FOR SALE—
FARM HOMES AT FIRST COST.
If you had a chance to buy 10 or 20 acres of good land, well supplied with water, for one-half its actual market value, would you take it?
Would you take it, if the land was located where you knew in advance that would increase threefold BEFORE YOUR FIRST PAYMENT WAS DUE?
Would you take it if you could get this land on easy terms, remember, at HALF ITS MARKET VALUE?
We have a new plan for securing homes, which will do all this, and more; for you. A large tract of best land in well established district will be subdivided and distributed to several hundred families at the actual cost price per acre of the entire tract, and on terms easier than renting.
Land values will treble WITHIN 36 MONTHS after location has been selected. If you do not investigate this at once it will be because you think this is "advertising talk" and not the truth.
It is the truth; and you will miss a great opportunity if you do not call at our offices or write for information at once.
No land for speculators. Only those desiring homes need apply.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Naval Reserves.

The local engineers' division of the Naval Reserves got orders yesterday to join the flagship Chicago at San Diego for a two weeks cruise to Magdalena Bay.

Two Inquests.

Plain suicide was the verdict of the Coroner's jury in the inquest held over the remains of Dr. S. Elwood Schirmer, the Pennsylvania dentist found dead in his room on Towne avenue Saturday. The inquest over the remains of David Shaffer, who was drowned in the plunge near Eastlake Park, brought out no new facts.

Big Opera Sale.

Evidently the men and women who want to hear golden-voiced Caruso—at a golden price—are many, for the Conreid company's seat sale opened yesterday at the Union Pacific ticket office with a patronage almost unprecedented. Subscriptions for both the "Parsifal" and "Lucia" nights were many. The demand for "Lucia" tickets seemed slightly greater, strengthened, no doubt, by the promise of the appearance of the most wonderful tenor in the world.

Honor Her Memory.

About fifty former students of Stanford University met yesterday at the rooms of the Los Angeles Board of Trade and adopted resolutions in memory of Mrs. Stanford, O. J. Copp being chairman of the meeting. The resolutions were ordered engrossed for preservation in the archives of the university. The association of students at San Francisco was authorized to purchase a handsome floral piece for the funeral, in behalf of the Los Angeles association.

Tool Thief Held.

John Williams, a youth who has remained in jail for some time, on a charge of burglary, was held to answer to the Superior Court yesterday by Justice Chambers. Williams appears to be a professional tool thief. He has been mixed up in many petty cases before, but his operations became so extensive that detectives arrested him on a charge of burglarising a new house on the East Side, from which a number of tools were stolen.

Whose Wheel is This?

Late Saturday night Patrolman McDowell arrested a man who gave the name of George Thomas of East Los Angeles. He had two bicycles in his possession, and when questioned closely, admitted that he had stolen them. One of the wheels has been identified as the property of Joseph George, janiter of the Trust building, but the other has not been claimed, and the police are desirous of finding its owner. It is an Orient wheel with red enamel, and has been much ridden.

BREVITIES.

The exhibition of the magnificent collection of antique rugs from Tavshanjian, the Shah's representative at the St. Louis Exposition, takes place today and evening in the banquet hall of the Angelus Hotel. The entire collection will be offered at auction, commencing Wednesday evening at 8:15 p.m., and sale will continue for seven days at 2:30 p.m. and 8:15 p.m., daily. The rugs will be on view for selection up to hour of sale. These rugs are the finest genuine antiques ever seen on the Coast. Admittance to exhibition by card, which can be obtained at the hotel office.

The old reliable Sunbeam Art Parlors, formerly located at 236 South Main street, have removed to 535 South Broadway, and will hereafter be known as the Angelus Studio. Beautiful cabinet photos only $1 and $1.75 per dozen. We have no connection with any studio on Main street. Any one using the name Sunbeam Studio is an imitator. Come and see the beautiful Angelus Studio, finest in the West. Popular prices; highest grade work.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Proposed Amendments Voted Down. Will go on Doing Business in Old Way.

At the special meeting of the members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, held yesterday to take action on the recommendations of the governing board, the proposed addition to the bylaws relating to street sales, and the proposed change relating to commissions, were voted down. The addition touching the conduct of members of the exchange, was carried.

The meeting was largely attended, and most of the members unable to be present were represented by proxy. The anticipated fight, however, did not take place, owing to the unavoidable absence of S. H. Ellis and H. L. Percy, the two stalwarts in favor of the recommendations of the board. The conservatives, led by Louis Blankenhorn, had things pretty much their own way, and the looked-for picturesque features were lacking.

Col. J. B. Neville made a good fight for the two important recommendations, but he was one against the many, and the meeting dwindled to a calm before it was well begun. Upon a vote being taken on the recommendation that the street sales be published, the members stood ten for to twenty-four against, which puts direct news of street sales out of the question for some time to come, at least.

On the proposed change to the bylaws relative to commissions, an amendment submitted by Secretary R. R. Dickinson was adopted by a vote of 20 for to 3 against, the article now standing as follows:

On stock selling up to 4¾ cents per share, $1.25 per 1000 shares.

On stock selling from 5 cents to 14¾ cents per share, $2 per 1000 shares.

On stock selling from 15 cents to 29¾ cents, $2.50 per 1000 shares.

On stock selling from 30 cents up to 50 cents a share, $5 per 1000 shares, over 50 cents, 1 per cent, according to the amount involved and the sale price.

The addition proposed by the governing board relating to the conduct of members of the exchange, was adopted, the secretary being instructed to cast the ballot.

THE PLACE TO SAVE

GOLD HUNGER, BLOOD THIRST.

Dangerous State of Affairs in Gypsy Camp.

Gashed Throat Laid to Fall on Cracked Bottle.

Awaiting Return of Nera With Shotguns.

Lust of gold or thirst for blood stirs the Gypsy camp ruled by Tamas Stirio, Greco-Australian rover, in the bed of the Los Angeles River, just north of the Ninth-street bridge.

Murder has been attempted, one man's throat has been cut, and more bloodshed is threatened.

Thousands of dollars in shining gold pieces—form the mints of Australia, India, Greece, France and America—contained in simple bags in the tents of the Gypsies, was the cause of a vendetta that disrupted the tribe, wrecked the happiness of a peaceably-inclined young couple, and drove them away from their own kith and kin to do battle with an unsympathetic world, put murder in the heart of one of the band, caused another to attempt suicide, and finally changed the entire plans of the most startling flock of Bohemians ever seen in Los Angeles.

With one woman stabbed by a jealous lover, another in hysterics over fancied wrongs to her faction of the tribe, and a man with a jagged hole in his throat, the Gypsy camp yesterday presented a scene of strife rarely witnessed in a similar band of rovers.

Repeated calls were sent in to the Police Station for officers, and special men were rushed down to quell the disturbance originally started Saturday night by a member of the tribe known as Nera or Foster.

As told in The Times yesterday morning, Nera, who assumed the name of Foster recently, tried to murder one of the sleeping women in the tents late Saturday night by stabbing her repeatedly in the groin, entering the tent by cutting a slit. Nera escaped after he had been chased by Chief Stirio and his two brothers. Policemen heard the din in the camp and, after investigating the original trouble half a dozen officers watched and searched for Nera. Sunday he went to the camp again at a time when he knew all save the women would be absent. After terrorizing the women a few moments, he saw officers approaching, and he hastily left. His motive is supposed to be robbery.

Yesterday the Police Station and District Attorney's office were overrun by the Gypsies, who wanted redress, protection and satisfaction.

A DAZZLING CHIEFTAIN.

Chief Stirio himself, attired in Fra Diavolo costume, with splendid top boots, and the devil-may-care air of a genuine bandit, stalked into the Police Station and asked in his broken English if Nera had been found.

Assured that the officers were on the look-out for the would-be murderer, Tamas Stirio went back to his own. Meantime a Gypsy woman, bearing a small child in her arms and accompanied by her husband, rushed frantically into the station and told a story of how a member of the tribe had tried to kill himself by cutting his throat.

It appeared that a war in the camp had sprung up and faction was arrayed against faction. Some stuck by Nera and wanted to see him come back while others abused him roundly, and swore that the man had tried to murder one of their number and steal all the gold in the tents of the nomads.

In a fit of anger, the young husband and wife, who had appealed to the police—presenting their side in an unintelligible way, however—struck their tents and left their comrades and kinsmen. The man with a hacked throat was located in one of the tents, but all of the Gypsies swore that he had not attempted suicide.

"He drink; falla on bottle," they said by way of explanation. The man was able to sit up and take notice—some nourishment too, though liquid—so the police paid no further attention to the throat cutting episode even though the tumble-on-top-of-a-bottle story appeared rather fishy.

GOLD GALORE.

Only when the police intimated that the gypsies were vagrants and they better move on, did the real cause of all the trouble come out.

Stirio, chief of the tribe drew himself up haughtily, flashed fire from his eyes and indignanly denied that his people were paupers.

"I canna understand Engleesh well," he said, "but come me, I show, we rich but don't tell or zey killa us."

Leading the way into one of the tents closely followed by several women, Stirio ordered the treasures of the tribe shown. As if by magic, rare jewels, beads, trinkets of surpassing workmanship and bags of gold were dug from underneath dirty mattresses and ill-smelling bed-clothes.

A hat-full of gold crowns, Napoleons, double-eagles and queer large thin Australian pieces was poured out on Nature's floor in the tent.

"Zere, see," said Stirio triumphantly in his queer mixture of French and English. "We verra good, rich; Nera bad."

Boyd and Ingram of Capt. Auble's staff were permitted to handle all of the gold and rare gems when Stirio was satisfied that his camp was being investigated by the proper authorities. The chief urged the officers to make a complete investigation.

In three tents money and gems were brought out and spread before the visitors, and though the gypsies would not directly acknowledge the cause of all the trouble in their ranks, they plainly intimated in unguarded moments that Nera and other mutinous friends were intent upon robbing them of their wealth.

THEIR WANDERINGS.

Stirio and his band have been in America five years. They have toured all over this country, Mexico and Canada, trading and peddling. All of their earnings have been invested in foreign coins because the tribe are bound for Australia. They expect to remain here only a few days longer when they will go to San Francisco and sail on a steamer for Melbourne. Stirio, though he claims Greece as his native land, proudly exhibits a paper showing that he is a British subject, having been naturalized in Australia.

The police are somewhat puzzled over the strange break in the ranks of the gypsies and they are carefully watching the band in the river bottom fearing another outbreak. Nera is still missing, but if he should attempt to return to the camp, he will find a warm welcome awaiting him as the gypsies are on guard with shotguns.

OPENED GRAVE TELLS MURDER.

Mrs. Nancy Milburn Killed in Ocean Park.

Strangled and Neck Broken, Body Carried to Surf.

Cottage Near Rose Avenue Probably the Scene.

Out of an opened grave in Woodlawn Cemetery, Santa Monica, came yesterday the news that some time in the latter part of week before last a brutal and mysterious murder was committed in the pretty and peaceful town of Ocean Park. The hour and place of body of Mrs. Milburn was found by a negro bootblack on the Ocean Park beach at the foot of Rose avenue. It had, apparently, been washed ashore. No one coming forward to identify the corpse, it was duly declared by Coroner's jury to be that of a suicide, and was buried in a plot devoted to the unknown dead, in Woodlawn. Yesterday the grave was opened and the body exhumed, to be instantly identified by relatives. Last night an autopsy developed the tell-tale prints of murder—strangulation marks on the throat, and a broken neck.

Mrs. Milburn went from Los Angeles to Ocean Park on the morning of the Thursday named, presumably in connection with a real estate investment. She was to return in time to take train for the North that evening. It is believed she was lured into an Ocean Park cottage not far from Rose avenue and killed, probably for robbery, and that after night fell her corpse was carried down to the surf and thrown in. The tide went out half an hour after midnight.

She was dead when cast into the sea, for last night Autopsy Physician Campbell found there was no water in either the lungs or the stomach.

LAST SEEN ALIVE.

It was 10 o'clock on Thursday morning, a week and a half ago, that Mrs. Milburn, an active member of the Los Angeles Land and Investment Company, with offices in the Laughlin building, left her apartments at No. 409 South Hope street. She had recently returned to Los Angeles from her old home in St. Louis, Mo., where she had been visiting for some time. She was in quest of a promising real estate investment and her objective point was Ocean Park. So far as is now known, that is the last time she was seen alive by any of her acquaintances.

When Mrs. Milburn returned from St. Louis she bought a through ticket to San Francisco. The stop-over privilege at Los Angeles expired on the evening of the day she went to Ocean Park, and it was her plan to go north that evening to Watsonville to visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. O'Brien. This explains why the absence of Mrs. Milburn caused no uneasiness among her Los Angeles relatives. They presumed she had gone to Watsonville according to programme, and her daughter at Watsonville was not alarmed, thinking there had been some change in the arrangements.

The wife of the Rev. G. A. Gordon, of No. 315 Bunker Hill street, a sister of Mrs. Milburn, read in the papers the description of the body found on the beach, and at the time remarked the likeness to her sister. And several days later, when no word came announcing her safe arrival at Watsonville, Mrs. Gordon felt intuitively that all was not well.

The likeness of the unknown dead to her absent sister so preyed upon her mind that she finally wrote to Watsonville. Immediately upon receipt of this letter Mrs. Milburn's daughter wired: "Mother not here. Search for her."

THE IDENTIFICATION.

This was Monday, and yesterday Mrs. O'Brien and her husband arrived from Watsonville and immediately proceeded to Santa Monica, where their worst fears were confirmed. Mrs. Milburn's sister and daughter positively identified the exhumed body as that of their relative. The identification was complete, both as to personal features and wearing apparel. The two gold-crowned molars and another gold-filled tooth, together with a peculiar arrangement of the teeth, were unmistakable marks. Height, weight, and facial features all corresponded with those of Mrs. Milburn, and when the relatives and friends who had known her in life viewed the body yesterday they declared in positive terms that it was she.

The index finger of one of Mrs. Milburn's hands had once been broken and was stiff. The hands of the exhumed body were examined by Dr. N. R. Gordon, a brother of the Rev. G. A. Gordon, and he found the stiffened joint.

MURDER UNEARTHED.

Dr. Campbell took the body in charge and made a searching examination of it. His autopsy revealed the startling fact that death had not been from drowning. There was no water in either lungs or stomach. Her neck was broken and there were marks on the throat showing congestion, such marks as are made by external strangling. There were no finger prints, but the appearance was as of blood having been brought near to the surface by a deadly grip. The conclusion of Dr. Campbell was that the woman had been murdered and thrown into the sea.

The person bore no further evidence of death having been preceded by a struggle. The clothing was not torn. This leads to the conclusion that Mrs. Milburn was lured into some room or cottage and quickly killed.

It seems likely that the object was robbery, and that in order to convey the impression of suicide everything which might offer a clew was removed. Her purse, which she always carried in her bosom, was missing. It certainly contained a return trip ticket to Los Angeles, change, and perhaps several hundred dollars.

The real-estate people to whom she had been recommended on Pier avenue state that she did not call upon them Thursday, or at any time, nor has it been possible to find anyone in Ocean Park who saw her alive.

When she left Los Angeles she wore a hat and (supposedly) a light wrap. These the tide did not bring in, nor have they been found.

Mrs. Milburn was a native of Illinois, about 49 years of age, and a woman of good education. Some years ago she was superintendent of one of the leading schools in St. Louis. She was a widow, and leaves an estate, said to be valued at $50,000, a good part of which had been accumulated through her business sagacity and industry.

For the present the murdered woman's body will repose in Woodlawn Cemetery at Santa Monica, but later Mrs. O'Brien expects to remove it, possibly to Pasadena.

RELATIVES SPEAK.

There was a feeling of sorrowful satisfaction at the home of the Rev. G. A. Gordon, No. 315 South Bunker Hill avenue, last night, because of the positive statement of the Coroner's physician that Mrs. Milburn had been murdered, replacing the theory that she had committed suicide.

In explanation of her tardiness in connecting her sister with the body found in the surf, Mrs. Gordon said:

"When I first read the description of the woman in the newspapers I thought to myself: 'How much that is like my sister?' but even then it did not create any suspicion, for I knew she was talking about going to visit her daughter at Watsonville.

"I finally telegraphed to Mrs. O'Brien to know if my sister was there, and when I found she was not we telegraphed for Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, and took steps to have the body exhumed."

Mr. Gordon said, concerning the identification: "There were six or seven of us there, and we all recognized her at once."

The Rev. Mr. Gordon is a retired Baptist minister, and before coming here was editor of the Illinois Free Baptist at Campbell Hill, Ill. W. O'Brien is a marble and granite dealer at Watsonville.

CLAPPED HAND ON HER MOUTH.

Footpad's Rough Treatment of Mrs. Foster.

Los Angeles Woman Robbed in Early Evening.

Young Fellows of Eighteen Years Did it.

Mrs. Mary M. Focter of No. 332 South Hope street was assaulted and robbed at 9 o'clock last night near the grounds of the State Normal School on Fifth street west of Grand avenue, by two young men. Mrs. Foster was walking home and when she passed Olive street she noticed two young fellows behind her, but paid no attention to them. She crossed Grand avenue and was at a very dark place in the street when she heard the young men rapidly approaching her. Just as she turned to face them they seized her and while one tried to place his hand over her mouth to prevent her raising an alarm, the other grabbed her shopping bag from her arm, and then, giving her a shove, both men started to run.

Mrs. Foster screamed for help and a crowd collected, but the robbers had disappeared, one having run up the hill on Grand avenue toward Fourth street and the other toward Sixth. Prof. F. Beals of the Normal School staff witnessed the robbery from a distance. He was armed and started in pursuit of the two robbers but by the time he reached the street they were out of sight and he went to the assistance of their victim.

The purse contained $3.40, about 25 cents' worth of stamps, a bank book of the Union Bank of Savings and a promissory note for $100. The purse itself was worth between $15 and $20. It was covered with snake skin, mottled in color and of fine workmanship.

No satisfactory description of the robbers was secured. Mrs. Foster stated that both were about 18 years of age and well dressed, and she admitted that it was doubtful if she would be able to identify them if they were brought before her.

G.A.R. POLITICS.

Col. A. D. Cutler of San Francisco the Only Candidate for Department Commander.

A number of the local G.A.R. men are planning to attend the California and Nevada department encampment, which will be held at Marysville, Cal., beginning May 12. Chief interest centers in the selection of a department commander for the ensuing year.

Southern California has no candidate for this office this year, as it was accorded the honor at the last annual encampment. Department Commander Rice has fully come up to all expectations in his administration, and will hand the command over to his successor in better shape than it has ever been before. He has visited every post in the department during his term of office, and has been indefatigable in his efforts to promote the welfare of the order.

Thus far there is practically only one candidate in the field as successor to Commander Rice. George H. Thomas Post of San Francisco, the largest post in the State, has placed in nomination for the high office, the Commander of that post, Col. A. D. Cutler, and the nomination has been seconded by resolution by all of the other San Francisco posts, and most of the country posts in Northern California. It is expected that the Southern California and the Nevada posts will fall in line, and that Col. Cutler will be the unanimous choice of the encampment for Department Commander.

Col. Cutler was born at the historic town of Lexington, Mass., where the first blast of Freedom's gun was heard in the War of the Revolution, and he comes from the best of Revolutionary stock. He has served one term as president of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and has been instrumental in making George H. Thomas Post of the G.A.R. the greatest camp of veterans on the Pacific Coast. He entered the Civil War as a member of the famous Sixth Massachusetts Regiment, which gave the first bloodshed in the war, when attacked by a mob in passing through Baltimore on the way to Washington, in response to President Lincoln's first call for volunteers.

Col. Cutler served with distinction throughout the Civil War, and has resided in California since 1877, where he is prominently identified with the fruit trade. It is fitting that the veterans of the State should honor a man with such a pedigree with the highest office at their command.

BANKRUPT FARMER.

Andrew Vance, a Tehachepi farmer, yesterday filed in the United States District Court a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. The schedules as filed show an indebtedness of $12,839.82, with real estate and personal property to the amount of $3081.

MRS. BIERCE DIVORCED

Wife of Iconoclastic Satirist Gets a Decree on Ground of Desertion.

Mrs. Mary E. Bierce, wife of Ambrose Bierce, the satirist and iconoclastic critic, who vents his eccentric opinions through the yellow Hearst press, was granted a decree of divorce yesterday, by Judge Trask, on the ground of desertion.

The Bierces were married in 1870 and have been separated since 1891, the union not having proved a happy one, for reasons said to have been not altogether the fault of the wife.

Mrs. Bierce, upon taking up her residence in this county some time ago, instituted action for divorce. The proceedings were purely formal, the defendant allowing a decree to be issued by default.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The discovery of a technical flaw in the proceedings for opening San Pedro street has invalidated the biggest street improvement contract of the year.

A special committee was yesterday appointed by the council to consider the question of municipal ownership of public utilities.

City Clerk Lelande was yesterday instructed to advertise for bids for a street railway franchise on East Seventh street with a twenty-one year time limit attachment.

Certain of the fruit growers are dissatisfied with the action—or inaction as they allege—of the Board of Horticultural Commissioners, and are about to file charges with the Board of Supervisors.

T. J. Durand, who alleges that he was kept in a state of inebriation long enough for him to sell a block of valuable mining stock, and who demands redress, is now telling his story for the second time to Judge Noyes sitting in Judge Allen's department. The case was heard before, but the defendants were granted a new trial.

PROCEEDINGS FOR OPENING SAN PEDRO STREET VOID.

Failure to Set Unimportant Protest for Hearing Invalidates Biggest Contemplated Street Improvement of Year—Committee to Consider Municipal Ownership.

The hoodoo is still camping on the trail of property owners who are working to secure the opening and widening of San Pedro street from Fifth to Alisso street.

For eighteen years an application for this improvement has been almost continuously before the Council. Five times the ordinance of intention has been passed, but each time a legal technicality has blocked the improvement.

The curtain was yesterday rung down on the latest fiasco when the Council passed an ordinance abandoning all proceedings for opening and widening San Pedro street north of Fifth street.

Through a technical misstep in setting for hearing a protest in which the kickers were in a hopeless minority, proceedings which have been under way for nine months and which have withstood the brunt of a half-score of violent protests have been rendered illegal.

In moving for the abandonment Councilman Healy said that a majority of the affected property owners are in favor of the improvement and that a new appliction will be presented next Monday.

This improvement is one of the most important street openings that has been attempted for several years. It contemplates a valuable addition to the business district.

SEVENTH STREET RAILWAY.

COUNCIL ORDERS READVERTISE.

Residents of the Seventh and Ninth wards are going to make a try for a street-railway line on East Seventh street, despite the short-term franchise amendment of the city charter.

On motion of Councilman Kern the Council yesterday morning instructed the City Clerk to advertise for sale a street-railway franchise along Seventh street from Spring street to Boyle avenue and along Boyle avenue to Stephenson avenue. The time limit in the franchise is to be twenty-one years.

This franchise was advertised for sale in January with a thirty-four-year franchise attachment. Before the time for opening bids arrived the Legislature ratified the twenty-one-year franchise amendment and no bids were received.

Interested property owners are willing to buy the franchise and to help build the line if the Los Angeles Railway Company will agree to operate cars over it after it is completed.

But H. E. Huntington has notified the Council that he will not operate street-railway lines under twenty-one-year franchises.

FLUSHING A SUCCESS.

FOR CLEAN BUSINESS STREETS.

Street Superintendent Hanley yesterday reported to the Council that the new system of drenching and scrubbing business streets has improved conditions in the downtown district. The objections made to the plan are that the water injures the asphalt on streets where the paving is partly worn away and that it sometimes creates a nuisance on streets which act as drainage canals for the business section.

Mr. Hanley recommended that hydrants be placed at distances of not more than 100 feet apart in the streets which are to be flushed and scrubbed, also that flush tanks be placed at each corner of sidewalk and between blocks.

The Street Superintendent notified the Council that he has been able to reduce the expense in his department to the extent that he will be able to flush the business streets without receiving pecuniary assistance from the local business associations.

PAYS ELECTION DEBT.

SPOOK HOWTON GETS BUSY.

Spook Howton yesterday paid another election debt. The expense is charged against the health of the municipal employes who work in the offices at the City Hall.

Toilet rooms on each of the three floors of the hall are in an unsanitary condition. In fact, they are so bad that the Health Officer three weeks ago made a special report to the Council recommending that immediate action be taken to repair them.

The Council advertised for bids for the work. These bids were received a week ago and referred to the Supply Committee.

It chanced that the low bidder is a plumber who resides in the Sixth Ward and who had the temerity to refuse during the last municipal campaign to make a contribution to the Howton-Norton Good Government League.

When the bids came before the Supply Committee, of which Howton is chairman, he discovered that this impossible bidder was lower than any of the others. Howton promptly formulated a report recommending the rejection of all bids. No reason for this action was given. He embodied it in a report containing a number of routine matters and persuaded another member of the committee to sign it, saying "there is nothing in it but a few matters of dry routine that ought to be cleared off the files."

It was not until after the Council had adjourned yesterday afternoon that the other members discovered that they had been trapped into rejecting bids for repairing the toilets. It will now mean a month's delay before the work can be started under a new contract.

The City Electrician has applied to members of the Council for permission to move into other rooms until the toilets on the first floor are repaired. The entire second floor is permeated with the odor of foul-smelling sewer gas and conditions on the library are decidedly unsanitary.

But this condition does not worry Spook Howton any. He has paid another election debt.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP?

Following a long-drawn-out discussion of ordinances regulating the price and quality of gas, electricity and telephone service the Council yesterday appointed a special committee composed of Blanchard, Howton and Healey to "investigate the question of municipal ownership of public utilities." Proposed gas, electric and telephone ordinances are now under consideration by the committee of the whole, the building and electrical sections. The ordinance at present under consideration was passed by the last Council, but its operation was suspended until May 1.

Board Must Appoint.

The Council yesterday declined to ratify the appointment by Mayor McAleer of H. H. Gorter to the place of superintendent of engines in the fire department. Councilman Smith made the objection that the appointment should be made by the Fire Commission and that the appointee must have credentials from the Civil Service Commission. The Mayor's message announcing Gorter's appointment was referred to the City Attorney for an opinion as to legality. Later it was arranged that the Fire Commission should make an emergency appointment at its next meeting and that the Civil Service Board shall hold a special examination for the position of superintendent of engines.

Street Sprinkling.

City Clerk Lelande was yesterday instructed by the Council to advertise for bids for supplying 100 teams and carts for street sprinkling. The present contract will expire July 1. Bids will be opened by the Council on March 27. Under the terms of the present contract the city pays $1.61 a day for each team. It is expected that the use of oil on improved streets will reduce the cost of street sprinkling over one-half during the next two years.

New Flint Avenue.

A contribution is now in order from United States Senator Flint for the improvement of a new-born street in the Sixth Ward. At the recommendation of City Engineer Stafford the Council yesterday christened a new side street between Thirtieth and Thirty-first street Flint avenue.

Council Miscellany.

Councilman Smith yesterday morning reported to his colleagues that the street department was not keeping faith with the Council in repairing a portion of Estrella avenue. He said that the Council had asked for gravel for the street and that he had given them blue mud. Mr. Hanley later explained to the Council that the material used had been wet gravel. He said it looked like mud when first applied, but that when dry it hardened into gravel.

John Nelson submitted the lowest bid for constructing an engine-house in the Eighth Ward. His offer is $7256. All bids were referred to the Building Committee.

Former Councilman Davenport yesterday persuaded the Council to appropriate $100 toward defraying the expenses of this year's Arbor Day celebration.

Lester Robinson, member of the Fire Commission, was yesterday granted a leave of absence from the city for thirty days.

Councilman Ford made his first appearance in the Council chamber in a month. Mr. Ford has been confined to his home from injuries received in a street-car accident.

Residents of Iowa street between Pico and Washington streets yesterday petitioned the Council to change the name of their thoroughfare to Bonnie Brae street.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

DISPUTES AMONG BUG EXPERTS.

CERTAIN FRUIT MEN AGAINST COMMISSIONER JEFFRIES.

The Fight to be Brought to a Head by the Filing of Charges Against the Horticultural Board, When the Supervisors Will Investigate.

There is trouble brewing for somebody in the First Supervisoral District, and it is all on account of a desire on the part of certain ranchers and fruit growers to have W. H. Payne appointed as a member of the Board of Horticultural Commissioners.

When the Board of Supervisors took office Mr. Meserve was appointed to the Horticultural Board and with that exception the board was left undisturbed, in consonance with the desires of the fruit growers in the several districts affected. Now, however, a scheme is afoot for landing in the office W. H. Payne, one of the inspectors at Monrovia.

Several petitions have been filed with the Supervisors, and the signatures represent districts extending from San Gabriel and Monrovia across country to the San Fernando Valley. The prayer of these petitions is a trifle queer, for while some of them say that they put forward the name of Mr. Payne inasmuch as they believe that the Supervisors are about to appoint a new Board of Horticultural Commissioners, others say they desire the appointment solely on account of his merit as an entomological expert.

There is a good deal behind the petitions that did not appear upon their face, as became apparent yesterday when a deputation of fruit growers awaited upon the Supervisors to speak in support of the petitions. The spokesmen were S. W. Conner, connected with the Rural Californian, and Mr. Cronemiller, editor of the Monrovia News, who ran for the Assembly on the Democratic ticket, but got lost in the shuffle.

It speedily became apparent that the petitioners were just as much interested in having W. F. Jeffries fired from his present position as Horticultural Commissioner as in having their nominee appointed in his place. It was contended that inasmuch as Jeffries had removed to Highland Park to live he no longer represents the district, and when that objection fell somewhat flat it was urged that he was not competent, whereas Payne is supposed to shine as a horticultural star of the first magnitude. In one petition filed in his behalf, it is alleged that "he alone reformed the methods of fumigation so successfully" as to make the eradication of insect pests a possibility. There are a few insect pests left, however.

Then, too, it is stated that by his foresight and knowledge of entomology his district was made the breeding place for scutillists, and more were distributed from his district than from all other places combined. It is also credited to Payne that his experiments with sulphur spray brought the process down to an actual working basis, for the extirpation of red spider. The petitioners aver that they have proof in their possession that Payne is the one person that the State University looked to for perfecting this process. Notwithstanding, the red spider is not a dead one, by any means.

There was really nothing before the Board of Supervisors. The petition for the appointment of Payne in the absence of any vacancy on the Horticultural Board was merely a left-handed way of asking the Supervisors to let out one of the commissioners in order to induct into office the petitioners' nominee. The petitioners were informed that so long as the commissioners were doing their duty the Supervisors had no inclination or intention to disturb them.

Then it was that the mutterings regarding "incompetency" were loudest, and as charges must be lodged with the Supervisors in order to force them to take action, such charges are to be brought against the Horticultural Board.

It is hoped and believed by the petitioners that upon an investigation the lightning will strike Jeffries in the interest of Payne, but lightning is after all a very uncertain quantity. Then, too, although the petitioners are numerically quite strong, they are an almost insignificant number of the sum total of fruit growers in the several districts. It follows of necessity that there is another side to the story, and it is promised that it will be forthcoming strictly on time.

McCLURE MUST HANG.

JURY NOT OUT LONG.

The case against John McClure, charged with the murder of Jerry O'Shea, went to the jury yesterday noon in Judge Smith's court. At 2:20 o'clock a verdict was rendered.

The verdict was "guilty," without any recommendation to mercy, thus leaving the court without option other than to pass the death penalty, which will be done next Monday morning. As the verdict was announced the defendant shrunk a little lower in his chair, and that was the only sign of feeling that he displayed.

JOHN McCLURE,
Who Must Die on Scaffold.

In making the defense for McClure, Attorney W. F. McLaughlin had an uphill fight, with little of glory to win and no money, as the defendant was penniless, and the legal service was given gratuitously. But counsel's worst handicap was the introduction of testimony regarding the murder of Zodicoff into the case upon trial wherein the defendant was charged only with the murder of Jerry O'Shea. That McClure did shoot both men was not to be denied, but he was on trial for shooting only the one, and yet incidental references were made by the prosecution throughout the case, which practically put McClure on his defense for both crimes.

The last murderer to be sent to the gallows from this county was old man Motheyer, who, because of his infatuation for a beautiful young girl at Long Beach, killed her on the beach and then attempted to commit suicidt, but made a failure of it. There have been a number of murders since then that probably deserved hanging, but they escaped the capital punishment. A Chinaman escaped by a very narrow margin, however, he was found guilty of the capital charge and would have been hanged had he not appealed his case to the Supreme Court. The august body reversed the decision on what was considered a technicality. Judge Smith's trial jury and hangman, Department One, and from the impaneled the jurors in the Wing guilty. The sentence was that so far as jurisdiction of the several departments of the Superior Court are concerned, associated as are the two counties. When Wong Wing was here Wong Wing didn't want to neck a second time, and the motion was not granted. However, after the verdict the witnesses, after they had scattered to the four winds of heaven, Wong Wing pleaded guilty and was sent to the State's prison for [illegible]

THE DIVORCE SLIP-UP.

NOW THEY ARE HAPPY.

Elmer Nelson appeared before Judge Conrey yesterday asking for a divorce on the ground of his wife's desertion. He married in 1897 and in 1903 his wife took the two children and went on, and at the present time is living at the St. Angelus on Grand avenue.

At first glance Nelson's difficulties did not appear to be different from those of other spouses who seek relief in the divorce courts. He said that he is an electrician and since the separation has allowed his wife $20 a month for the support of the children. The only difficulty between them had been her desire to go to mediums and clairvoyants, and seek to probe the future by blurting out the private affairs of the present.

Attorney Harris was in court in behalf of the wife, but though an answer had been filed in her behalf she had given her attorney the go-by and had never visited him to enable him to contest the divorce proceeding. And finally she failed to make an appearance in court.

Judge Conrey would make no order until Mrs. Lottie Nelson was found. At 2 o'clock she was there with her youngest child. She is a rather good-looking young woman with the dash of red in her locks that indicate an impulsive temperament. Her attorney intimated to the court that both parties having been brought together he thought probably a reconciliation might take place, and the divorce suit be dismissed. Thereupon Mrs. Nelson somewhat shyly moved up a seat next to her husband and while she whispered to him, he played with baby fingers.

The court was adjourned for a few minutes and husband and wife thereupon went into the witness room and adjusted their difficulties in short order. Returning into the courtroom Mrs. Nelson's face looked much brighter than fifteen minutes before, and the husband—well, he merely told his attorney to knock that divorce business on the head as quickly as he could. And Judge Conrey made the required order of dismissal.

MUST PLAN ANEW.

NEW RIVER SCHOOL TANGLE.

What remains of the New River School District does not want to be wiped out of existence, and yet that is what will happen if it remains as at the present time; nor do the patrons of the Los Nietos High School district want the New River people to keep on knocking the High School bonds. A plan has been decided upon which it is believed will work out to the advantage of all concerned.

New River was brought into Los Nietos district in the first instance, contrary to the New River peoples' wishes. Norwalk is the High School district toward which New River has always been inclined, because geographical conditions make Norwalk readily accessible, while the river runs between New River and Downey. But while New River has been carved piecemeal in answer to the popular demand and the recommendation of the County School Superintendent, the limit has now been reached when there are so few scholars remaining that the district must lapse.

A petition was filed and heard by the Supervisors yesterday, asking for a rehearing on the partition proposition, and when the matter is taken up on March 21 it is more than likely that the Supervisors will be asked to rescind their action and put the New River district back again where it was.

COSTLY SEA TRIP.

DURAND'S MINING SUIT.

The second trial of the damage suit of T. J. Durand against the Karma Mining Company, J. Buttgenbach, John and Gus Gerner, Teifair Creighton and others, came to trial yesterday before Judge Noyes, who came down from Riverside to sit in this case.

Durand is a mining man who, in common with the defendants, held a large block of the stock of the Karma Mining Company. He was acting as the superintendent, and came to Los Angeles at periodic intervals. On the particular occasion that figures largely in this suit, he discovered that the defendants had sold out their stock to a Dutch syndicate in San Francisco, and that an assessment of 25 cents per share had been levied on the stock. Durand could not carry the stock under such conditions, and he could get no assistance. He avers that he sought solace in the wine cup and was taken around by certain of the defendants, and finally taken on a yachting trip to Catalina. The spree was kept up for some time, and when Durand regained his senses he found out that he had sold his stock in the Karma Mining Company for much less than it was worth, and that later a deal was carried through by which he lost—through having surrendered his interest—about $150,000.

New Incorporations.

The Asher-Cohn Hat Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000, of which $250 has been subscribed. The directors are A. Asher, Mojave, I. Cohn, M. Cohn, L. Goldwater, and A. Auker, Los Angeles.

The Cooperative Investment and Building Company has incorporated, with a capital stock of $50,000, of which $2500 has been subscribed. The directors are E. L. Bliss, H. W. Charlton, F. A. Gould, J. R. Waller and C. F. Redshaw, all of Los Angeles.

The Henry R. Angelo Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $200,000, of which $5000 has been subscribed. The directors are Henry R. Angelo, W. H. Blumerhassett, B. Westlake, T. P. Osborn and L. W. Moultis, all of Los Angeles.

The Western California Land Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, of which $42,000 has been subscribed. The directors are Dan Murphy, A. G. Wells, E. Chambers, W. E. Hampton, H. F. Vollmer, H. Jackins and W. Rose, all of Los Angeles.

The Huntington Park Baptist Church has incorporated without capital stock. The trustees are E. F. Buhles, P. E. Gifford, G. Hedstrom, F. A. Johnson and J. S. Hadden, all of Huntington Park.

The W. E. Trimble Hothouse Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, of which $5200 has been subscribed. The directors are W. E. Trimble, C. V. Grenamyer, W. C. Trimble, M. C. Grimes, Mrs. W. C. Trimble, all of Los Angeles.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DAMAGE SUIT. J. V. Bartow has begun suit against the Pacific Electric Railway Company to recover $25,000 as damages. The plaintiff was attempting to cross the track of the defendant company on American avenue, Long Beach, on August 5, 1904, when a car ran into the carriage and smashed it. In order to escape the collision the plaintiff jumped from the vehicle and broke a knee-cap and his right leg and suffered other injuries.

SENT TO PATTON. Miss Lucy Woodward, who came from Massachusetts not very long ago, was ordered sent to the State Hospital at Patton by Judge Wilbur yesterday. The young woman is violent and needs close watching. Some friends of her family, who have been wintering here, have looked after Miss Woodward since her breakdown, but are now no longer inclined to assume the burden.

LAWRENCE DIVORCE. Belle G. Lawrence was granted a divorce from J. J. Lawrence by Judge Trask yesterday on the ground of desertion.

HAS DELUSIONS. Mrs. Delia E. Jenison was before the lunacy commission yesterday and was ordered committed to Patton State Hospital by Judge Wilbur. She suffers from the delusion that her brother and sister are in the County Jail and that she is trying to liberate them. Mrs. Jenison has made three attempts at suicide in as many months, and has even attempted to kill her husband and her four-year-old child.

BANDY DIVORCE. George Bandy was granted a divorce from Ada Bandy by Judge Trask yesterday, on the ground of cruelty.

DILLON'S DELUSION. Estell Dillon was brought from Pasadena for examination before the lunacy commission yesterday. He labors under the idea that while at Fresno he had been robbed of over $200, and that there are persons trying to poison him.

HE OWNED UP. Joe Botillier yesterday owned up before Justice Young to having robbed his room-mate, E. Recio, of $37. The two men worked at the Maier packing-house and roomed together. On the night of March 5 Botillier went through his friend's clothes and took the money. He was sentenced to ninety days in the County Jail.

VALUABLE WINDOW. The Whiting Wrecking Company has begun a suit in the township court against the Los Angeles Brewing Company to recover $75, the value of a sheet of glass that was smashed. The Wrecking Company had the work of dismantling the old Downey Block in hand, and when the saloon at the corner of Temple street was being dismantled a large plate glass window was broken by the occupants who were removing such fixtures as belonged to them.

WATTS DIVORCE. Sarah J. Watts was granted a decree of divorce from L. W. Watts by Judge Conrey yesterday, on the ground of desertion. The parties were married at San Diego several years ago. He is a dentist, but was also a sport, and made life so lively for his wife that she was broken down in health. She went to the mountains to recuperate and when she returned she discovered that her husband had sold off everything and was living in his offices. He told her to get out and make her own way, which she did. Then the husband brought suit for divorce, alleging that his wife had been cruel to him in that she had thrown a biscuit at him one morning at the breakfast table. The court did not think the ground sufficient and knocked out the suit. Then Mrs. Watts asked a decree and got it.

CALLS FOR VETO.

Wages Bill, Chamber of Commerce Says, Would Injure Those It Seeks to Help.

The new wages bill passed by the California Legislature, which now rests in the hands of Gov. Pardee awaiting only his signature to make it a law, woke up the Chamber of Commerce on Saturday.

The bill, as passed, fixes the minimum wage for laborers on State and county work at $2 a day, and while it does not name any other class of laborers there can be no question that in a short time such a law would cause every day laborer to demand $2 a day. The result would be the discharge of one-third the laborers in the employ of the city or an annual loss in wages of about $100,000, according to the figures of the Chamber of Commerce. In a private meeting on Saturday that body passed the following resolutions, which close by asking the Governor to veto the bill:

Whereas, a bill raising the minimum rate of wages of unskilled labor in public employment from $1.75 to $2 a day has passed both houses of the Legislature, and now is before the Governor for his consideration; be it

Resolved, that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce deprecates said bill as unjust, unwise and injurious to the interests of the public for the following reasons:

1. Because $2 a day is in excess of the average rate of wage for such labor, both in this State and in other States of the Union.

2. Because it is an unjust discrimination in the matter of wages against skilled labor, in that it tends to place both substantially on the same level.

3. Because at all times it will work injury to unskilled labor at large by inevitably reducing the numbers of unskilled laborers that public authorities can employ within the fixed limit of just appropriation for public service or improvement.

4. That it also will work injustice and hardship to unskilled laborers in times of depression, when the number of unemployed necessarily is great because it will hamper and largely curtail the general dispersion of public funds in general for temporary employment of large numbers of needy workmen.

5. That it will work an injury and hardship to the public at large, because it will tend to prevent the proper maintenance of existing public improvements, and the undertaking and prosecution of many new enterprises essential to public convenience and welfare, and the proper growth and development of our State.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Governor of the State with the respectful but urgent request of this Chamber of Commerce, representing 1500 of the business men of Southern California, that he veto the bill in question.

A telegram was sent to the Governor immediately after the action had been taken and a formal copy of the resolutions was also mailed to him at once.

Winner br. g., 4, Orsini-Princess Prodigal. Trained by W. Gallagher.

Scratched—Orchan, 6½; Panique, 5; Leonado, 5; Montoya, 4.

Handily overhauled Leonado entering back stretch; assumed easy lead passing far end and taken shortest route thereafter, winning with plenty to spare. Young faltered for first entering stretch, but rallied final eighth under sharp urging. Borghesi sharply cut for turn; came around, made up ground fast last eighth under whip, and was wearing down closing strides. Panique off flat-footed; moved up fast on far turn, but weakened slightly final eighth.

SHOO-IN DAY OUT AT ASCOT.

LONG SHOTS TUMBLE IN THICK AND FAST.

Only One Favorite Wins While no Less Than Four Races Are Taken by Nags at Juicy Prices—Sports Drop Money Trying to Make Form Horses Run Right.

It was shoo-in day out at Ascot yesterday and the number of strange and startling outsiders that romped in first was enough to shake the heart of the sport who trembles from experience at the last three weeks of a hoss race meeting. In almost every instance those that won had been in the habit of running near the tail end of their previous races and naturally none of those except the few in the know could figure them as winners.

The first surprise of the day was in Jingler in the first race who ran ninth in his last start and fifth in his three previous races. It is true he was in against a bunch of horses worth about seven cents each and while he was no better than the others he won yesterday for some reason with great ease, the favorite Pruewood running third and Rose of Hilo second.

The second surprise came in the second race in the victory of Orchan who ran next to last in his previous start, third in the one before, second before that one and sixth in the one before that. His price yesterday was 6 to 1 and this time the favorite Ralph Young ran second, bunches of money being played on Ralph Young, Borghesi and Panique, who finished two-three-four.

Then the programme was varied by the victory of the 4-to-5 favorite Lord of the Heath and after him came Mart Gentry in the fourth race at 10 to 1. The rank outsider Kingthorpe was second. El Chihuahua and Lurene, both strongly played, ran fourth and sixth. Cheese Jockey Kelly won easily with Lurene and the last time out, but yesterday he rode the beast in behind the bunch in the stretch and stayed there where he couldn't get out.

The fifth race went to Bronze Wing, with the favorite Potrero Grande second and the last race was taken by the 12-to-1 shot Our Pride, who ran sixth, second, fifth and tenth in his previous starts.

Only Lord of the Heath and Bronze Wing could be figured from the "dope" to win. The others couldn't even be guessed at and naturally the sports lost considerable good money trying to make the right ones get in first.

SOUTH COAST AXE INTERRED.

YACHT CLUB TROUBLES NOW A THING OF THE PAST.

W. C. Baker's New Fishing Boat "Yebis" is Put Over and Given Her Trial Trip—Changes Being Made in the "Michief" for Coming Racing Season—Cups.

At a meeting of leading members of the South Coast Yacht Club held last night much good feeling was manifested, and the opinion seemed general thta the dissensions in the organization had been smoothed over. The membership is now cemented into a compact, businesslike club and the outlook is a thousand per cent. better than a month ago.

Sunday the clubhouse was comfortably filled. A new steward has been secured and good meals are served to the members. Several leading boat owners have offered to put up handsome cups to be raced for this summer, among them William C. Baker of Pasadena, whose new fishing launch, the Yebis, was put over Sunday at Joe Fellows's yards.

The christening of the Yebis was an event, Anita Thomas, the little daughter of Frank J. Thomas, doing the honors in most acceptable and graceful style. The new boat on her trial trip beat the J. C. Elliott, and showed about ten miles an hour speed. She is forty-two feet over all, by ten feet beam, and is driven by a three-cylinder thirty-two horsepower San Francisco Standard gasoline engine; is fitted with electric lights, has crew quarters for two, and the usual cruising accommodations of berth, galley and other comforts. The Yebis cost $5000, and takes her name from the Japanese god of fishing. She carries a single mast umidships with a yard on it, which gives her a rakish, torpedo-boat look. Owner Baker expects t cross the Catalina channel in her Saturday on a fishing excursion. He is a wealthy Rhode Islander who spends his winters in Southern California.

Messrs. Birk & Folsom, owners of Mischief, have been making extensive alterations in her which are expected to prove highly successful in the matter of speed. They have taken out her scrap-iron inside ballast and expect to run in 1200 pounds molded lead on her keel. This should enable her to stand up under a greater sail plan, and new suits are being made for the racing season.

MINORS MAY MAKE FIGHT.

TROUBLE BREWING IN WORLD OF ORGANIZED BALL.

Pacific Coast League Invited to Join With Easterners in Combine for Mutual Protection—Toman Reports—Smith and Eager Are Expected to Appear Today.

Manager Morley hurried away to the north yesterday on urgent baseball business. The Class A minors at last, chafing under the misrule of the majors by the National agreement, have decided to band themselves together for mutual protection, and the Pacific Coast League has been asked to affiliate.

This being a matter slightly beyond President Bert's jurisdiction, a special session of the magnates was called for this afternoon in San Francisco. As the action taken by the meeting may have some bearing on the Newton-Chase controversy, fans will doubtless be interested in the outcome. Newton is in the South now training with the New York Club, but Chase has decided to stay here until his case is settled finally. The burly southpaw pitcher is probably lost, but there is some chance to hang onto Chase so long as he remains "on the spot" and does not care to go away. The eastern minor leagues are thoroughly sore over being as they term, "short changed" in the drafting matter, and some of the more bellicose are inclined to make a fight which would mean another disruption of "organized" baseball—"organized" to give the small fry the tarry end of the big stick.

Jimmy Toman arrived yesterday afternoon too late for practice, but feeling well and fully looking the part. Toman expects to be in better shape this summer; he has had a long rest and a complete change of climate as well as of surroundings. A ballplayer sometimes becomes a little "stale"; it would be nothing surprising if Toman's long and faithful service had told upon him a little toward the end of last season. He will put on a glove with the team at 10 o'clock this morning for the first time this year.

Jimmy has come into valuable holdings in Philadelphia since the death of his father and is now a man of means and interests.

Dr. Jud Smith, the long-legged tooth carpenter who strides around third base during the hot months, expects to return from Murrietta Hot Springs this morning. Bobby Eager, the busher catcher, is also due to come in from the North.

Dolly Gray and Charlie Baum have not signed 1905 contracts with Morley as yet and both are quoted as saying they will not unless more "cush" is forthcoming. On the other hand Manager Morley declares he has doubled their salaries for this year and feels that is doing quite well enough by them. Gray has been wintering in Riverside.

Del Mason the pitcher is still in town, having made no arangements to go East. He may yet be added to the Looloo box corps if the recalcitrant busher brethren continue to hold off.

Both these men are on Morley's list and must play here or get out of baseball unless the National Association proves to be only a dead letter. It is thought they will come around all right when the time to play arrives.

HIGH SCHOOL NO WALKOVER.

METHODISTS' JUNKET TO THE NORTH POSTPONED.

Death of Mrs. Stanford Stops Proposed Field Meet of Next Saturday, and in Its Place is Substituted Games With Team of Los Angeles High School.

Out of respect to the memory of the late Mrs. Stanford, U. S. Cs'. track team will not make its expected northern trip this week. The date of meeting with Stanford's strong men has been indefinitely postponed by this sad event, and to round out next Saturday afternoon, Prof. Harvey Holmes has decided to put his pupils against the Los Angeles High School lads.

Some time ago, the U. S. C. coach promised the "kids" a whack at his track team. Ever since, he has been wishing he hadn't.

Los Angeles High has probably more really good athletes than any of the local colleges. Though the performers are mostly young, and hardly seasoned timber, the some restriction holds with the collegians as well.

Professor Holmes yesterday sat down with his pencil and pad, and figured up the prospects. When the points had been totalled,, he nearly fell over, for the score figured fifty-seven to fifty-six in case U. S. C. took the relay. "Too close to be comfortable" was the official verdict, but the match had been made and Holmes never learned how to "crawfish" gracefully.

He did the next best thing, however, and that was to put his men through their paces as if they were to meet Harvard or Yale instead of a bunch of academic "kids" who are somewhat ahead of their class in ability.

Hussey of High School runs the quarter mile in fifty-four now, and had a record of fifty-two a year ago, which Holmes concedes is good for the event against any of his.

Grover Youngs in the mile is a dangerous competitor if he will run, but the half is probably his game. He did that distance in 2.11 a week ago Friday; a gait that bids fair to hold any of U. S. C's. men.

Billy Andrews in the weights is decidedly superior to any of the U. S. C. team. He recently put the light shot within two inches of forty-four feet. The hammer he hurls about 125 feet, and that in all probability will win for him if he can keep his double turn in the ring.

Horace Donnell and Donald Goodwin betweeen them are sure of second places to Parsons in the dashes which are admitted by his meat. Donnell is a 10 2-5 man when in shape. Goodwin is likely to take a second place in the half-mile, and has run a quarter in fifty-four.

Youngs in the high jump has cleared five feet six, which looks hard to beat at U. S. C. Donnell can broad jump twenty feet, and another man is not far behind. Holmes concedes both jumps to the academicians. He looks for the relay races, last of the events, to decide the meet.

In case Youngs does not run the mile, which seems likely, Ross Holmes will go in for the long grind. He is about a five-minute man, and will have a High School graduate to go up against in Curl, a lad who used to create no end of merriment in the distance events by his heart-failure finishes, but whose determination indicates that he will some day laugh last and best. Curl is quite an example of what a young man can do if he sets a mark and hews to the line.

Comstock, U. S. Cs'. pole vaulter is out of commission with a sprained ankle and the High Scholars seem likely to land a first in the big stick event also.

Holmes figures High School's points as three each in the 100, 220, and 220 hurdles; five each in the mile, 120 hurdles, both jumps, shot, hammer and vault. No two mile is to be run. In the half mile he concedes a clean sweep. Still there is a lingering suspicion that when the big count-up comes, U. S. C. will "kick in" with somewhere around sixty or sixty-five points.

The meet is to begin at Methodist Field promptly at 2 o'clock and no delays will be allowed. Athletes not on hand will be disqualified and their events run off without awaiting their pleasure. It is hoped to finish not later than five o'clock.

Professor Holmes has sent out the last of the entrance blanks for the big high school meet of April 29, and has received most flattering promises of support.

Occidental and Pomona are to meet next Saturday at Pomona Oval, and the following gentlemen will officiate: Referee, A. C. Braden, Throop; starter, K. V. Hamilton, Harvard; clerk of course, R. J. Reed; judges, Dr. Sumner, Messrs. Walker and Lewis. Warren Eberle will announce and Thomas Giffen will act as marshal. Theodore Cadwalader, R. W. Wadsley and Prof. Smith will time.

Hempel expects to see some better records made than on Occidental's last appearance.

FOURTEEN BLOODY ROUNDS.
IN A HARLEM LOFT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Kid Griffo" and Patsy Sweeney, two well-known, local sluggers, fought fourteen bloody rounds in a loft in Harlem this afternoon, under the very noses of the police. Griffo was declared the winner on a foul, after the most brutal exhibition ever seen in this city.

The men fought like tigers, and beat each other to a pulp. Griffo was more scientific, while Sweeney waded in with wild swings. Both were covered with blood when they came up for the fourteenth round. Griffo's nose was mashed, and one ear hung by a thread. Sweney's lips were both split and his eyes nearly closed. He swung wildly as the men clashed, and Griffo fell in agony from a blow below the belt. Sweeney was disqualified.

The fight was for $100 and the gate receipts.

WESTERN JOCKEY CLUB WAR.
ON THE TURF ASSOCIATION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Open war on the American Turf Association was declared by the stewards of the Western Jockey Club today. No action was taken looking to a revision of the racing schedule, but no opportunity was overlooked to take a slap at the Corrigan forces. One illustration of this is found in the fact that Fred Foster, James Gray & Co. and Jockey Charles Gray were reinstated on evidence that did not include a recommendation for pardon from Francis Trevelyan, the presiding judge at Hawthorne last summer, who is now occupying a similar postion at the City Park track, New Orleans.

The retributive measures of the stewards extended to horses, owners, trainers, jockeys and valets, who have been participating in the "unrecognized" meeting at New Orleans. The board took no action regarding either horses or owners.

BAD CHECKS CAUSED TROUBLE.

Elmer Emery and J. R. Dunbar, the two men who played the races at Ascot Park unwisely and then resorted to bad checks in order to raise money, were arraigned in the Police Court yesterday. Their examinations are set for next Monday. Failing to give bail, the men were returned to jail.

ADMITTED TO PRACTICE.

Arnold R. Folsom of this city was yesterday admitted to practice in the United States courts, on motion of Will D. Gould.

PAY WHEN CURED

This is for the man who has spent hundreds of dollars trying to remove the burden that is taking all the pleasure out of his life—the weakening drain upon his vitality which is destroying his strength. I can cure you, and if you will secure me for my money when you are well, you need not pay a cent until cured.

I don't want money that I don't earn. I don't need it, and I am not after it. But I am after the dollars that are now going wrong in the quest for health. Look at all these poor wrecks of humanity that are spending all they earn on drugs—dope that is paralyzing their vital organs—they have spent all they have earned for years without gaining a pound of strength for the hundreds of dollars wasted.

That is the money I am after, because for every dollar I take I can give a thousand per cent. interest, and I don't want it at all until I have cured you if you will secure me. I have cured so many cases right here that I can prove my claims to you.

Just lately I have received works of praise from these men:

Al. Powell, a former prominent mining man of Searchlight, Nev., now living on Eastlake ave., Los Angeles, says: He was cured of a back trouble of 12 years' standing.

G. W. Beers, of Long Beach, an old man of 75, who feels like a young buster of 20 since he has been using my belt.

Owen Orr, of Ocean Park, Cal., who says I cured him of Nervousness and Lumbago from which he had suffered for 15 years.

N. W. Graw, Santa Barbara Country Club, says Belt did all I claim for it in Weakness and Lost Vitality.

E. J. Hewett, of Soledad, Cal. Cured of Varicocele 4 years' standing.

Ex-Councilman Geo. McNeil, 1115 "O" st., San Diego, who recommends the Belt to his friends for Rheumatism in the hip and back.

E. W. Simons, of Inglewood, Cal., claims he was benefited by the Belt in four days in his case of Rheumatism, and in 20 days cured.

C. B. Johnson, the contractor, of Long Beach, Cal., residing 323 E. First st., claims untold benefits after use of Belt in a severe case of Rheumatism.

Wherever you are I think I can give you the name of a man in your town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of pumping new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've got cures in nearly every town on the map.

Come and see me if you can and I'll fix you up and you can pay me afterwards, or, if you can't call, write to me and I'll do the same. I've got a nice book on man that I'll send sealed free. IF YOU INCLOSE THIS AD.

A TIMELY PROTEST.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its directors, has lodged a timely protest with Gov. Pardee against the bill which recently passed both houses of the Legislature, providing that the minimum wage on all public work shall be raised from $2 per day, the present rate, to $3 per day. It is claimed that this measure will not apply "at present," to the cities, but only to public work outside of cities. This is doubtful; and even if the Legislature intended such restricted application, it could not long be maintained, for the inequality which it would impose as between laborers in the country and in the city would be so great that it would soon be broken down.

But it does not specially matter whether the law was intended to be special or general in its application. Its enactment by the Legislature was a mistake, for reasons which will appear later on in this article. The Times desires to state that it believes in good wages for men who toil. It exemplifies this belief by paying better wages to its employés than any other paper in the city pays. Therefore, no one can truthfully impugn the motives of The Times for opposing the law referred to, and regarding it as an uncalled for and vastly mischievous piece of legislation, which the Governor, as the guardian of the public interests, ought to veto without hesitation.

The measure is mischievous and wrong for numerous reasons, among which are the following:

(1.) Only a certain proportion of the money taken from the people by taxation can be devoted to public work, whether in city or in country.

(2.) The money so taken should be made to go as far as possible, in reason, and to meet the needs of as many workmen as possible.

(3.) There are large numbers of unskilled workmen seeking employment at $2 per day, which is good wages for unskilled labor, as compared to skilled labor; for the learning of a trade or profession requires years of intelligent application, while unskilled labor requires nothing of the sort.

(4.) This act, if it should become operative, through the Governor's signature, would result in the employment of only two men in public work where three are now employed. It would thus throw out of employment one out of every three men so employed, and this would be a positive injury to unskilled workingmen all over the State. The fact that the two men employed would receive the same amount of pay as is now received by the three would not result in benefit to the great body of workmen.

(5.) The total amount of public work would necessarily be reduced by about one-third, through the withdrawal of one workmen out of every three, although the cost to the public would be the same.

(6.) So arbitrary an unsettling of the labor market would disturb the equilibrium of wages throughout the State, and would doubtless lead to endless complications.

(7.) Many new enterprises would be abandoned because of the extra labor cost, and all kinds of labor would suffer in consequence.

(8.) The present minimum rate of $2 a day is a fair price for unskilled labor outside the public service. An advance of 50 per cent would bring an army of applicants for positions, who would resort to every political pull possible to secure places. Instead, therefore, of eliminating it would increase the political element and consequently the tendency to corruption in the public service.

There are numerous other reasons why the Governor ought to veto this piece of bad legislation, which was passed for demagogic reasons, and which, if allowed to become a law, will work great injury to labor in general, and to unskilled labor in particular. By vetoing this measure the Governor will gain at least two friends for every one he will lose because of such action.

The dispatches state that considerable trouble was caused off the northern coast last week by the bumping of two schooners, but it is not stated what beverage was in use—whether it was steam beer or common, everyday lager.

Perhaps the fact that the President has a soft place in his heart for St. Patrick's Day parades is accounted for by that warm strain of blood that came down to him from his mother's side of the house.

FOOD ADULTERATIONS.

A recent dispatch from St. Paul, Minn., stated that sixty-two samples of food that was supposed to be pure were found by the Dairy and Food Commission of Minnesota to contain all kinds of adulterations, ranging "from harmless wheat flour in chocolate to deadly fusel oil in whisky, and even more deadly acetic acid in vinegar."

The failure of the United States Senate to pass the pure-food bill which was before it during the entire session just closed (and which has been before that body in one form or another for years,) was hardly less than criminal. It demonstrated that the special interests which profit by poisoning the American people have greater influence before Congress—or at least before the Senate—than the people for whose protection pure-food legislation is imperatively demanded. This revelation is at once humiliating and exasperating to the people, to serve whose interests Senators are elected.

A national pure food bill would greatly assist the governments of the several States in preventing adulterations of foods and drinks, by preventing, in a large measure, the interstate traffic in adulterated products. If these products were not allowed to be transported across State boundaries, each State would be far better able than now to restrict or prevent the sale of adulterated food products. The need for national legislation on this subject is so pressing and so obvious that unless action be taken by the Senate at the next session, the people will raise a protest, from one end of the land to the other, that will compel the recreant legislators, in very shame, to respect the public wishes.

The authorities in Minnesota are about to try a new experiment in the method of dealing with this evil. The St. Paul dispatch above referred to says:

"Instead of starting prosecutions immediately against all those who have violated the pure-food laws, the present administration intends to depart from the old customs, and institute what they think will be a much more effective method of stopping manufacturers from manufacturing and jobbers from sending out to the dealers adulterated products. In the past, prosecutions have been conducted with as much secrecy as possible and the dealer or jobber sentenced to a fine; but as the dealer, and sometimes the jobber, knows absolutely nothing about the composition of the article he is selling, he is innocent of intended wrong, and the manufacturer, who is really the guilty party, escapes all punishment.

"E. K. Slater, the Dairy and Food Commissioner, and his assistants, expect to rely on publicity instead of fines to enforce the law, and will not prosecute unless they are almost certain of securing a conviction and will then give the case as full an airing in the newspapers as possible, so that not only the dealer who sold the goods, but the manufacturer and his entire line will receive a rather unsavory reputation."

This plan of publicity has an appearance of feasibility, and will, no doubt, go far toward accomplishing the results hoped for, if carried out in good faith. The publication of the name of a manufacturer of or dealer in an adulterated article, with a list of the ingredients found in the article, will not be calculated to promote the popularity of such article. If it were possible to hang or behead some of the worst offenders in this regard, as might be done in China, for example, the playful practice of poisoning food products would unquestionably receive at least a partial check. It must be confessed that the lowly Chink knows how to do some things better than we.

The most popular adulterant in the samples examined by the Minnesota authorities, was coal tar, which was found to have been used eighteen times as a dye for raspberry jam, vanilla extract, chili sauce, catsup, ice cream powder and jellies of various kinds. "Maple syrup samples were found to be adulterated seven times, generally with commercial glucose, which enters largely into the composition of the jams and jellies examined by the department. One of the ingenious articles discovered by the chemist was labeled mustard, but on examination proved to be almost entirely a poor grade of cornmeal with turmeric mixed in to give it a good flavor. Five samples of vinegar examined by the department contained the following percentages of acetic acid: 4.14, 4.12, 4.31, 4.29, 4.39, and whisky was given that fine, mellow taste with dashes of fusel oil to the extent of 53 per cent., 24 per cent., 46 per cent., 56 per cent., and 55 per cent."

It is evident that food adulterations will never be prevented until we have stricter laws, carrying severer penalties. The penitentiary is really too good for the man who surreptitiously introduces insidious poisons into articles intended for consumption. With severer laws, more thorough punishments, and greater publicity, the evil can be reduced to a minimum or crushed out altogether. But a national pure food law is an absolutely essential prerequisite to the attainment of this result.

FOR THE GRAY BEARDS.

A certain sage of the East has declared that at the age of 40 a man's usefulness begins to decline, while at the age of 60 he is only fit, from the utilitarian point of view, to be chloroformed. This extraordinary doctrine comes from the American East, not from the Far East. Its propounder is no Buddhist mahatma or Confucian philosopher; only a plain professor of the Johns Hopkins University. But if this sort of dreamy and befogged theorizing by our American university teachers goes on much longer, we shall cease to seek for strange creeds in the oriental cradles of civilization. Attention will be confined exclusively to our own modern nurseries of learning at Baltimore, Chicago and other places that could be named, where in each case "the faculty" seems determined every now and again to seek notoriety by astonishing the world.

We have called the doctrine "theorising," and it is theorizing of the most vicious kind from the strictly logical standpoint. Because some men are past their prime at 40 and both physically and mentally decrepit at 60, there is no ground whatever for the inductive leap that makes the partial proposition a general one. Indeed, if there is to be any reasoning from individuals to humanity as a whole, the balance of evidence is on the other side. There is not a civilized nation today but can point to its graybeards as among its most assiduous, energetic and brilliantly successful workers along every line of human progress, moral, intellectual and material. We have the authority of Mr. Gladstone, looking back as an octogenarian along the vista of a ceaselessly active life, and with unique experience of the world's master minds who were his contemporaries, that men as a rule do not attain maturity until the age of 45, so that their full usefulness lies in the years that follow. And most of us will prefer to sit at the feet of this universally admitted "grand old man," than accept the dictum of a university professor who, learned physician though he be, enjoys only a comparatively restricted horizon of observation.

But there can be no generalization, for in this, as in all things that touch the individual character, each man is a law unto himself. A man, whether by his acts or through his hereditary endowments, makes his own age. He may be old at 30, or young at 70. Physically, mentally, morally—from all three viewpoints the judgment is precisely the same. If relative usefulness is the question to be decided, the man and not his years must be the standard of measurement. The stalwart veteran, straight as a lance at 70, is younger than the diseased and vitality-sapped youth not yet out of his teens. The man who has proved his staying mental powers, and is intellectually vigorous in mellowing age, is younger than the nerve-shattered wreck of half his years. If the moral constitution be sound, each day's experiences bring their own lessons, softening the vicious, strengthening the virtuous traits of character, refining out the dross from the pure gold; so that one good old man with staff in hand to aid his tottering footsteps, is worth infinitely more to his fellow-beings than a whole prison full of reprobates, even though their muscles be hard as iron and their crime-perverted brains keen as a razor edge. No; professors or census enumerators may classify the world's workers according to the dates borne upon their certificates of birth. But the working world itself will still hold to the old criterion of individual worth—of individual fitness for the task to be performed without drawing any color line against gray hairs.

A San Francisco steamship company recently received the following letter from a miner in Alaska: "Dear Sir: I am at the head of a party of Alaska Miners and are planning a trip around the World. we have Bin in this cuntry 9 year, and Just made oure fortun the Last 2 year. So now We are going to in goy Life. We Dont know if to go to New York ore to San francisco. We in tend to Be gone 2 year and Would Like some Knowledge of our trip. there is 6 men in Our party We Done care What it Cost We have a Barl of Money and Know whare to get more. please Write full information." After a nine year's exile in the wilderness it will certainly be worth while to follow the movements of that crowd in its journey around the world with "a barrel of money."

The discussion of Dr. Osler's proposition to chloroform every man over 60 years of age, recalls Longfellow's poem on the achievements of old men:

"Cato learned Greek at eighty; Sophocles
Wrote his grand Oedipus, and Simonides
Bore off the prize of verse from his competers
When each had numbered more than four-score years.
And Theophrastus, at four-score and ten,
Had but begun his characters of men;
Chaucer, at Woodstock, with the nightingales,
At sixty wrote the Canterbury Tales;
Goethe at Weimar, toiling to the last,
Completed 'Faust' when eighty years were past."

Dead faces upturned to the solemn night, the gory corpse rotting in the sun, the moan of the wounded on the red field of blood, son, father and brother dead in the trenches—such is the scene at Mukden at this fateful hour. And still there are those who will say that war is not only necessary, but glorious, as well.

It is becoming constantly more difficult to ascertain whether John Alexander Dowie's real aim in life is to succeed as a prophet or as a financier. But it is also the common belief that money and religion will not mix any better now than in the days when the money lenders were kicked out of the temple in Jerusalem.

As though we had not trouble enough with the fight against the Standard Oil Company on our hands, along comes Santo Domingo with a threat to attack us with both her land and sea forces, which the same consists of sixteen soldiers with seatless trousers and a canal boat.

In case of war with Santo Domingo, the State of California stands ready to furnish her quota of troops by sending Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson to the front immediately. And, in the event of a second requisition, we shall still have Sam McVey in reserve.

Most of the towns in Manchuria are given one name by the Russians and another by the Japs. But whenever there is a meeting of the belligerents in any of those places there seems to be a unanimous agreement as to what should be done with the shooting irons.

A captured spirit at a Spiritualistic seance in New York weighed 300 pounds avoirdupois, thus knocking into a cocked hat the old-time theory that a ghost consisted entirely of "thin air."

It has now been discovered that radium is a cure for snake bite, but the old, reliable remedy which fishermen invariably carry with them in bottles will not readily be abandoned.

There is still another tale of slaughter and death awaiting the ears of the world from Mukden, and it bids fair to outdo every other tale of horror that has yet been told.

Prof. Kirchway of Columbia law school says that "justice has taken the place of religion." But if it had not been for religion we never would have had justice.

In going to Texas to hunt bears the President may be getting himself into the proper trim to hunt the octopus, later on.

OCEAN ROLLERS.

My brothers of the open sea, ride on,
Forever ride, and fling your rapture to the mighty wind;
So curve, so swiftly curve, yourselves, in bright abandon casting
Into the gulfs below, to rise,
Yet rise, to take the slopes,
To rule the surface of the storm,
And fly your white magnificent
At the horizon line.

My brothers of the open sea, perhaps I too shall ride,
Forever ride, in other worlds than this;
Shall mount, shall cast myself
Down to the depths without one fear,
Exultant, swift, and free!
For even now, my heart fares forth,
Against the wind it sings,
And unrebuked, hopes on.

I ASK NOT THE WAY.

I ask not the way
In the dark or the day.
If Love at my calling shall heed me;
Though thorns may be mine,
Still the bright stars will shine,
And Love to the lilies shall lead me.

The sorrows—the sighs,
And the rain o' the eyes
Shall dim the fair future, oh, never!
The black storms will cease,
And my heart shall find peace
With Love and the lilies forever!

TOMORROW.

Today was tomorrow yesterday;
Tonight tomorrow will pass away;
But when, tomorrow, tomorrow is gone
Another tomorrow will wait to dawn,
And the glow of tomorrow, tomorrow shall spread
O'er the new tomorrow that lies ahead.

Joy is forever beyond somewhere;
Tomorrow is hope and today is care;
The glow of glory spreads out before,
For the glory we grasp is glory no more;
Tomorrow tomorrow's joy will be dead,
But a new tomorrow will gleam ahead.

BE TRUE.

"Be true," said the rose to June.
"Ay, ay," June swore,
And sailed away with her sun and moon
To another shore.

"Be true," said the bee to the flower.
"Ay, ay," she said.
And waited for him long hour by hour
Till she was dead.

"Be true," said the bee to the sun.
Said the sun, "I will."
But the sands in his glass ceased not to run,
Nor stood he still.

Nor is it false nor strange,
The web fate spun
For the bee and the flower, in a world where change
And life are one.

ACROSS THE WIDE SEAS.

One of the first practical results of the Anglo-French treaty, which removed all causes of quarrel between the two countries in no fewer than seven different quarters of the globe, promises to be the neutralization of Abyssinia under international guarantee and the opening up of the trade of Ethiopia on equal terms to all nations. For twenty years past Abyssinia has been a potential cause of European strife. Both France and Russia have sent several "peaceful" missions there, endeavoring to secure special political privileges; for Abyssinia is on the flank of Egypt, and at more than one critical juncture British operations on the Nile might have been blocked by an inroad of King Menelik's well-tried and redoubtable warriors.

AN ASTUTE EMPEROR.

But the Ethiopian Emperor has proved himself to be one of the most dignified and astute monarchs of modern times. He has steered his ship of state successfully through all the perilous shoals of international rivalry. He has never shown himself too pro-British to provoke hostility elsewhere, but he has at the same time preserved a strictly friendly relationship toward England. Now at last he is likely to secure the full fruits of his able diplomacy. There is already a line of railway, opened a year or two ago, from the port of Jibouti, in French territory to Harrar, within the Abyssinian border. This line has been built under French government guarantee, but really with British capital, and it has now passed amicably into joint Anglo-French control. Another line is projected from the port of Berbera in British territory, joining the French line at Harrar. The two lines will then unite, and proceed to Addis Adeba, the capital of Emperor Menelik's domains, and right in the heart of the country. The whole system of railways will be under the management of the International Ethiopian Railway Trust and Construction Company, Limited, the board of which has representatives of the different nations interested in the trade of Ethiopia, whereby will be ensured the "square deal all round."

A VICTORY OF PEACE.

This joining of commercial forces, in place of the old policy of international jealousy, stealing of marches, checking and circumventing, bodes well for the future of Abyssinia, and also for the volume of trade that will flow from interior to coast and from coast to interior. Hitherto that volume has been severely restricted, not only because of the want of railway facilities, but because of the dread entertained by King Menelik to trade much with any one nation, lest by so doing the hostility of other nations should be aroused and interference with his country perhaps provoked. He has had his own wars, notably with Italy, from whom he wrested recognition of his independence in 1896. But he is essentially a man of peace, and, although vested with despotic powers, has proved himself in the eyes of all the world to be an able, enlightened, and benevolent ruler. The United States has sent its own commercial mission to Abyssinia, and has a treaty with Menelik, so that we are in the position to participate in the development of his country under this new and promising international régime.

ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR DAMASCUS.

Hitherto the Sultan of Turkey appears to have taken the view that the introduction of electricity into his dominions would be too much of a shock for his shattered nerves. There is electricity at Constantinople, all right—plenty of it, in the air, in political life, in the chaos of misgovernment. But commercial electricity, as the rest of the world uses it, is banned. There are no electric lights, no telephones, no electric street cars. However, it appears that we are now to have the entering wedge at last, not in the capital of the Ottoman empire, it is true, but in outlying Damascus, where the rule of the Sultan still prevails. This, the oldest surviving city in history, is to be lighted by electricity. "The paradise of the earth," "the pearl of the Orient," "the eye of the desert," as the ancient capital of Syria is variously designated in the high-flown poetical language of the East, will henceforth glow with incandescent globes, and hum with the soft murmur of the dynamo. There are to be electric railways, too, although it is difficult to understand how the city's narrow, tortuous and crowded streets will accommodate them. So the wonders of the Arabian Nights tales will pale before the wonders of modern electrical science. To the benighted people of Damascus, at all events, the new miracles of gliding horseless trolley cars and oilless lamps lighted by a touch of the button will far surpass the magical accomplishment of their legendary genii.

POPULATION OF BERLIN.

"Greater Berlin" is a name that may conveniently be employed to cover the city of Berlin proper, together with the twenty-two suburban towns and cities that form its outer fringe, and are really a part of the metropolis, although enjoying separate municipal existence. Its population, by the census of December 1, 1904, is now shown to be 2,424,068. The notable point in the increase of 321,059 recorded in four years is that most of the growth has been in the suburbs, rather than in the city proper. This is due, firstly, to the fact that taxation and land values are lower in the outlying towns, so that living is appreciably cheaper; and, secondly, to the phenomenal development of the electric street-railway system, which is now one of the most extensive, complete, and effective institutions of its kind in the world. At the present rate of increase it is reckoned that Berlin's population will reach the 3,000,000 milestone in the year 1906.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

Capt. Conway H. Arnold, Jr., of the Artillery Corps, has been detailed for recruiting service at Denver, Colo.

Brig.-Gen. Charles C. Hood, retired, has been detailed as professor of military science at Girard College, Philadelphia.

Capt. Jacques De L. Lafitte has been relieved of duty as quartermaster on the transport Logan. He will be succeeded by Capt. Wendell L. Simpson, Sixth Infantry.

Capt. F. J. Drake has been detached from duty as ordnance officer at Mare Island and made captain of the yard. Commander E. B. Underwood succeeds him as ordnance officer.

Rear-Admiral Charles E. Clark, the man who commanded the Oregon on her famous voyage around the Horn, was recently honored with the degree of doctor of laws by the University of Pennsylvania.

It is understood that Brig.-Gen. Frederick Funston, now in command of the Department of the Lakes, will succeed Brig.-Gen. Francis Moore, in command of the Department of California, on the latter's retirement next month.

Rear-Admiral Coghlan has sent Midshipman Milton W. Arronwood, the young officer under arrest for desertion, to the naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba. There he will be turned over to Rear-Admiral Barker "for such action as he deems proper."

Commander J. F. Parker will assume command of the cruiser Prairie on Monday next, relieving Capt. Albion V. Wadhams, who is placed on waiting orders. There are few officers in the navy better known in California than Capt. Wadhams. He has seen considerable service at Mare Island and at different times has been attached to various vessels on the Pacific station.

MASON OPERAHOUSE. Shakespeare's delightful comedy, "The Winter's Tale," was presented at the Mason last evening, for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd. The celebrated tragedienne, Madame Helena Modjeska, lent her valued services, in the role of Hermione, in aid of the noble charity. It is gratifying to note that the house was one of the largest of the season, and that the net receipts were in the close neighborhood of $3000. The cast of characters was as follows:

Leontes, King of Sicilia.....Garnet Holme
Mamillius, young Prince of Sicilia.....
.....Master Russell Griffin
Camillo, Lord of Sicilia.....Max Percy
Antigonus, Lord of Sicilia.....Ernest C. Potter
Cleomenes, Lord of Sicilia.....Adolph Francke
Dion, Lord of Sicilia.....W. La Rue Evans
First Lord of Sicilia.....Edward Dexter
Polixenes, King of Bohemia.....George S. Pyers
Florizel, Prince of Bohemia.....Max Dill
Old Shepherd, reputed father of Perdita.....
.....Paul McIlvaine
Clown, his son.....Matthew Peabody
Autolycus, a rogue.....Master Russell Griffin
A Mariner.....Henry Fountaine
A Gaoler.....A. F. Polk
Perdita, daughter to Leontes and Hermione.....
.....Miss Mary Mannering
Paulina, wife of Antigonus.....Miss Jane Butt
Emilia, a lady attending on Hermione.....
.....Miss Myra Brooks
First Attendant.....Miss Helen Bancroft
Second Attendant.....Miss L. M. Bancroft
Mopsa, Shepherdess.....Mrs. Lucy Rushton
Dorcas, Shepherdess.....Miss Mary V. Chase
HERMIONE, Queen to Leontes.....
.....MADAME HELENA MODJESKA
Other Lords and Gentlemen, Ladies, Officers and Servants, Shepherds and Shepherdesses.

Miss Jane Butt and Mr. Garnet Holme are of the faculty of the Curnock School of Expression, and the remainder of the cast is composed of members of the Curnock Dramatic Club, the entire production being under the direction of Mr. Holme, and the costumes by W. C. Stone.

It is needless to say that in the role of Hermoine Madame Modjeska's gracious art fulfills all expectations. Although this character is not in her professional repertoire, the ease and womanliness, the gentleness and dignity with which it is her wont to invest her stage creations, are evident throughout this portrayal. At the close of the first scene of the third act, responding to an imperious encore, Madame Modjeska made a delightful little "speech"—as is becoming a custom nowadays—thanking the audience for its generous response to the call for aid in support of a most worthy charity. The Madame's remarks were responded to by the audience with such a tumult of applause as must perforce rejoice the heart of any artist.

Miss Jane Butt, in the character of Paulina, won much merited applause for an intelligent and effective rendition of the role, so far removed from amateurishness as to be distinctly noticeable. Mr. Holme can hardly be said to have made a complete success of the role of Leontes. Though falling short of adequacy, his interpretation had many commendable features.

Miss May Smith, as Perdita, shows decided aptitude for dramatic expression.

The lack of experienced professionals was painfully apparent, as a matter of course, in the stiff, machine-like, unreal progress of the performance. To Mr. Holme's good management is probably to be credited the fact that, unlike most performances of this kind, there were no tedious waits between acts and scenes.

It would be unfair to criticise the several performers from a professional point of view. Regarding them as amateurs in a state of evolution, it is but just to say that they gave a very acceptable performance, on the whole. To go into detail, or to enter upon an analysis of the several character protrayals, would be uncharitable; and as this was a performance for the sake of sweet charity, no more need be said, except that it was a magnificent and unqualified success.

BELASCO. "The Climbers," an interesting play from Clyde Fitch's practiced hand, is the offering of the Belasco players this week. "The Climbers," of course, is intensely modern in its plot and in its complications; but the crucial question that arises is not settled, for the simple reason that Dick Sterling evades it by suicide.

There is much opportunity for good acting in "The Climbers," but it cannot be said that the Belasco company rises to the emergency in all cases. The most that can be admitted is that they do well "in spots." There are occasions when Mr. Oberle as Dick Sterling is very good indeed, notably in the two last acts, where his facial expression is wonderful. Mr. Galbraith as Ned Warden, Dick's friend, is pleasant and manly. Miss Gardner as Blanche Sterling is the Miss Gardner that we have learned to look for—sweet, feminine, and strong and emotional in the right mixes. Mr. Vivian made an amusing and very taking "Mr. Trotter."

Scene of the scenery in "The Climbers" is beautiful. The realistic snow scene in the third act was an especially fine bit of scenic work.

ORPHEUM. There are four performances worth seeing at the Orpheum this week: "Bob" Cole and Rosamund Johnson, in their daintily artistic musico-dramatic act; Bert Howard and Leona Bland, in a foolish absurdity known as "A Strange Boy;" Delmore and Lee, sensational athletes, and Hayes and Healy—literally the "long and short of it."

Cole and Johnson are still the best feature of the programme. They are rightly called "America's foremost colored composers and entertainers," for besides the unique merits of their own music, they surround a common song and dance number with so great a refinement of actual intellect and broadness of art that their interpretations linger long in memory.

Bert Howard is more kinds of a fool in five minutes than the average good clown in a full half hour. That's the winning quality of his act—pure foolishness, killing comment on unimportant incident, constant and ridiculous burlesque of sobriety. But 1 per cent of all the men who try to be funny are ever anything more than tragic; Howard belongs to the small decimal.

Hayes and Healy have been here before. The tall member is a wonder as a high kicker, and is a fair all-around athlete; the short one—so unbelievably abbreviated that his pudgy baby legs and body raise a laugh on sight—drives melancholy away with his personality.

Delmore and Lee do a bar-ladder gymnastic act with calcium effects, whirlwind somersaults, dizzy rotations and a thrilling finale.

For the rest, there are Paulton and Dooley, holdover bicyclists; Ford and Wilson, tiresome "comedians;" motion pictures, and a young woman known as Josephine Sabel, full of astounding self-assurance—which takes with the gallery.

BURBANK. "The Two Orphans" is a study in melodramatics that is a masterpiece of its kind. There is no semblance to humanity in it, there is not a trace of artistic construction, but as a simple appeal to primeval emotions and a taste for romantic excitement it may almost be said to lead its class. Its survival through generations is a proof—and a pretty infallible one—of its theatric excellence.

It is this piece that the Burbank stock company is doing this week, and to judge by the audiences, just as many people are interested in the fate of the sentimental little girls and their crippled, story-book protector, as when

For the rest, there are Paulton and Dooley, holdover bicyclists; Ford and Dresser, tiresome "comedians;" motion pictures, and a young woman known as Josephine Sabel, full of astounding self-assurance—which takes with the gallery.

BURBANK. "The Two Orphans" is a study in melodramatics that is a masterpiece of its kind. There is no semblance to humanity in it, there is not a trace of artistic construction, but as a simple appeal to primeval emotions and a taste for romantic excitement it may almost be said to lead its class. Its survival through generations is a proof—and a pretty infallible one—of its theatric excellence.

It is this piece that the Burbank stock company is doing this week, and to judge by the audiences, just as many people are interested in the fate of the sentimental little girls and their crippled story-book protector, as when the play was first staged for its famous original run in New York City, with a number of today's dramatic veterans doing its principal roles.

The role of the chevalier seems exactly suited to the personality of William Desmond—indeed, Desmond is the hit of the show. His impersonation is entirely satisfactory, and is one of the best that has been seen here.

H. S. Duffield is cast in the part of the wicked brother, and gets villainy enough out of the situations afforded to call forth much goose-whistling from the gods. Bennett Southard plays the cripple, lending a considerable touch of art to his part.

The other impersonations are satisfactory, and the production seems to have struck a chord of popular favor.

GRAND. Harry Beresford, known on the billboards as "that odd fellow," is amusing audiences at the Grand this week with a farcial study known as "Our New Man."

There is very little to the play save Harry Beresford, but he redeems it from dullness, and brings many a laugh where otherwise would be only solemnity. Beresford, as will be remembered, is a comedian of parts, knows fun when it is to be found, and can reproduce his sense of the humorous very nicely. His success in "The Wrong Mr. Wright" was quite unusual, but that, it may be said, was a far better construction than "Our New Man."

The plot of Beresford's present vehicle lies around the loss of a necklace, a suit-case mix-up, and mistaken identity. The actor impersonates a harmless and eccentric professor of botany.

The support afforded Mr. Beresford is fair.

Undermuslins

No coarse, trashy materials or "cheap" showy trimmings ever appear in our undermuslins; quality, not "cheapness," is the main consideration with us. And there is no question about our sort being the truly economical kind to buy, for made-to-order "bargains" seldom wear well.

Even our lowest priced garments are cut liberally full, and carefully made up. You can be sure of finding the right sizes, too—we have a tremendous stock of "extra" sizes. A few particularly strong values in regular-size garments.

AT 50c—gowns of excellent muslin, prettily trimmed with embroidery and fine tucks; square neck; really a 75c value.

AT $1—gowns of fine cambric, muslin and nainsook, the latter with dainty French edge on neck and sleeves; ribbon run; double felled seams; chemise effect.

AT $1.50—gowns of fine nainsook; round yoke, run with ribbon and trimmed with French embroidery; either full or three-quarter sleeves.

AT $2.50—gowns of fine nainsook; V neck with deep yoke of Swiss embroidery and insertion; tucked back.

AT $1 — long skirts of fine cambric, with deep lawn ruffle and extra dust ruffle; wide embroidery and fine tucks.

AT $2 — skirts of very fine cambric, with finely tucked embroidery ruffle and extra dust ruffle.

AT $4.50—skirts for evening wear. Round, billowy style, with six rows of dainty lace insertion with clusters of tucks between; under dust ruffle.

AT 25c — cambric drawers with hemstitched and tucked ruffles—big 40c values.

Corset covers, 25c to $10, with exceptional values at 50c, 75c and $1.00.

ORDINANCE NO. 10,607.

[New Series]

An Ordinance of the Mayor and Council of the City of Los Angeles, declaring their intention to construct a sewer along Fifth street.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Los Angeles do ordain as follows:

Section 1. That the public interest and convenience require, and that it is the intention of the City Council of the City of Los Angeles to order the following work to be done, to wit:

That a public sewer be constructed in said city along

FIFTH STREET

The public sewer manhole constructed in the intersection of Fifth street and Hill street at a point distant 25 feet southeasterly from the center line of Grand avenue and across all intersections of streets, together with two (2) manholes and one (1) flushtank, all to be connected with said sewer.

Said sewer is to be constructed of vitrified, salt-glazed pipe eight (8) inches in internal diameter.

Each of said manholes is to be constructed of brick and mortar and is to have a concrete bottom and an iron cover and is to be circular in horizontal section with an internal diameter of four (4) feet, and to have a capacity of three hundred (300) gallons.

All of which improvement is to be constructed in accordance with the plans and profile thereof on file in the office of the City Engineer of the City of Los Angeles and specifications therefor on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Los Angeles, said specifications being entitled "Specifications for the construction of a sewer along Fifth street between Hill street and Grand avenue in the City of Los Angeles."

Sec. 2. That said contemplated work of improvement is in the opinion of said Council, of more than local and ordinary public benefit, and they hereby declare that the exterior boundaries of the district to be benefited by the same to be assessed to pay the cost and expense of said improvement and of the assessment to be levied therefor, are as follows:

Beginning at the point of intersection of the north line of Fifth street as it now exists with the west line of Hill street; thence northerly along said west line of Hill street to the point of intersection with the prolongation of the center line of Bernardo street; thence northwesterly parallel with said center line of Bernardo street to the west line of Fifth street; thence northerly along said west line of Fifth street to a point in the west line of Hill street; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most easterly corner of lot 1, block 297, of the Bellevue Terrace Tract, as per map of said tract recorded in Book 7, page 162, and in Book 1, page 502, of Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 11 of said block 297; thence southwesterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of lot 38 of said block 297; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most southerly corner of lot 39 of said block 297; thence northeasterly in a straight line to the most southerly corner of lot 36 of said block 297; thence northwesterly in a direct line to the most westerly corner of said lot 36, said point being distant 136 feet southwesterly from the center line of Fifth street; thence northeasterly in a direct line to the point of beginning.

Sec. 3. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published for ten days in the Los Angeles Daily Times, and thereupon and thereafter it shall take effect and be in force.

I hereby certify that the foregoing Ordinance was adopted by the Council of the City of Los Angeles at its meeting of February 27, 1905.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the provisions of Ordinance No. 10,463 (New Series) of the City of Los Angeles, California, the City Clerk of said city will sell at public auction on Tuesday, the 21st day of March, 1905, at the hour of 10 o'clock a.m., at the main entrance of the City Hall, in said city, all the right, title and interest of said City of Los Angeles in and to those certain lots, pieces or parcels of land situate, lying and being in said City of Los Angeles, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, to wit:

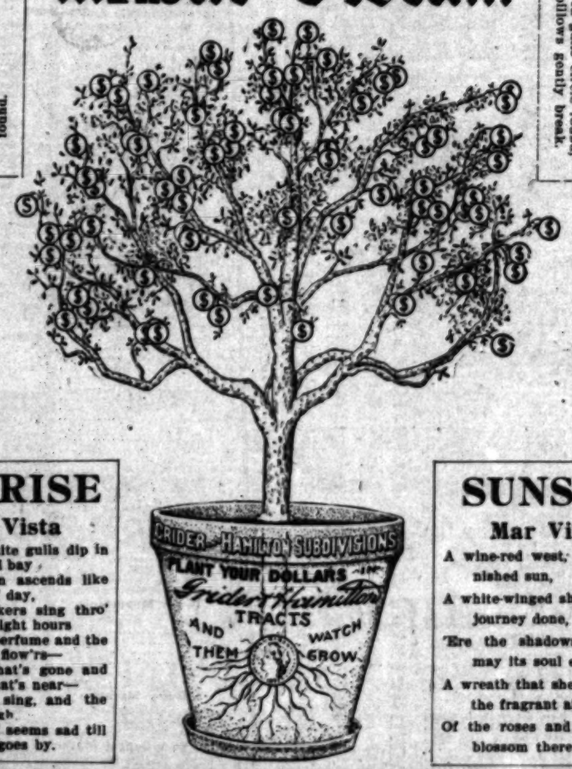
Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block H, of the Subdivision of City Lands in East Los Angeles and Boyle Heights, as per map of said subdivision recorded in Book 28, page 71 of Miscellaneous Records of said county, be sold hereafter provided.

Said parcels of land shall be sold at public auction separately to the highest and best bidder for cash in gold coin of the United States; Provided, however, that the parcels of land whereof Scarritt-Neal has a deed for a sum less than $250 for each lot, in addition of costs and expenses of such sale, shall be conveyed to said Scarritt-Neal pursuant to Ordinance No. 10,462 (New Series,) and of no notice of said sale and execution of deeds, or successful bidder, or bidders, at said sale shall be entitled to receive a deed for said lots from said City Clerk of said City of Los Angeles, until after the acceptance of their bid, the sum of money equal to the costs of advertising, or part payment of the same, and expenses, and shall pay to the order of said City of Los Angeles, in gold coin of the United States of America, the balance of the purchase money, as aforesaid, after the date of sale pay to the treasurer

...Mar Vista...

Calm as the sails of commerce, in the harbor you have found.
So contentment and happiness at MAR VISTA are found.

With awe I watched the sun go down,
Across the harbor town;
The mountains doffed their golden crown,
The sea foils circle round,
The billows gently break.



SUNRISE
Mar Vista
Where the white gulls dip in the crystal bay
And the moon ascends like the ghost of day,
And the mockers sing thro' the long night hours
Of the sweet perfume and the wondrous flow'rs—
Of the day that's gone and the day that's near—
The mockers sing, and the zephyrs sigh
And the world seems sad till the night goes by.

SUNSET
Mar Vista
A wine-red west, and a burnished sun,
A white-winged ship, with its journey done,
'Ere the shadows of night may its soul entomb,
A wreath that she weaves of the fragrant air—
Of the roses and lilies that blossom there.

MEN

We are Specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Diseases, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

VARICOCELE CANNOT BE CURED WITHOUT DETENTION FROM WORK

No man was ever cured of varicocele without stopping his work to be treated. We want our patients one week to guarantee a cure, but we solemnly promise not to use a knife or any wide-open surgical operation. We remove the diseased tissues completely by a painless operation known only to us. You can eat three times a day and sleep every night while under treatment. We can show you a hundred business men, who will tell you from personal experience if the above is true. We will examine you free and show you the proof of our cures here in the city for 11 years' successful work without one failure.

WEAKNESS

This trouble—the bane of men of all ages—we cure. Our treatment is direct, effective and the cure sure and lasting. We take pleasure in making clear to every man who calls for consultation the cause, the course and the outcome of his particular case. There is no charge for consultation.

CONTRACTED DISEASES AND BLOOD POISON

These troubles are thoroughly understood by Dr. Harrison and his associates. For over 21 years they have successfully treated this class of troubles. Experience, founded on a thorough medical education, has brought to them perfected methods by which they can positively promise a cure.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLE

Dr. Harrison & Co. are phenomenally successful in these troubles. Every case that comes to them is carefully examined and the true cause found for existing conditions. It is then easy for us to treat the case understandingly; not all cases are easily understood; not all men know how to treat them. Our success in curing demonstrates the positive proof of our ability.

STRICTURE

Pain is entirely eliminated under our treatment we have solely developed and perfected for the absolute cure of stricture, thus doing away with the use of a knife, and leaves the urinary passage in a healthy condition, doing away with all irritation and congestion of the kidneys and bladder.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN
The Leading Specialist

Judge a Specialist
By the Cures He Accomplishes

There are specialists, and specialists. Some are an honor to the medical profession; others are not. A specialist who has completely mastered the branch of disease he claims to cure, and has a long list of actual cures to his credit has attained a high position as a practitioner. Unfortunately but few specialists ever attain the rank in their chosen fields as has Dr. O. C. Joslen, who richly deserves the distinction of "The Leading Specialist" in men's diseases.

WEAKNESS

Thousands of men have been cured by him of this ailment. Some have tried other treatments, only to meet with disappointment. His method is absolutely the only one that will thoroughly and permanently cure weakness. If you are afflicted, consult him, free of charge, either at his office or through the mail.

Notice to Pile Sufferers

We Don't Ask You to Take Anyone's Word For What Pyramid Pile Cure Will Do.

You Can Have a Trial Package Free By Mail.

We receive hundreds of letters like the following: "I have been feeling so good I could hardly believe it, after suffering with piles for a year, to find that I am once more feeling like myself. I wish you could have seen me before I started using Pyramid Pile Cure and look at me now, and you would say I am not the same man. I have gained twenty pounds, and all on account of Pyramid Pile Cure." Walter Sharkley, 56 Park st., Springfield, Mass.

"I bought a fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and used as directed, with the most unexpected results, a complete cure. I have been troubled with piles for thirty years and was in much distress and passed much blood, but at present am free from any kind of piles." F. McKay, Weaverville, Cal.

"Pyramid Pile Cure has been worth thousands of dollars to me; it cured me after using numbers of other remedies and taking medicines from doctors. It also cured my son, although he could hardly walk, eat or sleep; he is now all right." B. Stringfellow, postmaster, Elko, S. C.

By the use of Pyramid Pile Cure you will avoid an unnecessary, trying and expensive examination by a physician, and will rid yourself of your trouble in the privacy of your own home at trifling expense.

After using the free treatment, which we mail in a perfectly plain wrapper, you can secure regular full-size packages from druggists at 50 cents each, or we will mail direct in plain package upon receipt of price. Pyramid Drug Co., 340 Main street, Marshall, Mich.

DAILY REPORT OF ORANGE MARKET.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today's orange market was strong on best qualities. A good deal of poor fruit is arriving, which reduces the average, but fancy grades are wanted and sell freely. Street retailers could do business today and bought freely, while out-of-town buyers were also numerous. Under the influence of good weather, there is a much more active movement into consumption. Inasmuch as California oranges are the only ones available, the market looks favorable.

Twenty-nine cars sold at auction today. The market is firm on good stock, and the weather is fine and pleasant.

EXCHANGE NOTES. Transactions on the Stock Exchange yesterday were short of 10000, though bidding was unusually active. Interest was mainly in oil and miscellaneous stocks, but brokers evidently had their order to bear the market.

Associated Oil went off fractionally, closing at 37½@38¾. Continental, Fullerton and Globe were also weaker, though Reed Crude advanced fractionally in the holder's terms. Union was stronger than it has been for sometime, closing at 72¾@73¾. United Petroleum was in request and five shares were sold at 120, closing at 118@120.

Some activity was injected into the mining list by unusual bidding, but the market was bearish and no sales resulted on the Stock Exchange.

In the bond list, Associated Oil advanced fractionally, closing at 99@90.

In miscellaneous stocks Edison Electric preferred was in a rising market; at 72, a hundred shares were sold, but the stock closed strong at 72¼@75. Home Telephone advanced again ¾ point, closing at 48¾@50¼. Title Guarantee and Trust preferred made a gain in the buyer's terms, closing at 115, but there were no offerings.

The sales reported yesterday on the Stock and Grain Exchange were: Thirty shares of Home Telephone, 10 at 50, and 20 at 49¾; 30 shares of Union Oil at 73¼; 7000 shares of North American Nitrate Co., 1000 at 5 and 6000 at 5½; 1000 shares of Reed Crude, 500 at 2.30 and 500 at 2.35, and 3 Home bonds at 900.

THE MONEY MARKET. The local money market is easy, with a fair demand.

There is no change in rates for time money. For 60 to 90 days 6 per cent. and for four, five and six months, 6½ per cent.

Commercial paper was in good demand, with no change in rates. Sixty to ninety days, indorsed bills, 6 per cent.; single names, 6@6½ per cent.

ERA OF INFLATION COMING. Samuel R. Shipley, president of The Provident Life & Trust Company, New York, in his annual report has this to say of the increasing production of gold:

"Surely it does not need the mouth of a prophet to declare that an era of inflation is coming. What effect will this vast increase of money have upon wages, upon prices of raw and finished material, upon the price of money itself, that is to say, interest?

"In the year 1850, before this new element began to exert itself, the price of interest was rarely less than 6 per cent. in America. How materially the rate has lessened it is unnecessary to state. There is no need for apprehension so far as the present investments of the companies are concerned, nor will there be for many years to come, but in the long future how can they be assured of a continuance of resources, the accumulation of which depends upon the maintenance of remunerative rates from year to year?

"For a long period the consensus of opinion in financial circles has led to the investment of their money in securities bearing a fixed rate of interest. Will this answer in the face of such conditions as may possibly exist in the not distant future?"

COMMERCIAL.

CITRUS MOVEMENT. The shipments of citrus fruits Saturday were 117 carloads of oranges and 7 carloads of lemons; grand total 0 shipments, 11,133 of which 855 were lemons.

RECEIVED AT NEW YORK. Following is a statement of the arrivals of Pacific Coast products at the port of New York, February 27:

Apples, boxes	1,310
Oranges, boxes	27,722
Lemons, boxes	708

ALMONDS AND FILBERTS. Private advices from Messina received in New York report the almond market appears to be a little firmer. One advice says: "We are sure that if any interest is shown the market will rise again, as it is justified by the situation of the article. The whole export of Sicily almonds in 1904 is now calculated at 65,000 bags, and the stocks still remaining are approximated to 12,000 bags. This quantity is not considerable, and of course will not suffice till September next. It is true that the flowering is still favorable, but the season has just begun and the state in February cannot give a true forecast for the new crop."

The whole crop of filberts in Sicily, it is stated, did not reach 20,000 bags whereas the average crop is about 70,000 bags.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

The produce market was fairly active and steady.

Peas—Steady at 4 to 5 cents.

Beans—Hard to get, jobbing at 15 to 18 cents.

Tomatoes—Slightly weaker, jobbing at $1 in crate lots and 50 to 65 cents by the box.

Cabbage—Steady at 60 to 75 cents.

Chiles—Firm, jobbing at 5 cents the outside price.

Bell peppers—Weak, jobbinb at 15 to 20 cents.

Eggplant—Weak, jobbing at 13 cents.

Dried beans—Extremely firm; Limas jobbing at $5 to $5.50, with an upward tendency; pinks, $4 to $4.25, with good stock hard to secure.

Bananas—Firm at 3½ to 4 cents in the jobbing market.

Apples—Steady with practically no change in the price list.

Butter—Strong, market reported to be in better condition than for ten years. Dealers asking 27½ to 30 cents for Coast creamery.

Eggs—Steady, official selling price again fixed at 17 cents. San Francisco reported to be shipping eggs East.

Onions—Firm, jobbing at $2.50 to $2 for good stocks, and $1.25 for common. Dealers predict higher prices.

Potatoes—Firm for fancy stocks, the majority of the trading being in Highlands and Nevadas, the former jobbing at $1.25 and the latter at $1.30 to $1.50. Salinas in demand at $1.80 to $2, and Colorado Peachblows and Pearls, $1.25 to $1.35, respectively.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, March 6.—Wall street maintained today the more conservative attitude toward speculation which was assumed last week as the result of sharp reactions in prices and the manifest disposition of holders to unload on the higher figures. While prices took before the reaction. The handing-down of a decision by the Supreme Court on the question of the injunction against the Distillers' and Cattle Feeders' Company, which was expected to be unfavorable, had no effect on the market. The decision was rendered after the close of business. The market was dull and heavy during the greater part of the session, but the tone was firm. Call money was easy at 2@2½ per cent. Time loans were steady; sixty days, 4@4½; ninety days, 4½@4¾; six months, 4½@4¾ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange was easy, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.84 12-20@4.85 for demand, and at 4.81 9-20@4.81 11-20 for 60-day bills. Posted rates, 4.82½ and 4.87½. Commercial bills, 4.80¾. Bar silver, 56¾. Mexican dollars, 45. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds heavy.

Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The statement of the treasury balances in the general fund shows: Available cash balance, $142,078,422; gold, $83,160,326.

London Silver.

LONDON, March 6.—Consols, 81¼; silver, 27 1-16d per ounce.

London Silver.

LONDON, March 6.—Bar silver closed 27¼d per ounce.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, March 6.—Influenced by lower wheat prices at Liverpool, initial quotations here showed losses. May being off ¼ to ¾ to ⅞, at 1.13¼@1.13⅝; July was down ¼ to ⅝, at 98¾ to 99. The decline at Liverpool was mainly due to weekly statistics which were decidedly favorable to the bears. During the first hour, selling was led by commission houses, the greatest pressure being upon the July delivery. Prices weakened under the offerings, later the market had a temporary rally on covering by shorts. Other causes of this buying was a report from India that the crop of the leading wheat-growing provinces had been damaged 15 per cent, by unfavorable weather. An influence that tended to increase speculative demand was a decrease of 962,000 bushels in the visible supply, a larger reduction than had been anticipated. The market weakened again on fairly liberal selling of July by pit traders. Final quotations on May were ⅜ to ½ down, 1.13⅜, July closing ⅝ to ¾ lower, at 98¾. Despite an extremely liberal movement, the corn market was comparatively firm. May opened ¼ cheaper to ¼ lower, at 47¾@48¼, and receiving at 47¾@48¼. Oats developed fair strength. May closing up ¼. Provisions were easy at the outset, but later firmed up. May pork was 12½ higher; lard was up 7½, and ribs were 7½ to 10 higher.

The leading futures closed as follows:

New York Copper Market.

NEW YORK, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another feature of the trading was the unusual activity and strength which developed in Greene Gold stock in early dealings. Trading began here at 1 point over yesterday's closing figures. After the first hour, however, the price rose from 7⅞ to 9¼, an advance of 1⅜ over previous closing figures. After the first hour, however, the market quieted down materially, and on profit-taking sales the price ran off to 9¼. About twenty thousand shares were traded in. Early buying was based upon the declaration on Saturday of the initial dividend of 20 cents per share. Other transactions on mining stocks included 1000 Greene Copper at 1¼@1⅝, 500 Arizona at 2½@3, 500 Dalsomero at 3¼.

New York Metal Market.

NEW YORK, March 6.—There was a big advance in the price of London tin market which was reported excited by covering of the speculative shorts and some buying for American account. Spot closed £135 10s and futures £131 15s. Locally, the market was quiet, but higher in sympathy with the foreign advance, spot quoted at 29.62½@29.90. Copper was easier abroad closing £67 15s for spot and £63 2s for futures. Locally, the market is unchanged, with lake held at 13.37½@13.50; electrolytic at 13.12½@13.25, and casting at 14.87½@15.25. Lead unchanged, 4.65@4.80 in the local market, but higher abroad, at £11 10s for spot and £11 12s 6d for futures. In the local Spelter unchanged, at 5.90@5.95. In the foreign market, spot closed £25 15s abroad. Locally, the iron market is firm.

California Dried Fruits.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The market for evaporated apples is quieter, but the desirable fruit is firmly held. Prunes are quoted at 4@6½; choice, 6½@6¾; extra choice, 6¾@7; fancy, 7@7½; peaches, 5@6½; choice, 6@6¼; extra choice, 6¼@6½; fancy, 6½@6¾; apricots, 7@8½; choice, 8@8½; extra choice, 8½@8¾; fancy, 8¾@9.

GRAIN, FRUIT AND PRODUCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although receipts of oranges over Sunday aggregated sixteen carloads, they included a small percentage of really fancy fruit, the bulk running to low score of choice and standard stock. As a result, the market for attractive offerings maintained firm tone at full outside figures, while values for cheaper sorts were easy and in buyers' favor. At auction sale, twelve carloads of navels were offered, most of which were of inferior quality in various stages of decay. Bidding for best selections was fairly active, but offers for low-grade stock were listless. The following prices were realized: Fancy, 1.60@1.85; choice, 70@1.35; standards, 1.00@1.25. There were no new features in other citrus fruits, supplies of all descriptions balancing trade wants and prevailing prices holding steady. Business opened with keen demand for upper grades of potatoes, and available supplies of various offerings were strongly held at full outside figures on wharves and at track. Onions were held at further advance, and the market ruled firm at improved rates, with indications for higher prices. In miscellaneous vegetables, first-quality southern descriptions found good market at fancy prices, equitant beans and sound tomatoes cleaning up readily at outside figures. Most of the peas from the South were off-quality and neglected for buy kinds, which sold at marked premium. Under increased offerings, values for both asparagus and rhubarb took sharply, but best grades were well cared for at revised prices.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

A MOST enjoyable affair was the pre-Lenten bridge whist party given yesterday afternoon with Mrs. M. R. McMillin, Miss McMillin and Miss Bindley of No. 667 West Twenty-eighth street, as hostesses, in honor of Mrs. Edward Bindley of Pittsburgh, Pa. who will make her home here.

As the party came so near the Lenten season, all the decorations were carried out in the purple color, combined with white. In the reception hall, which is in itself a study in green, potted plants and ferns were gracefully arranged, and Bermuda lilies shed their fragrance. In front of the staircase landing the palms and ferns were used as a screen, from behind which Arend's orchestra discoursed music. In another room white stock and ferns were combined. In the reception room white roses were effective, and the dining-room was sweet with the fragrance of many sweet peas. Chinese bowls filled with the blossoms stood about, and ferns added to the charming effect. Score cards were marked on hand-painted score cards, and prizes for each table consisted of brown Chinese baskets filled with violets. All the refreshments were carried out in violet, the ices being served in tiny moulds covered with violets, and set on cool green mint leaves. All through the rooms only a hint of violet was in keeping with the Lenten season. About fifty guests were entertained in the course of the afternoon.

Mrs. McMillin with her daughter, Miss McMillin, and niece, Miss Bindley, and Mrs. Edward Bindley, have only come here from Pittsburgh to make their home. They are charming women, and will doubtless prove an addition to society. They are at present occupying the Nat Myrick home at No. 667 West Twenty-eighth street.

Entertainment.

Saturday evening the women of St. Vincent's Church choir were invited, together with their escorts and friends, to a party given by Rev. J. S. Glass, D.D., who opened the spacious gymnasium as a dancing hall. About fifty guests enjoyed the little affair followed by a luncheon served in the refectory. Immediately after refreshments remarks were made by Prof. T. W. Wilde, director of the choir, who thanked the choir for their hard work and cooperation in keeping up the music of St. Vincent's to the usual standard. He, however, urged upon them the necessity of continued exertion to preserve the high standing. His remarks were greeted with cheers and applause, which testified to his popularity. After this plans for the annual picnic were discussed, and a committee of men and women was appointed with G. Durnerin as secretary and Edward Heyes as chairman to manage the affair at Easton's Cañon on Memorial Day. Those who enjoyed the evening were: Prof. and Mrs. T. W. Wilde, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heyes, Mr. and Mrs. L. Ferrand, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Banks, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Miss H. Knickerbocker, Miss C. McCain, Miss Tritt, Miss Lindenfeldt, Miss P. P. O'Brien, Miss Auberry, Miss Hardy, Miss Murray, Miss Marguerite Smith, Miss S. Durnerin, Miss Ainsley, Messrs. W. J. Lambert, G. Durnerin, L. Durnerin, Lee Betz, B. Dunn, J. Sullivan, W. Jochum, Lee Bergin and Harrel.

Assisted Pupils.

Miss Elizabeth Jordan entertained a number of her pupils on Saturday afternoon. Refreshments were served and a programme of Beethoven and Chopin music contributed to by Misses Eilleen Mildred Dunham, Freda Thurber, Elizabeth Fitch, Annabel Jones and Bell.

Musicale.

Miss Grace Adele Freebey of No. 1666 Orange street entertained about thirty friends on Sunday evening with a musical musicale. The rooms were decorated with flowers, and among those who contributed to the musical programme were: Mme. Grofe-Menasco, Miss Frances Aylesworth, Miss Ethel Mitchell, Mrs. Kasinsky, G. Allen Hancock and Prof. Stamm. Particularly enjoyable were the 'cello solos by Mme. Menasco, which she gave with a petite interpretation. Miss Ethel Mitchell gave a number of cornet solos, which on account of the fine tonal qualities of her instrument, and the expression given by this pretty girl musician were most interesting. Mrs. Kasinsky, who is a pupil of Alexander Stamm, was heard in a number of charming whistling solos, which delighted the guests. G. Allen Hancock, Miss Frances Aylesworth and Prof. Stamm rendered in company and their music was of a high class. Later light refreshments were served and conversation enjoyed.

Mrs. Earnest.

Mrs. Jefferson D. Gibbs yesterday afternoon gave a reception in compliment to Mrs. Finis P. Earnest, a prominent club woman of Denver, who is visiting here. The affair took place in the Dobinson Auditorium, which was fragrant with flowers. The table was presided over by Miss Mabel Clute. In the Japanese room refreshments were served from tables laden with almond blossoms. Over the table great branches of almond blossoms were reared, and beneath these sat three pretty maids, who presided over the tea and chocolate urns. They all wore dainty pink gowns with flowers in their hair. The maids were: Misses Marie Crowe, Frances Mildred Vaughn. This room was lighted with red lights, and hanging baskets of ferns added to the pretty effect. In one corner the Ladies Venezuelan orchestra discoursed sweet mandolin and guitar music. Mrs. Gibbs wore a handsome gown of pink and white figured net, and pearl ornaments. Mrs. Earnest was becomingly gowned in white lace over blue silk with diamond ornaments. Assisting the hostess in receiving were: Mesdames O. T. Johnson, Fred Johnson, Henderson Reed, Reuben Shettler, Nicholas Bell, J. W. Hendrick, W. H. Housh, Mrs. F. Hunt, M. A. Bostwick, Morgan, Josiah Evans Cowles and L. Phelps. Many guests were received during the afternoon and were given the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Earnest, the bright and clever woman who represented the women's clubs of Denver at the St. Louis biennial.

Bixby's Tea.

C. B. French of Lake Forest, Ill., was guest of honor yesterday afternoon at a charming tea given by Mrs. Harry L. Bixby of No. 24 St. James Park. The home was converted into a bower of floral beauty. In the reception room almond blossoms were also artistically arranged, Cherokee roses in profusion gave a pleasing touch to the scheme of decoration. The gold of the acacia with its foliage was used in the pretty dining-room. Mrs. Bixby was assisted in receiving by Mesdames John E. Plater, Charles Jaro Van Schmidt, Frank Lecouvreur, Harry C. Turner, Ernest A. Bryant, Fred Bixby of Long Beach, Percy Cloud, Godfrey Holterhoff, Miss Lucia Burnett, Miss Waddington and Miss Clara Carpenter.

Miss Walsh.

Miss Frank E. Walsh of No. 403 Alvarado street entertained on Saturday afternoon a party of thirty-young girls in compliment to her young daughter, Miss Virginia Walsh, who has recently returned from an Eastern trip. The home was brightened with choice flowers, pink carnations and ferns being utilized in the reception room. The living room was brightened with poppies and jonquils. In the dining-room a pleasing contrast was gained by the use of American Beauty roses and ferns. Games were played and music enjoyed, after which Reynolds served an enjoyable luncheon.

Tea for New Yorkers.

Mrs. George Wilson King of No. 10 St. James Park yesterday afternoon entertained at tea in honor of her daughter, Mrs. James F. Fargo of New York City, and her two daughters, Misses Grace and Clara Fargo. The decorations throughout were in red carnations; ferns were effectively utilized on the tea table. The hostess and her guests of honor were assisted in receiving by Mesdames I. N. Van Nuys, E. P. Clark, Homer Laughlin, Henry T. Lee, Felix C. Howes, J. S. Slauson, Stephen C. Hubbell, William P. Jeffries, John G. Mossin, B. R. Kellan, Harry K. Ainsworth of Redondo and James M. Moore.

Entertains Phi Delta Chi.

Miss Helen Nevin of No. 700 Garland avenue entertained with a luncheon on Saturday, having as her guests a number of members of the Phi Delta Chi sorority. The luncheon table was decorated with white stock in tiny pink baskets. After luncheon Miss Nona Kingsbury entertained the party at the matinee at the Mason. Guests were: Misses Marjory Severance, Elsa Rust, Edith Herron, Ines Ray, Edith Cole, Gertrude Gaffen, Marguerite Brown, Edna Peyton and Mary Burnham.

Hearts Party.

Miss Ida Ebinger entertained a number of friends at her home, No. 202 Mott street, with an informal hearts party. The home was hung with festoons of smilax and red and white hearts, and cut flowers were effectively arranged. Refreshments were served in the dining-room presided over by Mrs. A. C. Lown. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lown, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pollock, Misses Schreader, Lewis, Hoff, Witt and Ebinger, and Messrs. Barnborough, Brewer, Fisher, Shope and Ira and Harry Ebinger.

Annual Banquet.

At the annual banquet given by the members of the Southern California Woman's Press Club last evening, Mrs. John W. Mitchell acted as toastmaster. The affair took place in the Hotel Lankershim, where covers were laid for about seventy-five members and guests. The decorations for the table were attractive and places were marked with cards adorned with hand-painted sketches by members, to which were attached rejection slips.

Lady Washington Club.

Mrs. Frank Hanley of the Hotel Beacon entertained members of the Lady Washington Whist Club yesterday afternoon. Guests included Mmes. Ira B. Smith, W. H. Isgrigg, M. T. Brooks, E. M. Holton, S. A. Bulfinch, E. J. Brent, P. V. Gargan, George J. Smart, Elizabeth Bixel, E. Je Downie, J. J. Mortell, H. M. Baty, R. G. Cunningham, J. R. Stewart, J. B. Wing, Robert Manford, E. G. Taylor, N. E. Bryson, C. C. Brock and Frank Hanley.

At Benefit Performance.

Among others who entertained parties at the Mason Operahouse last evening at the performance of "The Winter's Tale," for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd were: Mmes. Ida Hancock, W. E. Hampton, C. C. Desmond, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hicks, Andrew McNally and Mr. and Mrs. Erasmus Wilson.

Musical Entertainment.

A musical and literary entertainment will be given at Korbel Hall, corner of First and State streets, tonight. Among other numbers will be a farce entitled "The Dramatic Agent," in which the following will take part: Vernon Monte, Miss Ida Little, Master Everett Little, Misses Maggie and Mary Sullivan, Nellie Griffin, Noeline Glass, Norah Matthews and John Little.

Jonathan Opening.

Cards are out for an opening reception to be held at the new Jonathan Club rooms in the Huntington building, corner Sixth and Main streets, on the evening of March 15. Members of the Invitation Committee include Messrs. J. W. A. Off, John H. Norton, George H. Stewart, Dr. Ernest A. Bryant and Byron Erkenbrecher.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Magnus of No. 303 North Broadway announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hilda Magnus, to H. Cahn of New Orleans. The couple will wed in June, the ceremony to take place at the home of the bride's parents.

College Club Luncheon.

The monthly luncheon of the College Woman's Club took place last Saturday at the Woman's Club House. The table was bright with the gold of California poppies; places were marked with poppy cards. Toasts were responded to and the affair was a most joyous one.

Notes and Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Glenn Hambright of No. 412 West Twenty-eighth street have moved to No. 1221 West Fourth street.

Mrs. O. Clemenson entertained recently with a luncheon, covers being laid for twelve. White sweet peas and wild violets were effective table decklings.

DEATH SPURS THE RELATIVES.

BROTHER SAYS WILL WASN'T THOMAS'S OR DOYLE'S.

Sewed in One of Dead Man's Undergarments Was Strychnine Enough to Kill a Hundred Men. Victory for City in the Mount Vernon Water Company Case.

SAN BERNARDINO, March 6.—The finding of the body of Martin F. Thomas in the mountains has spurred his relatives in their efforts to clear away the mystery surrounding the alleged murder of Col. John N. Doyle, and to discover the lost will which has figured conspicuously in the case, and which led to the first suspicions against Thomas.

His relatives declare that the will was worthless, and he had been so informed by his attorney, and it was this knowledge that led him to run from the Sheriff, instead of the suspicion that he was the murderer of Col. Doyle.

Justice of the Peace C. L. Thomas, a brother of the deceased, stated today that it will be proved positively that this will was not written or signed either by Thomas or Doyle, but that it named a different legatee, whose name had been erased and the name of Thomas inserted, though whether this was done by Thomas with or without the consent or knowledge of Doyle is as yet unknown.

GEORGE R. JONES

"If that will is ever found, and I have hopes that it will be, for I scout this idea that any attorney could be so careless as to lose such a will as that is, it will throw an entirely different light upon this whole affair," said Justice Thomas.

In the inquest it developed that when the undertaker disrobed the corpse last evening he found sewed into a leg of the undergarments strychnine enough to destroy a hundred men. Thomas evidently having prepared to kill himself if arrested.

George R. Jones, who now figures as the central figure in the fight for the estate of Doyle, claiming to be a first cousin, also state that he is a great grandson of Daniel Boone, and son of the first Lieutenant-Governor of Missouri. He is a tall, angular man, and has known the use of firearms from almost his earliest recollections. While in charge of the lonely ranch of his dead cousin, he keeps near at hand a loaded shotgun. He promises to make it interesting for any of the alleged conspirators who are supposed to have figured in the bloody case.

LEGAL VICTORY FOR CITY.

Superior Judges Oster and Bledsoe this afternoon handed down a decision in the case of the city of San Bernardino and Mt. Vernon Water Company against the Lytle Creek Water and Improvement Company overruling defendant's demurrer and denying the motion to strike out. The decision is a decided victory for the city in its suit, which was instituted to prevent the defendant from changing the point of delivery of the city's Lytle Creek water from the Campbell box to the Lord gate, and substituting for Lytle Creek water pumped water, matters of vital interest to San Bernardino.

MAN'S ROAR ROUTS BULL.

Vicious San Bernardino Bovine no Match for Jaggernaut in a Hot Fight.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 6.—Julian Frederiques blossomed out as a bull fighter yesterday and worsted the bovine, which is a big Jersey, and belongs to John Beam. It was a hot battle and lasted some minutes. Frederiques had one advantage over the bull; he was just drunk enough to be in an admirable scrapping mood, and so well "loaded" that the proverbial fortune that attends the jagged was with him.

While the battle was at its height, the bull pawing the earth and bellowing fiercely, Frederiques let out a roar. That settled it. When Frederiques rears the bellowing of a dozen bulls is drowned in the greater noise like the croaking of a frog in a thunderstorm. The bull fled, beaten to a stand-still. No test of the animal's eardrums has been made as yet.

In the midst of his glory Frederiques, fired by liquor, went through a shooting-star act and his luster dwindled. Marshal Shay gathered him in. He was still roaring, but with such diminished force that a man accustomed to loud noises could stand it.

PROHIBS TURN TO WATERHOUSE.

PARTY STANDS BY HOBART, BUT MEMBERS DRIFT.

Brilliant Reception Complimentary to Mother of Mrs. Grover Cleveland—Cotillion at the Country Club—Huyler Travels Stag—Hotels too Crowded for Banquet.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 26 South Raymond avenue, March 7.—The latest development in municipal politics promises to liven things up a bit and may make some queer bedfellows. It is asserted that a number of prohibitionists have signified their intention to vote for William Waterhouse, the Mayoralty candidate who is being backed by M. O. Randall, H. H. Ellsworth, G. F. Kernaghan and other members of the M. H. Weight crowd, who shifted their support from Weight when he declined to make the run.

The Prohibition organization strictly speaking, has not shifted to the independent candidate, but a good many of its members have done so. The organization announced last night that it would stand by Rev. C. H. Hobart, taking chances on his alleged ineligibility. The Prohibitionists admit that Hobart has not resided here the required five years, but they say that it is too late for them to nominate anybody else and that therefore that point is unnecessary. Waterhouse looks good to many of the anti-liquor people. He is strictly a temperance man, a conspicuous church worker and opposed to Sunday band concerts, which latter proposition is regarded by many as a sort of issue. With a goodly number of Prohibition ballots Waterhouse might make an interesting fight against Slavin, the straight Republican candidate, who is backed by the people in power.

Another element that will support Waterhouse is composed of those opposed to the city's projected purchase of the water plant. "I am not against municipal ownership of the water, as has been reported," said Waterhouse last night, "but I am against the payment of three prices for the company's holdings. However, it makes little difference, as the bond election will take place before the Mayoralty election. If I should be elected I should endeavor to carry out the will of the people. There are no strings on me. I am not working for the office."

The Waterhouse ticket has also nominated the following: Councilman, Second Ward, C. J. Crandall; Councilman, Third Ward, F. Dyer; Councilman, Fourth Ward, J. S. Glasscock; Councilman, Fifth Ward, W. T. Root, Sr.; Councilman-at-large, C. M. Jaquas.

GOOD TENNIS PROMISED.

Pasadenans may see some crackerjack tennis on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week if they will go to the Central courts on the old electric line at Lincoln Park. A midwinter tournament is to be held in which the leading experts of Southern California will take part. Play will begin on Thursday afternoon and will extend through Friday afternoon and all day Saturday. The events will be ladies' and gentlemen's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. Considerable local talent will be added to the event by the presence of Mrs. Parquhar, formerly Miss Marion Jones of Santa Monica, who twice held the Women's championship of the United States. She will meet Miss May Sutton of Pasadena, the present United States champion. The Sutton girls will all be there, as will Fritz Overton, champion of Southern California; A. E. Bell, who ranked ninth last year among the racketeers of the United States; H. Bosley, T. Hendrick, A. C. Way, H. Elliott and Simpson Smallbaugh. The players are making elaborate preparations to insure the success of this, the first midwinter tournament. Prendergast, who was captain of the Harvard college team last year, is visiting here and is mixing with the local players a bit. They hope to induce him to take part, so that a comparison may be had between eastern and western play.

COUNTRY CLUB COTILLION.

A few of the members of the Country Club enjoyed a dinner dance at the clubhouse yesterday evening and the early hours were given to a prettily appointed cotillion. After the dinner, at which covers were laid for sixty, the ballroom was cleared for dancing. The verandas were inclosed with canvas and fitted out with divans and easy chairs. The ballroom, under the direction of Mrs. A. Kingsley Macomber and Mrs. E. R. Kellam, was decorated with yellow acacia boughs and yellow jonquils were used as table decorations at the dinner. The cotillion was led by Ellicot Evans and several novel fancy figures were introduced. There were five sets of favors provided by a committee of which Mmes. Scoville, Warden and Russell were members. These dainty trifles were artistic fans, pin cushions, toy bottles of cordial, tiny boxes, bon-bon boxes and the many odd and amusing things which are successfully used at such functions.

LARGE RECEPTION.

Mrs. Benjamin Folsom of Bellefontaine avenue was the hostess at an afternoon tea yesterday, which was one of the most elaborately-appointed functions of a gay winter. The floral decorations were arranged in rare artistic fashion. The reception hall was beautiful with masses of lavender stock and wood ferns; the library was similarly treated with white stock and asparagus plumosus, and in the dining-room quantities of freesias were used. The function was complimentary to Miss Henry E. Perrine of Princeton, N. J., who is the mother of Mrs. Grover Cleveland. Mrs. Folsom wore gray crepe de chine trimmed with Maltese lace, and Mrs. Perrine wore white silk crepe, with a garniture of Venetian lace. Mrs. B. M. Wotkyns and Mrs. Wotkyns presided at the tea table during the first reception hour, and Misses Underhill and Gwynn during the latter part of the afternoon. The invitation list included the representative society women of Pasadena, many of whom were present.

OTHER SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mrs. C. Mortimer Henderson gave a charmingly-appointed luncheon yesterday in honor of Miss Mabel Higgins. The table was ornate with white iris and corsage bouquets of white violets were laid at every plate. Dainty name cards ornamented in white and gold, added to the pretty table effect. The guests were Mmes. Walstein Root, F. Wilcox, Waldo Burton, H. Page Pratt, W. E. Kerr, Edward Greenen-ward, Misses Holmes, Chase, Blossom Mervin. Today Mrs. Henderson will entertain twelve other friends at luncheon.

Among yesterday's social events was the Japanese tea given by the ladies of Casa Grande, for which invitations were sent out to many of the members of the four hundred. The ladies assisting were gowned in Japanese fashion. Mrs. Albert E. Carroll will give an elaborately-appointed luncheon today at the Country Club in honor of Mrs. Robert H. Ripley, formerly Miss Ada Story.

HUYLER TRAVELS STAG.

John S. Huyler of New York, the candy manufacturer, arrived yesterday at Hotel Green in his private car, Kemble. Huyler is accompanied by eight other prominent New Yorkers, and they expect to remain here about a week. In the party are Dr. W. Johnson, Rev. Philip Germond, R. N. Schell, F. J. Staines, B. F. Zedylon, J. H. Hadley, T. S. Denham and J. Myron Leavitt.

RAMISH HEAVILY FINED.

Adolph Ramish, the Los Angeles contractor found guilty of cruelty to animals, was fined $200 by Justice Klamroth. Ramish immediately filed notice of appeal. It is understood that the case will be fought in a higher court on the ground that the Humane Society has no legal right to existence.

C. I. Goucher, an Ocean Park contractor, pleaded guilty to ill treating mules, and was fined $75.

FOOTPADS FAIL TO STOP AUTO.

HIGHWAYMEN ARE ALMOST RUN DOWN NEAR HOLLYWOOD.

Whittier Party in Touring Car Sees Two Bad Citizens Wearing Regulation Masks and With Fire-arms Displayed Standing in Road Ahead, but Doesn't Heed Them.

WHITTIER, March 6.—A party of Whittier automobilists had a narrow escape from hold-up-men near Hollywood last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Harvey-Elder, Miss Grace Harvey-Elder and their guest, the Princess Cantacuzene, were speeding along near Hollywood in their big Winton car when the high speed clutch broke, this delaying their return till after dark.

After being hauled ignominiously into Hollywood in the wake of a big Winton, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Will Crippen of Los Angeles, the two gentlemen and Harvey-Elder's chauffeur undertook to take the machines on. After going a short distance the electric headlight of Mr. Crippen's machine brought into view two men, masked in regulation style, standing in the road, brandishing their arms and calling upon the autoists to stop.

Instead of doing so, the machines were forced almost upon the men, who, seeing that their prey would resist, and that there were three men to be reckoned with instead of one, fled into the brush.

A hasty search of the vicinity failed to locate the would-be highwaymen, who, judging from their methods, were evidently new at the business.

DEATH OF C. B. LONGSTAFF.

Charles B. Longstaff, a well known resident of this city, died Saturday, of blood poisoning resulting from carbuncles. The funeral services are being delayed until a daughter, Mrs. Bell McCort of British Columbia, can get here. A widow and seven children are left.

SAN PEDRO.

HEADLESS CORPSE IN SEA.

SAN PEDRO, March 6.—Capt. Al Hyder of the fishing launch Seminole, reports that while returning from the islands yesterday afternoon, and when a short distance off the end of the breakwater, he discovered the headless body of a man floating in the ocean. Hyder tried to secure it with a gaff hook, but the hook tore out, and the body sank from sight. The trunk was in a badly decomposed state, and evidently had been the prey of birds and sharks for many days. The heart and lungs were exposed to view.

No one is missing here, so far as known, and there is no clew as to the identity of Hyder's discovery.

P. E. WILL NOW BUILD.

It is stated here today that the differences over a right of way between the Pacific Electric and the San Pedro Lumber Company have been settled, and the line from Dominguez into San Pedro will be completed without further delay. A viaduct will be built through the lumber yards to enable the lumber companies to operate with delay or danger on account of the cars. The new line is in operation as far as Wilmington.

Edward Foster, aged 46, and Annie Kennedy, aged 35, Long Beach were married here today.

OCEAN PARK.

FLYER HITS MAN'S HEAD.

OCEAN PARK, March 6.—An early-morning flyer on the Los Angeles-Pacific electric line caught J. E. Fitzgerald unawares. He was at Brooks avenue and received a painful blow on the head. He was picked up bleeding and removed to the Sisters' Hospital in Los Angeles, after his wounds had been dressed in Santa Monica. A projection of the car struck him above the eye and it was at first thought his skull was fractured, but he will recover. Fitzgerald is a laborer at Venice.

SEASIDE RIPPLINGS.

The Abbot Kinney Company is preparing to build a model seaside cottage in Venice. Plans are to be selected in competition. One of the novelty features called for is an entrance from the canal.

A broad walk connecting South Ocean Park and the Strand with Playa del Rey is to be built. The lumber is on the ground.

Native Japanese boats are to be one of the attractions on the lagoon at Playa del Rey during the summer.

Great progress has been made within the past few days in erecting the tents and fencing off that portion of the sand which is to be devoted to the fiesta and carnival. The city is being decorated. The affair will open Sunday and the programme promises eight days of amusement.

A. B. Sholly of South Bend, Ind., is investing in real estate and making his home here.

David Evans of Salt Lake City has purchased business property on Windward avenue and intends to build a fine block without delay.

WATCH for next Sunday's display announcement of Hill Street Syndicate, No. 1, being organized by the Ralston Realty Company, Wilcox Bldg.

THRILLS EVEN CATTLEMEN.

SEA MONSTERS IN BATTLE IN CATALINA CHANNEL.

Huge Marine Fighters in Round-up in Which Swordfish Brands Whale, Following Which Latter Does a Bucking Bronco Turn for the Edification of the Visitors.

AVALON, March 6.—William Moncreiffe and Lee Ballingdon cattlemen of Sheridan, Wyo., who have been putting a bit of variety into their lives by spending a few weeks in fishing here, having the Nestella under charter, were witnesses to an ocean tragedy Saturday between a couple of marine monsters. They were several miles off shore, fishing for albicore, when their skipper George Farnsworth called their attention to a tremendous commotion in the water ahead. Huge columns of spray dashing upward at short intervals showed that a terrible combat was being waged by some powerful creature of the sea.

Soon they discovered that one of the combatants was a whale, as a big fluke, or his immense tail was thrust up out of the water, but for some time or until the battle was over, they were unable to make out what his antagonist was. They were not anxious to make a too close acquaintance with the contestants which were thrashing the water into foam, creating whirlpools and forming cataracts of spray, tinged with red from the blood of one or both of the monsters, but watched the fight from a respectful distance.

Finally the whale's huge back, as large as the hull of a ship, appeared above the water and with a grand flourish of his mighty tail high in the air it sank out of sight. All was quiet for a time when to their astonishment a big swordfish leaped into the air, flourishing his sword and seeming to say to the spectators: "I've fixed him!" And he went below to finish the job.

UNUSUAL DRIFTINGS.

J. L. Corey, proprietor of the "Jim and Joe" boat-stand here, fell in a faint at his stand yesterday afternoon. He was taken home where he died within a short time, of apoplexy. Mr. Corey's daughter, Mrs. Carrie E. Ralls was living with him here. His wife and son J. J. Corey, a newspaper man, reside in Los Angeles.

David B. Henderson, former Speaker of the House of Representatives, with his wife and daughter of Dubuque, Iowa, and his son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Henderson of Long Beach, spent Sunday here.

Julius Fleishman, Mayor of Cincinnati, O., with his wife is at the Metropole.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Griffith of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Soule of Syracuse, N. Y., are guests at the Metropole.

E. A. Beardslee, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Los Angeles and his brother-in-law, John S. Cross of Lawrence, Mass., spent Sunday here.

O. D. Sparks, conductor on the Salt Lake Railway, accompanied by his wife, spent Sunday at the Grand View.

POMONA SHOW, GLORY ABLAZE.

WITH BLARE OF BANDS THE CARNIVAL IS OPENED.

Grounds Opened to the Public Last Night—Many Attractions for Visitors—Little Gardens Kept by the Children of the Kindergarten Department of the Public Schools.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POMONA, March 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The spring carnival is here. The big blaze of lights that illuminates the spacious grounds just north of the Southern Pacific depot indicates it, while the blare of brass bands and the crowds of people who have been thronging the streets in that direction since early in the evening confirms the fact that the long-talked-of week of merriment is now at hand.

Early in the evening a procession was formed on Second street composed of the Knights of Pythias and the carnival band, which marched to the grounds and in through the main gate, formally opening the carnival to the public. There are about a dozen shows in all.

Some of them instructive, as, for instance, Capt. Sorcho's deep-sea divers, who exhibit with realistic effect the wonders of this art. Some of them are merely beautiful, as Peggy of Paris, where a melange of marvelous dances is seen. Other shows would make the most pessimistic person in the world laugh and go home happy and feeling that he had had his money's worth.

The big stadium drew the largest crowd. Here was seen an exhibition of the terrific jump of the death chasm in which Diavola, on hi bicycle, leaps thirty-six feet. Coontown's Four Hundred has its characteristic cake walks. There is a wonderful museum under the direct control of Company D, with W. J. Hennessy, the greatest and most successful spieler on the grounds.

Of course, there were many spectacular events for all within the grounds as the wild dive through a seething flame of fire, performed by a woman. This was the most wonderful feat of the evening.

GARDENS FOR KINDERGARTENS.

Through the efforts of Miss Barbara Greenwood, in charge of the kindergartens of the city, every child in that department of the schools has a little garden spot which he has made, planted to vegetables, and cares for by himself at recess.

The children are intensely interested in this practical method of education and it is a pretty scene during the forenoon and afternoon intervals between studies to watch the little folks tilling their gardens.

The funeral of Col. T. W. Brooks was held this afternoon at Elks' Hall.

Twenty-four people united with the Congregational Church at the communion services yesterday.

EAGLE ROCK.

VALLEY SOCIAL AFFAIR.

EAGLE ROCK, March 6.—The class circle of the Congregational Church entertained with a social Saturday evening at the church. A programme was presented in which among those appearing were Misses Edith Lawrence, Mabel Myers, Myrtle Closson and May Fansel.

TO THE PEOPLE OF LOS ANGELES

Open Letter from Kind Hearted Onlooker.

The following letter will be of great interest to our readers. It breathes the true spirit of charity, of helping others. May it do the good that Mr. Carpenter hopes for.

"To the People of Los Angeles:

"Although I may be unknown to you, yet I hope my experience will carry the weight that earnestness always should. I believe in doing good to my fellow men, and in no way can I help them better than in pointing out the road to health.

"Hyomei, the treatment that cures catarrh, without stomach dosing, has done me so much good that I want everybody to know of its merits. I had a very bad case of catarrh, and Hyomei completely cured me. I have recommended it to my neighbors, and they, too, have been cured. Now I want everybody in all parts of the country to know what Hyomei has done for me.

"GEORGE W. CARPENTER.
"Vincent, O."

Hyomei contains the healing balsams that are found in the air upon the mountains, where catarrh is unknown. It destroys all catarrhal germs in the air passages of the head, throat and lungs, and makes complete cures.

A complete outfit costs but $1, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

Druggists everywhere are authorized to refund the money should a Hyomei outfit and one extra bottle fail to afford relief. If the druggist from whom you bought does not care to do this, mail the inhaler to the R. T. Booth Co., Ithaca, N. Y., and they will refund the money at once. Mail orders for Hyomei promptly filled on receipt of price.

THE SPITTING NUISANCE

DISINFECT ROOMS AND CUSPIDORS. Remove dust, dirt and germs.

The Boards of Health in all parts of the country agree that consumption is an infectious and communicable disease, and is usually transmitted from the sick to the well by means of the dried and pulverized sputum floating as dust in the air. This being the case, it can in a great measure be restricted by the use of a reliable disinfectant.

Dust, dirt and germs are best removed from the floor by first sweeping with a cloth-covered broom moistened with a dilution of one part Platt's Chlorides and ten parts of water. The furniture and wood work should be dusted with a cloth dampened with the same dilution. The cuspidor should be washed out daily with boiling water and a dilution of one part Platt's Chlorides and four of water kept constantly in it to receive the sputum. The patient's clothing should be kept by itself, and thoroughly boiled when washed.

Platt's Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which instantly removes any foul odors and destroys disease-breeding matter. A quart bottle will last an average family a month and it can be obtained at all druggists.

LORDSBURG.

BORING WELL ON FAITH.

LORDSBURG, March 6.—Rodney T. Soper, an expert, has commenced boring a well for the Live Oak Water Company of La Verne. This company made several unsuccessful attempts to find water on its property, its first well having failed. Soper bores this well on faith. If he gets no water he will get no pay. If water in paying quantity be found he will get stock in the Live Oak Company valued at $1500. The company furnishes all the casing. Eli Keller, a "water wizard" of Los Angeles located the well for Soper. The outcome is watched with interest by the stockholder, who are at present "dry."

SANTA MONICA.

DIAMOND DUST—BASKET CHIPS.

SANTA MONICA, March 6.—The Santa Monica bay baseball fans will have their inning on Tuesday of next week. At that time the Chicago National League team will play the Chicago National Colts. Both nines are to be made up from Manager Selee's squad of Nationals who are now working out here.

The basketball season is warming hot. On Wednesday the Reliances will go to St. Vincent court to play the Whittiers, and on Saturday night the Breakers and Reliances are to exchange baskets here. Both the local girls' teams won their games in Los Angeles Saturday, the Waves winning from the Collegiates and the High School team from the Polytechnics.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

LOCAL POLITICS.

WHO FOLLOWS M'LACHLAN?

Push Bosses Will Not Grant Him Another Term.

City Attorney Mathews Last Man Suggested.

Old Timers Resent Tactics of Kid Brickmakers.

Now that Senator Flint has taken his seat in Congress for six years and his campaign is all over except the payment of patronage debts contracted during its progress, local Republicans are turning their attention to the next Congressional selection, less than two years hence.

It was determined by the bosses at the last election that James McLachlan, whose campaign was managed by Luther Brown, should not again be returned to the place he has occupied for a number of years.

McLachlan obtained his last nomination only by a scratch. The "push" granted it reluctantly and served notice then on the Congressman and his managers that he could expect no more party favors.

While no particular person has been singled out as the coming Congressional candidate, the matter is a subject of interesting discussion in political circles, and several men have been talked of for the place.

John G. Mott, who was active in the campaign of Senator Flint, and who was mentioned once before as a possible candidate for Congress, is among those whose names have been mentioned, but Mr. Mott is away on a honeymoon just now and is not paying much attention to politics.

City Attorney William B. Mathews, who has held his present position under Democratic and Republican administrations alike, also is spoken of as an interesting possibility. Some of his friends in the Republican party are planning to urge him to let his name be considered. It is said to be certain that Mr. Mathews will retire from the City Attorneyship at the close of his present term, but it is not known that he would go in for the Congressional nomination.

Still another name mentioned is that of Byron L. Oliver, who was a nominal candidate for the nomination three years ago, but who did not enter into the contest at that time.

With the coming of more power to its elbow through the election of Senator Flint there also has come dissension in the ranks of the local Republican "push."

All the trouble is charged to the "political brickmakers," fledglings, who have sprung into prominence in recent days, who are making hay in politics, if they didn't make bricks for the city.

The brickmakers practically have captured the "works," and the old-time "Johnnies" and others that once were shining lights in the political firmament find themselves relegated to the rear in the matter of patronage and power.

The situation amounts almost to a revolt, though but few members of the "push" will admit there is any dispute. They have played politics too long to let their howls be heard.

The old-timers are making their influence felt, however.

W. F. Herrin of the Southern Pacific, political boss of the State, has heard the rumble of the impending storm.

Walter Parker, who is supposed to dictate the distribution of State and Federal patronage, has heard it.

The sound has penetrated the walls of the executive mansion at Sacramento and has reached the ears of Gov. Pardee, and when Senator Flint went to Washington to take his seat he had been apprised that a disturbance was brewing.

The trained ring workers are offended at the prominent places in party management that have been given to what they term the "kid" element, which includes Oscar Lawler, Will Jeffries, Leo Youngworth, and others who have shoved themselves to the front in the Flint campaign.

"Push" wheel horses go so far as to say that some of the new aspirants for power and jobs have not always been Republicans. Some of them are said to have voted the Democratic ticket at a very recent date, when the real organization men were performing hard work for their party.

It is declared that the brickmakers are riding roughshod over the older and more experienced ones who run with the machine.

The cry is being made that past obligations are being ignored and that men are being rewarded, or are about to receive rewards, for a comparatively small amount of party work.

Already the dissatisfied element is laying its wires for the future, and some of them say there will be a decided change in the line-up before the next State campaign rolls around.

If Senator Flint can walk steadily enough with the buckets on his shoulders he may prevent some of the water from spilling.

Upon the outcome of the campaign now under way for a "dry" city is likely to hinge the attitude of the Police Commission of Los Angeles in the matter of saloon licenses.

Should the question reach the voters at a special election and they record themselves as against saloons, the entire matter will be out of the hands of the commission.

In the event, however, that the people vote to retain the present license system, it practically is assured that some drastic changes will be made by the commissioners in its operation.

Higher individual license fees, it is declared, will be demanded, and there will be reform in the method of granting them.

As for the suggested plan of selling the license privilege at auction to the highest bidder, there is a belief that the commission will not adopt it, although it may come up for further consideration at today's meeting of the body.

Objections have been raised to the plan on the ground that it will not correct the abuse at which it is aimed.

The fault found with it is that it will leave the brewery combination just where it is now—in possession of the field.

Objectors to the auction plan say the breweries invariably would be the highest bidders for any license placed on the block. No individual, it is declared, would be able to overbid them.

According to the suggestion, the licenses would be put up at auction only as they were revoked. There would be no large number on sale at any one time, probably not more than one.

One trial of the plan, it is averred, would demonstrate its futility, as the ring would run the price up so high as to scare out any independent bidder.

After that the sailing would be clear for the brewers and they would get succeeding licenses at any price they wished to pay and farm them out, as at present, at such extortionate rates as they pleased to charge.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

FLOOD OF OIL LET LOOSE.

BIG TANK ON EDGEWARE ROAD SPRINGS A LEAK.

Three Hundred Barrels of Sticky Fluid Flow Down Court and Ohio Streets—Good New Coalinga Well. Santa Maria Rumor—Salt Lake Wells Conserved.

A large part of 300 barrels of oil went to waste yesterday on the property of the Crown Oil Company on Court street between Edgeware road and Ohio street, through the breaking of a 500-barrel tank. The accident occurred some time before 6 o'clock in the morning, at which hour R. Clinton, the engineer in charge, who lives on the property, arose and discovered the oil running out on the street. A board in the bottom of the tank had broken and fallen out, causing the trouble. The oil ran for more than a block down Court street and into Ohio street before it could be checked by damming its course. Part of it was saved by prompt action and little damage was done. The tank was more than half full.

GOOD COALINGA WELL.

The Northeastern Oil Company, whose property is on section 26 at Coalinga, is reported to have brought in an 800-barrel well as the result of its first drilling. The oil is a high gravity refining product and the well is deeper than many of those in the field, being about 2100 feet. Some local people are interested in the company.

NEW VENTURA COMPANY.

The Hartner, a new oil company in which some Los Angeles people are interested, has commenced drilling its first well in Ventura county about eight miles from the coast, between Ventura and Nordhoff. The Capitol and Bard companies in the Ventura field have their wells pumping and are marketing light oil.

SANTA MARIA OPERATIONS.

A report comes from Santa Maria by way of San Francisco that a large foreign corporation is about to enter that field as a competitor of the Standard and the Union in the marketing of oil. The report is apparently a revival of one that has been circulated in one form or another for the past year or more, and is not fully credited by local men having interests at Santa Maria.

DRILL TO SAND ONLY.

It is now reported that the Amalgamated has adopted the policy of drilling its new wells on the Salt Lake property only to the oil sand without attempting to penetrate to its full depth. Presumably, if true, this is due to having enough oil for the present without putting the new wells to the limit, but at the same time it is desired to have everything in readiness to bring the wells in at short notice. There are no indications of any intention to cease drilling operations.

BLOWN TWENTY FEET.

Assistant Engineer at Nadeau Hotel Lighted Match Near Tank and Caused an Explosion.

E. Carpenter, an assistant engineer at the Nadeau Hotel, almost lost his life yesterday afternoon because of his love for cigarettes. His lighting a match near a large oil tank resulted in an explosion which hurled him twenty feet or more and burned him severely.

The tanks which supply the boilers with crude oil are under the sidewalk on the First-street side of the building. Yesterday the tanks were being filled and Carpenter was sent into the room to see that they were not overflowed. The fumes which rise when the tanks are open makes it dangerous to have any fire near, but Carpenter decided to have a smoke. Ignorant of his danger, he struck a match to light a cigarette. Instantly an explosion occurred. Carpenter was hurled across the basement, rendered almost unconscious and his face and hands were severely burned. The explosion was not of sufficient force to damage the building.

LIFE AGENTS HERE.

Representatives of Conservative Throughout Country Open Annual Meeting With Reception.

A reception at the Hotel Lankershim last evening formally opened the third anual agents' meeting of the Conservative Life Insurance Company of this city. It was preceded in the afternoon by a tallyho ride about the city, tendered to the visitors by the local Entertainment Committee. About one hundred and fifty agents from every part of the United States in which the company does business were in attendance.

Last night's reception was to have been held at the handsome residence of Frederick H. Rindge, president of the company, but the change to the hotel parlors was made because of the illness of Mr. Rindge.

James Blagge was chairman of the Reception Committee that had charge of the affair in the evening. Among the company officers present were W. S. Tupper, first vice-president; George I. Cochran, second vice-president; Alfred W. Morgan, secretary, and Thomas B. Inch, treasurer.

Business sessions of the convention will be held at the Chamber of Commerce this morning and afternoon, on Wednesday evening and Friday morning and afternoon. There will be a theater party this evening and on Wednesday there will be a tour of the beaches reached by the Los Angeles Pacific electric railways, including a luncheon at Playa del Rey at noon.

Thursday's programme comprises a tour of the Kite-shaped track, with stops at San Bernardino, where the local Chamber of Commerce will entertain; Riverside, where the Board of Trade will be hosts at luncheon, and at Redlands.

The affair will close with a banquet at the Lankershim on Friday evening, at which it is expected that President Rindge will preside.

GERMAN BUND.

Society Formed to Foster the Tongue of the Fatherland and Community of Interest.

Fifteen German societies of this city, comprising a membership of almost 3000, have formed themselves into a branch of the "German Bund," an organization designed "to foster the German language in schools and homes, diffuse German spirit and knowledge, help and advise newcomers, watch over their interests and keep alive patriotism and obedience to just and proper laws of this, their adopted, country."

The criticism to the platform laid down might be that a patriot pledges obedience to the laws of the country, but the Bund reserves the prerogative of determining which are "just and proper" laws.

The officers of the society are: Henry Glass, president; Ernest Oder and Mrs. J. Smith, vice-presidents; M. Schwegel, secretary; C. J. Rohde, corresponding secretary; R. E. Kaestner, financial secretary; Louis Boeder, treasurer.

MAY CAUSE HIS DEATH.

Aged Man Struck by a Pico Heights Car and May Not Recover.

Gardiner Cotton, aged 69, whose home is at No. 1606 Reid street, was struck by a car on the Pico Heights line of the Los Angeles Railway Company last night and sustained injuries which may result in his death. The accident happened at the intersection of Pico and Millard streets. Cotton was crossing the street and in getting out of the way of a car stepped in front of one going in an opposite direction. He was unconscious when picked up and was placed aboard the car and taken to the Receiving Hospital. His face was terribly bruised, his left collar bone fractured and he appeared to be suffering from serious internal injuries. For hours he remained unconscious at the hospital and it was impossible for the surgeons to determine the full extent of his injuries. If he is in condition to make removal safe this morning he will be taken to the County Hospital.

The officers of the Los Angeles Railway Company made every effort to cover up the circumstances of the accident, even refusing to tell the police anything about the matter.

TRIO OF CONVENTIONS.

Women Will Hold County, State and National Gatherings in Southern California.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union has on hand a campaign that is calculated to make a great stir throughout Southern California.

First will come the county convention at Pomona, the beautiful little city off toward the mountains, on April 11 to 13. A month later, on May 9 to 12, from all parts of the State will come the delegates who will assemble in State convention in Pasadena, "The Crown of the Valley."

During these two local conventions considerable booming will undoubtedly be done for the national convention, which will meet in Los Angeles, the metropolis of the South, on October 27, and remain in session until November 1. The body will consist of 600 delegates, and it will be a very moderate estimate to say that not less than 1000 women will attend. Temple Auditorium has been secured for the convention and great debates will characterize the sessions, in which famous women from all parts of America will take part. Great preparations will be made by the city for the entertainment of the convention.

PIONEERS PASS OVER.

Two Aged Brothers-in-law, R. B. Russell and J. F. Durrell, Cross the Divide Together.

Two pioneer residents of Los Angeles, brothers-in-law, crossed the Great Divide within a few hours of each other last night. They were R. B. Russell of No. 550 South Los Angeles street and J. F. Durrell of No. 1127 Wall street.

Mr. Russell, who was 73 years old, and had been ailing only a few days, passed over at 7:15 o'clock yesterday evening.

Fr. Durrell, who was in his 79th year and had been sick for the last two years, died at 11:15 p.m.

Russell was a widower, his wife having died a little over a year ago. Mrs. Durrell survives her husband.

Besides being related by marriage, the two men were lifelong friends. They will probably have a joint funeral, possibly under the auspices of the Pioneer Society.

SANTA BARBARA.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 6.—Two foolhardy men who are charged with stealing a Santa Fé Railroad motor car at San Bernardino last week, have been apprehended with the property in San Luis Obispo County, after having run it over Santa Fé rails to Los Angeles, and over the Southern Pacific Coast line to Santa Margarita. The car was seen at Naples with two occupants. Where it was chased for a short distance and the occupants put it to such a speed that it left the track at a horse shoe curve on the Coast grade, and was broken. The men took it to the nearest section house, where they represented themselves as rail inspectors and demanded the section hand to repair the car, which he did. After passing San Luis Obispo, one of the men left the car, and his companion was arrested upon his arrival at Santa Margarita. He escaped from the officer who was taking him to San Luis Obispo by jumping through a car window while the train was traveling at a thirty mile clip, and has not been retaken. The man who left the car near San Luis Obispo was captured and gave his name as D. D. Skinner.

BARBARA BRIEFS.

Leslie and Douglas Tilford, two 8-year-old cousins, who have been missing near this city, have suddenly reappeared, and their relatives are becoming worried over their departure.

Local automobilists incensed over the war that is at present being waged upon them by the city's police officers are combining their interests, and hope to have some changes in the present automobile speed limits, and the enforcement of these laws.
